"Guilty as Charged," a murder story with a comedy twist to it, opens at the Capitol Theatre here tonight with Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in the stellar roles. It is an adaptation of a successful stage play which enjoyed a long run on Broadway last season. The picture has only within recent weeks been released from the big

Lowe and McLaglen, battling pals of previous pictures such as "What Price Glory?" and "The Cock-Eyed World," have similar types of roles in this film although they are not in the army this time. Lowe is cast as a police reporter and McLaglen as a detective.

The picture opens with the murder of a woman. The audience sees the crime and the man who commits it but Lowe and McLaglen, who are called in the case, do not. The many bungles they make, before finally straightening matters up, produce many comedy situations.

Popular Richard Arlen plays the part of a young man who, as a result of circumstantial evidence, faces the prospect of death by hanging. Charming Adrienne Ames has the leading feminine role.

Support Farmers of Central B. C.

The farmers and gardeners of Central British Columbia are making an effort to supply the Prince Rupert market with vegetables, fruit, potatoes, poultry and eggs and other products of the district.

· Prince Rupert people are asked to encourage this movement by asking for Central British Columbia products whenever practicable. Co-operation in this matter encourages merchants who buy from farmers and if the farmers are prosperous it will be an encouragement for others to take up land and thus add to the buying power of the whole northern and central part of the province.

Householders can help by keeping this in mind and asking merchants for Central B. C. products whenever possible.
