DAILY EDITION. Monday, March 7, 1921.

Development of Cow Bay.

The Daily News would like to see Cow Bay developed if it is of use to the people of the city. As it stands at the present time it is a menace to the health of the city and a disgrace to the whole community.

Capt. Freeman says he has ascertained the probable cost of the work of dredging and excavating the bay to make it of value to the smaller boats. The cost, he says, would be $200,000. That is a large sum to spend on a little bay which will never amount to much.

The interest on an investment of $200,000 would amount to $12,000 a year at the low rate of six per cent. If that much money is spent, the Dominion Government will expect to get sufficient returns to pay that interest.

Fish Dock Brings Dividends.

The new fish dock is expected to bring dividends. That is why it is being built. It will pay a much higher rate of interest than six per cent, if it is completed soon and is used as it should be.

The provincial dock, owing to faulty construction, has not, up to the present time, paid interest on the investment. It has been impossible to load it with heavy material for fear of collapse.

The floats at Cow Bay were a free gift from the province to the fishing fraternity and the boat owners of Prince Rupert and some of those who have been doing most of the kicking in connection with Cow Bay are those who have paid no rent for the accommodation they now use.

We are looking to the Dominion Government to do a great deal for us. We want a lumber assembly wharf, coal bunkers, fishermen's docks at Seal Cove, bars dredged, round house, station, fish cars and a lot of other things.

Not Advocating Filling Cow Bay.

The Daily News is not advocating the filling of Cow Bay. At one time there was an opportunity to exchange the bay for waterfront outside. Whether such an offer is still good nobody seems to know.

SUPPLYING LIVE BAIT

N. M. & R. Fish Co. are Operating Largest Pound Ever in North

One of the most interesting industries in this district is the pounding of live herring bait at Captain's Cove, Pitt Island, fifty miles from here, which is now being carried on full swing by the N. M. & R. Fishing Co. Two hundred tons of the fish are already impounded and two boats "Malamute" and "N. M. & R. No. 1," are steadily seining the fish from the outside waters and taking them into the pound where they are released and will be held until sold.

The halibut boats requiring the bait will proceed to Captain's Cove and take their stock of the live fish on their way to sea. American boats as well as Canadian will be supplied and authority for the sending of a custom's man to the location has just been given from Ottawa.

Two Weeks More The taking of the herring will continue for at least two weeks longer and before the run is done the company will have another pound established and filled closer to Prince Rupert. When the herring run is over the two boats will be used in serving the halibut vessels and it is expected that the stock of bait will last out till well into the month of May or later.

Herring pounds, have been operated before in the North, but never on such a large scale as this one.

CHELOHSIN SAILING MINUS HER FOREMAST

Fouled the Alice Arm Wharf a couple of Trips Ago—Venture Coming Next Week.

The Union steamer Chelohsin is making her last trip this week before lying up in the south for annual overhaul and will be replaced next week by the Venture. Among the repairs that are to be made to the Chelohsin is the putting on of a new foremast. At present she is sailing with her mast sawed off a few feet above the bridge as a result of having it torn badly when fouling the Alice Arm wharf a few weeks ago.

The Venture on her return next week will look much different from what she did when last seen here. Extensive changes to her decking and cabins have been made on her recent overhaul at Wallace's shipyard, North Vancouver.

ACTIVITIES ACROSS RIVER FROM TERRACE

Proposal to Build New Hall—Social Club Enjoyable Evening.

TERRACE, March 7.—An effort is being made to raise funds for the building of a hall across the river from Terrace. With this in view a dance is to be held in Progress Hall on the evening of St. Patrick's Day, the proceeds of which will go toward the erection of the hall.

The Lakelse Social Club had an enjoyable evening at the home of Roy Pearson on Saturday.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

March 7, 1911 Chris Christiansen and his crew had a narrow escape last evening when a gasoline can exploded on their launch, the Agnes, and threw one man overboard and scorching the others.

Alderman Hilditch states that the city steam electric plant cannot be operated economically and that soon it will be necessary to establish a water power system.

The city council has granted the request of the liquor interests for permission to keep bars open until midnight instead of 11 o'clock as at present. Bishop Du Vernet, L. W. Palmore, Dr. W. T. Kergin and D. McLeod appeared at the meeting last night opposing the granting, while J. Y. Rochester and S. Corley represented the liquor men.
