TERRACE is a thrifty, growing town. The chances are good that oil will be struck in the immediate vicinity, as seepages have been found, much ground has been staked and a drilling outfit is on its way there. We offer for sale eighty acres of land, 1¼ miles from the town on a good road at $12.50 per acre. This is your opportunity to participate in the enhanced real estate values that will surely follow the growth of Terrace.

JAILED FOR BEING DESRESPECTFUL TO SOPHIE OF GREECE

ATHENS, Nov. 14.—At a time when all the hospitals in Athens are crowded with wounded from the Anatolian front, one of the ablest of Greek surgeons has been sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment for alleged disrespect to Queen Sophie.

The Athenian press of all shades of opinion is up in arms against the sentence passed upon Dr. Pofibius Corrilos who, in his capacity of honorary surgeon of the Greek army, committed the offense of writing to Queen Sophie from the front to call her attention to the fact that parcels containing candy and cigarettes sent to soldiers at the front by their relatives and friends hardly ever reach their destination. The powers that be, however, ignore this general outcry.

Queen Sophie is at the head of the Greek Red Cross, and, indeed, of all the benevolent institutions in Greece. She never misses an opportunity for marking her interest in the soldiers at the front. It is contended that Dr. Corillos could not have done better than bring to the Queen's knowledge the many irregularities in the dispatch of parcels; but he should have communicated with the Queen through her secretary. For this omission he is undergoing the sentence.

Dr. Corrilos took up his abode in Athens some four years ago and he married the daughter of the Minister of Finance in the Venizelist government. He is himself an ardent supporter of the late prime minister.

EGYPT SHOWS REVIVAL SIGNS

Confidence and Optimism Following Business Depression In Country.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 14.—Signs of a commercial revival are seen by business and shipping communities in Egypt. After months of depression, they say, there has come a healthier tone of confidence and optimism which is most encouraging. The feeling prevails among the business interests that the late fall will see the country back to normal and healthy trade.

The Egyptian public is wearying of the discussions of the country's future political status and is showing far more interest in the price of cotton which is the barometer of commercial activity.

Throughout the spring and summer, the largest hold-over from last year's cotton crop acted as a damper on the business community which feared a further restriction of the Egyptian's purchasing capacity. Efforts have been made to relieve that situation. Prominent groups of Egyptian cotton growers have visited England and told the cotton spinners of Manchester that Egypt will not continue to grow cotton for unremunerative prices.

Price Increase.

The Egyptian government has officially restricted the area of cotton cultivation, and as a result, this season's crop is considerably less than the average. In addition, the crop has suffered this year more severely than usual from the boll wheevil.

Owing in part to these reasons and in part to the rise in American cotton, the Egyptian crop nearly doubled in price. Consequently, optimism prevails among the growers and shippers.
