THE DEBT OF HONOR

Our nation's debts go piling up, the war debt is immense. But one great debt we have to pay regardless of expense: It is the debt we owe the men who fought for us and bled. And who for healthy living limbs wear wooden ones instead.

It is the debt we owe the men who come with broken lives To struggle once again to keep their children and their wives; Among the darkened homes of these the famine-spectre stalks. And daily in the streets and squares we pass them in our walks.

Is Canada so deaf and blind she cannot hear and see The mute appeal of proud, brave men, and children at the knee. And suffering women pinched and starved in houses cold and bare. While wealth and ease go rolling by without a thought or care?

Across the sodden plains of death these men have charged and fought. They bore the agony and strain and our salvation wrought: They did not swerve, they did not flinch, but on and on they pressed. Till in the rain of splintering shells came one that gave them rest.

Shall we then forget the past in selfishness and ease, And say they have no claim on us, such glorious men as these? If on a nation's throne today our country takes her seat, It is the work of broken men that pass us in the street.

Bestow not on the dead your praise, they heed it not above. The men that live and suffer still are they who need your love: The very stones cry out to us, too long have we delayed. The debt of honor faces us and that debt must be paid.
Quebec, June 21, 1921. CANON SCOTT.

MAE MARSH RETURNS AGAIN TO MOVIES

Well Known Star Away From Profession for Several Years Here Tonight.

Busy with her maternal duties May Marsh, most popular of film stars was away from the movies for several years. She is back however and her picture "The Little 'Fraid Lady" is to be seen at the Westholme here tonight. Mae Marsh is really Mrs. Arms and her little daughter is Miss Mary Marsh Arms is to be a movie actress.

"The Little 'Fraid Lady" carries the audience through the great outdoors of the far west into the busy marts of trade and a Greenwich Village atmosphere. Miss Marsh, giving one of her very best portrayals, is seen as a young girl of many moods who has more than her share of the adventures that ordinarily come to the individual. In order to show this talented actress at her best, great care was taken in the selection of story, the cast, the settings and the entire production in general.

Mae Marsh is shown as a little "city" girl who has been disillusioned with regard to the world and its charity in general and has sought the solitude of the wild country to develop her talent as an artist. The individual who is directly responsible for the disillusionment is one of the closest of kin to the "little lady." As the story unfolds itself, it is apparent she had just cause for seeking solitude. However, the spectre of the things she detested pursues her, and she arises to the various occasions that present themselves with the courage of a martyr. A complete character revolution as written in the story, gives Mae Marsh an excellent opportunity to display her talents as an actress.

BILLIE BURKE AT EMPRESS TONIGHT

Billie Burke is seen in a boydenish role that recalls Mary Pickford or Dorothy Gish in "Away Goes Prudence," which will be the feature at the Empress Theatre tonight. This is a new departure for Miss Burke, who has put over many delectable bits of comedy, but was never so completely a romp before.

Miss Burke has the part of Prudence Thorn, a society girl, who is infatuated with flying and insists on indulging in her hobby even at the risk of losing the love of her sweetheart. Hewitt Harland. To obtain funds from her father for a new airplane she goes into hiding at the home of the washerwoman and writes a black hand letter to her father pretending she is being held for $50,000 ransom. Hewitt gets wind of this and plans to teach her a lesson by faking a kidnapping of his own.

The crooks he has hired, however, do away with him and take Prudence to their headquarters. At first she treats the situation laughingly, but after she has accompanied the crooks on housebreakings galore she sighs for home and Hewitt. One night, when the band is at work on a job, they are captured by the police, but Prudence escapes to her own home, where, when she is about to be taken by the police, her father appears and recognizes his daughter. Hewitt then invites her to fly with him all her life and she accepts.

TOURISTS IMPRESSED WITH BUILDING HERE

Passengers on Princess Alice Were Interested in Fish Packing and New Buildings.

The Princess Alice, Captain Slater, called here on Saturday afternoon southbound from Alaska points with a list of tourists and a few southbound Alaskans and Yukoners which completely took up her large passenger accommodation.

The tourists took a great interest in Prince Rupert and especially in the fish packing business and the large amount of building going on here at the present time. Many of them were anxious to see the actual process but were denied the privilege as it was a quiet afternoon at the fish packing houses.

They expressed surprise and pleasure at the big building projects that are now under way, especially the new Bay's Cove school, the court house and the ocean dock. The building of such structures at this time inspires them with a good deal of confidence in the future of the last great seaport town.

Many people read newspapers as much for their advertising columns as they do for news.
