STORY OF JAIL
LIFE AND LOVE

"Heliotrope" from Richard W.
Child's Novel at Westholme Tonight.

Did you ever associate a certain perfume with a certain person, so that a whiff of the perfume would remind you of them, even though they themselves might not be present?

It is such a situation that gives the title "Heliotrope" to the new photoplay showing at the Westholme tonight. The central figure is a convict—a "lifer"—who before the days of his imprisonment was known as Heliotrope Jarry, from his fondness for searing a sprig of heliotrope in his coat-lapel and from the aroma of heliotrope cologne that always marked his presence.
Heliotrope's wife is a thoroughly sane woman. When from his prison cell he learns that his daughter, who has always thought herself an orphan, is about to marry and that his wife is planning to blackmail her, Heliotrope seizes his release and in a novel and dramatic manner insures the girl's happiness.

"Heliotrope" was adapted from a story by Richard Washburn Child, which ran serially in Hearst's Magazine. The cast includes Frederick Burton, Diana Allen, and Anita Swayne Gordon.

PERRY TELLS ABOUT MILL

Member for Fort George Interviews Principals Regarding Proposed Big Venture.

H. G. Perry, member for the constituency for the Fort George riding, has arrived in Prince George bringing to the people here the news that he has interviewed the principals in the proposed pulp and paper concern and that construction of the mill is likely to proceed without much delay. There are still a few matters to settle and these will be discussed with the provincial government early in August.

Mr. Perry says the depressing influence of the money market will not affect this project, as the men interested are financially able to carry it through.

Tenders are to be called by the Government for a large area of pulp timber near Prince George which it is expected the pulp concern will purchase and there will be a proviso attached to the sale that at least $350,000 be expended within three years. To secure the carrying out of the contract a bond for $50,000 will have to be put up.

PARIS GIRLS DISCOVER
WAY TO SWIM AND
KEEP POWDER DRY

PARIS, July 2.—The first season of summer season was launched at Claridges swimming bath when two beautiful girls appeared with their heads encased in celluloid. The affair was completely water-tight, at the same time permitting breathing through a trap above surface. The girls explained that the invention will be suggested by reluctance of many fashionable women bathers to disarrange their hair. The contrivance is so perfect that even rouge and powder and the pencilled eyebrows remain undisturbed.

The Man in the Moon
SAYS—

WHO says Prince Rupert can't play baseball?

IT is clear as day that Prince Rupert can inspire, and that his Royal Umps is not afraid to stand by his decision.

THERE is one thing about a ball game in this place, the audience has lots of pep. This is in marked contrast to the games at Vancouver and Victoria.

EVERY girl is a school teacher even if she only has pupils in her eyes.

JUST as we were getting ready to spend that drydock money along comes Hodges and puts the kybosh on it, the wretch. Never mind, we may be able to use it to buy Christmas presents for our friends.

WE do not mind a slip of a girl but we do dislike a slip of the tongue.

THE Winnipeg papers say the bootleggers' union is holding out for an eight-hour night.

IT is better to buy something cheap than to marry it.

NO one minds a second-hand joke, but most people object to you telling him the one he told you yesterday.

THE proof reader who lets through "the bride carried a bouquet of pink roses" when it should have been "pink roses" not only gets disliked by the newspaper staff but also tends to make the paper unpopular in the community.

NO one has any objection to a treaty with Japan. The terms of the treaty is what counts.

STORY OF SOCIETY
LIFE AT EMPRESS

Louise Lovely Appears in Difficult Role in "The Little Gray Mouse."

Louise Lovely, the latest star of William Fox and hitherto well known as a Fox leading woman, scored an emphatic success in a most difficult role when the engagement of "The Little Gray Mouse" opened to a capacity house at the Empress Theatre last night.

As the timid, reserved wife of a selfish and conceited husband, who climbs to literary fame with the secret aid of her talent, she gives a striking performance. As a result of her loyalty to a man who not alone has stolen her talent, but has insulted and dishonored her, she becomes entangled by him in a scandal, in which she is entirely innocent.
Divorcing her, the man gives himself up to an alliance he, has earlier formed with a scheming woman—who soon discovers that his literary fame is bogus.

The divorced wife goes to California, where she completes a novel which brings her both celebrity and fortune, and finally unions with a real man who has been a true friend throughout her troubles.

The story is by Barbara Le Marr Doyle, and the picture was directed by James P. Hogan. It deals with a vital phase of American life, and is handled in a clean, interesting and wholesome manner.

It is a simple story of real people, and its appeal is a universal one. It will be repeated tonight.

TRADITION
UPHOLDS IT!

In 1477, at the betrothal of the Thus as long ago as the fifwas the accepted betrothal their assured perfection, are doubly appropriate, and our
