After the "Flu"

Four Children Had
Whooping Cough

Whooping Cough, although specially a disease of childhood is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping Cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heats and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. V. House, Imperial, Sask., writes: "After the 'flu,' last fall, my four children took whooping cough and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their 'nasty' coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c, and 60c, a bottle at all dealers. Put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ARISTOCRATS PEEL POTATOES

Mme. Lubinoff Organized Group to Cut Wood and Perform Other Tasks

WARSAW, Mar. 3.—Driven from palace to hotel, some of the members of the aristocracy of old Russia now are peeling potatoes or chopping wood here for a living.

Five thousand men and women and children, some of whose residences, once brought them homage of courtiers, are clustered here, after having fled to Poland before the Bolsheviks. Helping them to help themselves is Mme. Ludmila Lubinoff, herself a refugee, though born a princess of one of the oldest Russian houses and the wife of the civil governor of Warsaw.

This remarkable woman is conducting soup kitchens, sewing rooms and workshops for members of her unhappy class and taking orders from her men who once commanded the armed forces of the Russian Emperor. On her staff are admirals, generals, governors, mayors and members of the old Petrograd court, while her husband has laid aside his gubernatorial duties to become her secretary.

Hides Tragedy

A beautiful woman, she hides the tragedy of her life under an optimism that is an example to the unhappy folk to whom she ministers. A woman of action, too, for she escaped from Petrograd with her two sons after freeing her husband from the fortress of Peter and Paul and arming him with a fictitious passport that enabled him to flee to Warsaw. Here the family was reunited.

Selling virtually all she possessed to aid her fellow countrymen, Mme. Lubinoff organized the Warsaw branch of the Russian Red Cross, which is being aided by the American organization.

Sparing not herself, Madame Lubinoff has not spared the colony of refugees, which included many of the former Russian nobility. In the soup kitchen and wood yard which she has established in a Russian orthodox church at 5 Podwal—a squalid property placed at her disposal—are working men and women of title at tasks which once servants performed for them.

Chops Wood

In the dingy little courtyard General Oblonsky, formerly architect at the Russian court, chops wood for a living with several officers of the crack Imperial guards, one of whom has lost his reason and must be watched. In a small and dirty building, Prince Meschersky, who was master of ceremonies at the Imperial court, peels potatoes for his daily bread.

In the crowded rooms the meals are served by women of the Russian nobility—Princess Rukoff, widow of Admiral Rukoff who was executed by the Bolsheviks; Princess Ouchomsky, whose husband was reputed one of the richest men in Petrograd and is now cashier in the next room at 4,000 Polish marks a month, the equivalent of $4 today, and Madame Kondrayevsky, widow of the Vice Mayor of Petrograd who

Colonel Runs Errands

Colonel Kesseloff of the Imperial Russian Guards runs errands for Madame Lubinoff and refugees who collapse from exhaustion while waiting for their food are attended by Mile. Caragazoff, a former wealthy resident of Petrograd, now a nurse.

Working in an American Red Cross warehouse are 20 officers of the Imperial Guards regiment, headed by M. Riekshensky, a lawyer of Kiev, who arrived in the Polish capital without underclothing or footwear. He said his sister had been killed this winter by the Bolsheviks and that the capital of the Ukraine had become a city of the dead.

Madame Lubinoff boasts a storehouse about the size of an American housewife's pantry which is in charge of Michael Shramchenko, the son of the governor of Tchernigoff, who was killed by the Bolsheviks. The assistant storekeeper is Victor Borsenko, who was governor of Novgorod.

STAKING OIL CLAIMS AT GREAT SLAVE LAKE

EDMONTON, March 1.—That nineteen oil claims involving over six thousand acres of territory have been filed since Christmas with the recording agent at Fort Smith, is the news reaching Edmonton as a result of the arrival here of the far northern mail. Practically the entire area, it is reported, has been staked in the neighborhood of Pine Point on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, west of Fort Resolution and the Little Buffalo river.

The various parties which nudged their way northward before Christmas are responsible for the filings. All their claims were recorded during the previous holiday season and they allowed them to file on three hundred and twenty acres of territory. What benefit, if any, will be allowed these men as a consequence of the new regulations could not be ascertained from local land office officials.

At the meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association last evening it was decided to hold a smoking concert in the near future in aid of band funds. The band is now having regular practices with 16 members under the leadership of J. Gawthorne.

George McAfee, of the Georgetown mills, was among the arrivals from the south yesterday.
