Not Very Large Station Provided.

Prince Rupert is glad to receive the plans for the station, accompanied by the news that the railway company has made application to the Railway Commission for permission to erect the building. From cursory review of these plans, however, they seem a little disappointing because they do not provide for a large building as many had expected. In defence of the plans the company will doubtless say that the proposed building is plenty large enough for present requirements and that may possibly be quite true. The company is only following out the policy that it generally seems to adopt when dealing with Prince Rupert, that is, providing for what will do at the present and not looking forward to the future; not providing for increased business but waiting for that business to demand provision for itself. In other words, it is working on a standstill basis instead of a basis of progress and enterprise. However, as Alderman Dybhavn wisely said, it is no use criticizing but it is best to accept what can be obtained. This city has been waiting a long time for a station and any kind of one will be welcome. The plans submitted to the city council do provide for a substantial building but the question is: Is the building one that will fill requirements for ten or twenty years? Does it fulfil the pledges that have been made to the city on account of past privileges granted the company by the municipality and which the government naturally takes over with the possession of the system?

New Salmon Dock To be Fine Structure.

Although some disappointment may be expressed with the station building and the refrigerator car supply to this port, credit must be given where credit is due. The new salmon dock which is now under construction on the waterfront is going to be a decided acquisition to the place. The building of it will provide accommodation for a large amount of fish and the facilities for handling it will be both modern and convenient. Word has been received from Col. Peck that the superstructure is to be built as originally planned and the whole dock, the pilldriving and decking of which is nearly complete, will be covered with sheds and upper work that will be very substantial and well equipped. It is at least pleasing to see this recognition of the importance of this port for it shows that more business is expected when this dock is obtained under the circumstances that apparently prevail.

Mineral Resources Calling Attention.

The Dominion Government realizes that the North possesses potential mineral resources and shows it by sending a number of experts into the country this season to explore and make surveys. The north coast, the Queen Charlotte Islands and the Alice Arm district, all tributary to Prince Rupert, will be visited by these experts. In reports of mines and mining issued from the Dominion Department of Mines for the past few years, northern and central British Columbia has been conspicuous by its absence. The explorations and surveys made this season will, doubtless, bring interesting information that will appear in the next reports of the department. It will advertise the district and provide something that the public, especially that section of it interested in mining, wants.

TAKING CENSUS IS LARGE JOB

Will Cost About Two Million Dollars and Many will be Employed

The organization by which the census of Canada is to be carried out commencing tomorrow is a large one indeed. The nucleus exists in a small permanent staff at Ottawa constituting one of the branches of the Bureau of Statistics. This branch maintains connection between census and when one impends all the plans are originated by it and the necessary expansion of personnel arranged for. This expansion falls into two classes, those who go the field work and collect the facts and those who tabulate the facts and make the reports.

In planning the field work the country is first divided into "census districts," each of which is placed in charge of a "census commissioner." The districts are then divided into "sub-districts," varying in population from 600 to 800 in rural localities and from 1,200 to 1,800 in urban. The sub-district is the territory allotted to a "census enumerator," who conducts the house to house and farm to farm canvass, and who is the only census official with whom the public comes directly in contact.

Altogether the census of 1921 will employ 247 commissioners and probably 13,000 enumerators. For the compilation of the census an extra staff of 350 to 400 clerks will be engaged at Ottawa.

Months for Results

It is expected that from two to five weeks from June 1 will suffice in normal localities for the completion of the field work. After the third or fourth month it should be possible to give out the first results for many cities, towns, counties, etc. As to when the final count by provinces for the entire Dominion will be available, so many unforeseeable contingencies are possible that prophecy is dangerous, but it is expected that five or six months should enable a close approximation to be made.

What It Costs

Altogether the census will cost about two million dollars. The amount set aside this year is about one million and three quarters; but there was a vote of 80,000 last year for equipment and preparatory work and another quarter of a million will probably be required in 1922 and 1923 to finish.

LOOKING FOR RARE BIRD ON PORCHER ISLAND THIS YEAR

C. deB. Green, Prominent Naturalist, Will Spend Three Months There if Necessary.

Among the passengers who arrived in the city last week on the Prince Rupert was C. deB. Green, who for twenty years has been a land surveyor in the Okanagan. Mr. Green is a naturalist who has delved deeply into bird life and he is going to spend three months on Porcher Island, if necessary, in order to secure a marbled murrelet.

Last year he secured the only egg of this bird in possession on the Pacific coast. It is now in a museum in Tacoma but scientists attach no credit to the find unless the bird that laid the egg is also shown with it. This summer Mr. Green hopes to get both bird and egg.

High, 9:51 a.m., 16.1 feet.

22:08 p.m., 18.8 feet.

Low, 3:50 a.m., 7.8 feet.

15:49 p.m., 8.1 feet.

Thursday, June 2

High, 10:47 a.m., 16.8 feet.

22:53 p.m., 19.7 feet.

Low, 4:44 a.m., 6.4 feet.

16:33 p.m., 7.8 feet.

The time used in Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.
