No Hope Now of Strike Settlement

REFRIGERATOR FISH CARS ARE NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN THE EAST

Industrial Conflict Seems Inevitable in Great Britain Since Negotiations Failed

LONDON, April 13.—Britain's triple alliance of labor will announce this morning. The decision follows the inability of the National Miners' Federation to reach an agreement with mine owners and the Government in regard to a settlement of the miners' strike. The transport men including tramway and drivers and tube railwaymen will all come out and the railmen. The miners are already out.

Prospects Yesterday.

LONDON, April 12.—Both sides of the mine owners and miners met Lloyd George and the miners' representatives will report late today to the triple alliance. The prospects of settlement, it is generally believed, are not impossible, although union officials said: "We get to grips on the proposal."

Measures to insure the safety of the mines from floods have been proceeding without hindrance in Fifeshire where some of the pits are being worked.

LONDON, April 13.—(Noun.) The triple alliance of labor, Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons, stated the situation thus created by the strike and increasing unemployment, but he still hoped wisdom would prevail. Members of the Government, he said, were taking all possible steps to meet the emergency.

Fight to Finish.

The miners, according to the Standard, decided there was no renewal of negotiations for a strike settlement, if the invitation emanates from the Government or labor.

OTTAWA, April 13.—The Air Force announces the death of Commander Keith Taylor, a result of a flying accident at Camp Borden on Monday. Commander Taylor's home is in Edmonton.

"We are advised by our Mr. Thompson at Toronto that a number of our staff went over to the National Steel Car Company's plant at Hamilton on April 1. The company state that they expect to have the whole of the plant completed within a month or six weeks at the latest. It is trusted this will prove good news to your colleagues in Prince Rupert."

RAILWAYS ARE CRY OF BATTLE

Opposition Member From Nova Scotia Clashes with Minister of Marine in Debates.

OTTAWA, April 13.—The Canadian Government merchant marine was again the gauge of battle in the House of Commons on Monday. The prime minister accepted the personnel of the standing committees which are to inquire into the government-owned railways and shipping. Subsequently the house went once more into supply on the marine estimates.

John H. Sinclair, the opposition member from Antigonish and Guysborough, Nova Scotia, argued that the connections with the government owned tramp steamers should have ceased with the signing of the armistice.

Hon. C. G. Ballantyne, minister of marine, resented the charge that the steamers were too slow for co-operation with the government railways and declared that Canada had done only what other countries had done.

World's Most Famous Anarchist a Hunger Striker.

Enrico Malatesta is the most famous anarchist in the world. He is the recognized leader of the anarchist brood wherever it rears an evil-minded head. Half a dozen countries the world over have a price upon his head, and he has escaped them. He has been in prison times without number and has always been released after serving a short sentence. He is in prison in Milan, Italy, where he has been confined since last October, and will probably never leave the prison alive. He is on a hunger strike, and despite his sixty-six years of age he kept himself in perfect health until he went on the hunger strike a few days ago. Malatesta is becoming weak and his condition is becoming critical. Hope that the celebrated anarchist will soon recover is being abandoned, and now the death of the recognized leader is expected momentarily.

Road to Galloway Rapids May Be Built This Year If City Constructs Part

It is quite probable that a road may be built this year to connect Prince Rupert with Galloway Rapids as the first section at this end of the trans-provincial motor road between the coast and Alberta by way of the Skeena, Bulkley and Nechako valleys. The matter was discussed at a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon and was referred to the civic committee consisting of George Tite, T. H. Johnson and H. E. Pullen to take up with the city council and with Mr. Pattullo.

W. E. Williams, president of the Board of Trade, said he had received an intimation that if the city would build their portion of the road to connect with the provincial road at the city limits, the provincial government would very probably build from there along the waterfront past Bulze Rapids to Galloway Rapids, a distance slightly over five miles, and the work would probably be done this year. He suggested that a committee meet the city council and find out if they would do their share providing the provincial government does its.

They could then take it up with Mr. Pattullo who was expected in town within the next few weeks and there was a possibility that they would get the road built.

Matter of Route. Several of the aldermen were present and the matter of route was discussed. It seemed to be the general opinion that the city section of the road would go out from Eleventh Avenue by way of Frederick Street, Prince Rupert Boulevard and Shawatians Road, meeting the provincial road close to the waterfront at the city limits. This section of the road is nearly a mile in length but part of it already has a trail wide enough for the city tractor to use and with a good grade.

There is no intention of bridging Galloway Narrows this year but it is understood that will be done in the near future after the road is constructed. The road will then be built along the Skeena to the canneries. The trans-provincial road will in all probability not go by way of the Skeena, but it is possible it may go by way of Clough Bay to the head of Wark Canal to the Klutzevmaaten valley and through a good grade to the Kitsumkalum River and Terrace. This route has not yet been surveyed but it is said to be much more feasible than the Skeena River route.

States Should Keep To Reservations Is Opinion of Harding

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Warren G. Harding, in his initial address to Congress, announced that he would approve the "declaratory resolution" by Congress "with qualifications essential to protect all our rights." Thus "the technical state of war against the Central Powers" would be ended.

The president added, however, that "it would be idle to declare for separate treaties of peace when one would be adequate. Because the situation is so involved our peace engagements cannot ignore the relationship with the Old World and the settlements already effected. Neither is it desirable to do so in preserving our own rights and contracting our future relationships." The president declared that, at the same time, he was unreservedly opposed to the existing League of Nations.

The provisions, made for the confirmation of American rights and interests achieved by reservations framed already should be maintained. Absolute freedom from inadvisable commitments should be also reserved.
