FINE ADDITION TO EQUIPMENT

Albert & McCaffery Crane and Bunkers Nearly Ready for Operation.

The new 10-ton American Bridge Co. steel derrick for Albert & McCaffery at the dock on the waterfront will be put in operation for the first time this evening. It is expected. The work of mounting and setting up having been completed, electricians are working on the motor and the power will be turned on today if all goes well.

This new derrick will be quite an asset to the equipment of the company as well as to the waterfront generally. It is the first steel crane to be erected here with the exception of the 50-ton crane at the dry dock. The crane itself cost $12,000 besides the cost of setting up. It is a strong affair of fabricated steel and has an 87 foot boom and clam shell which will be used in lifting gravel, coal or rock or any other materials from scows alongside the wharf to the bunkers which are also just completed. There are three solid cement piers on which the base of the crane and the two stiff legs are mounted.

The newly finished bunkers will have a capacity of 150 yards. They have been built primarily for the unloading of the Smith Island rock for the city streets but after that work has been completed will be used for general purposes, both the crane and the bunkers being permanent additions to the wharfage facilities of the company. The crane will eliminate the old method of unloading coal with ship winches and will also be faster.

The first scowload of crushed granite from Smith Island for the city arrived at the Albert & McCaffery wharf last night and will be put into the bunkers as soon as the power is turned on the derrick. This will likely be tomorrow morning. From the bunkers it can be conveniently taken away in trucks.

BEN SPENCE ON PROHIBITION

Famous Preacher and Lecturer Says Will Give Freedom and Strength.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—"I believe in prohibition; I believe in men and I believe in God, and absolute prohibition is coming as sure as night follows day; no king can stand on the sands of advancing civilization and bid it stop." In these words Rev. Ben Spence, secretary of the Dominion Temperance Alliance, expressed his opinion of the future of prohibition in Canada and the universe.

"We live in a universe," said Mr. Spence, "in which there are no contradictory laws. What is morally wrong can never be economically right. It is coming to be more and more recognized that prohibition is based on the principle of economics, justice and morality, and that alcohol is racial poison, lowering efficiency, blinding vision, taking the keen edge off moral perception, enslaving men, and its suppression will give freedom, scope strength and impetus to every movement towards human advancement."

Only Defect.
"Prohibition is a principle, which may have complete or partial application; but it is something that must be applied to an evil and insofar as it has been applied to this evil, whether in license laws, other restrictive legislation, the Ontario Temperance Act, or Dominion legislation regarding importation, it is wholly law. The only defect in any of these laws is the lack of prohibition.

"In my judgment we are on the eve of the greatest temperance movement and campaign that has ever been known, a campaign to establish existing legislation by proper education, to enforce that legislation by thorough organization, to improve it by energetic political action and to extend the scope of the law until it includes every province in the Dominion and every country in the world."

More Law Observance.
"What is needed," said Rev. Mr. Spence, "is more observance of the law. Even those opposed to prohibition should keep and honor a law once it is placed on the statute books. Any one who breaks temperance legislation is a traitor, just as is one who would break any other law. Law observance is required more than law enforcement. The matter rests with the people whether legislation is to be effective or not."

"This talk of prohibition being an infringement on personal liberty is utter foolishness," he continued. "Statistics show that there were between twenty and thirty thousand less convictions in Ontario this year than last. This was due to prohibitory law, and shows plainly that prohibition assists individuals in retaining their liberty, whereas all alcohol actually forces them into prison, which is attended by the surrender of personal freedom."

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

THE price of food is said to be going up in Great Britain. Thank heaven we live in Canada.

A CORRESPONDENT suggests that when talking about the profit on dogs no allowance was made for those run over by autos.

IF a person takes cramps in the bathtub should they go to the lakes to swim? asks a fair one. No, Sweetie, better not.

IF you wish to excuse rudeness in a friend, just say he has an artistic temperament.

TO the person who asks why reporters are not honest, the Man in the Moon offers the suggestion that it is because they prefer to lie a little just like other people instead of hurting everybody's feelings by publishing the hard, bare, ugly truth about them and their doings.

IT might be possible to write an account of a dance and say that Miss Flighly looked extremely plain and her efforts to attract attention were simply hopeless. Mr. Oldbore was even more affected than usual and the girls all ran away from him. There were the usual number of wallflowers and it is no wonder, for who would want to dance with such a plain lot of poor dancers, etcetra, etcetra, etc., &c.

Good Reason.
"I don't see why you call your place a bungalow," said Smith to his neighbor.
"Well, if it isn't a bungalow, what is it?" said the neighbor.
