STEWART, April 1.—Roy Clothier has purchased a half interest in the Salvator group of mineral claims on the Marmot River with Alex. McInnes. The vein has been carefully sampled by Clothier and an assay gives $20 a ton, ten per cent of which is free gold.

The new owners are arranging to start work immediately driving a tunnel on another five-foot vein showing good gold on the surface. The idea is to ascertain if the values continue and go down to a sufficient depth.

The Salvator property where the work is being done is one mile from tidewater with low elevation.

Insane Man Is Shot By Local Constable at City Lockup During a Fracas

As a result of a fracas which occurred in the police station last night about 11 o'clock, Paul Post, of Usk, who has been declared insane and who was to have been taken to New Westminster asylum last night, is today nursing a couple of flesh wounds in his left arm and shoulder caused by revolver shots inflicted by Constable George Leek who has been suspended by Chief W. H. Vickers pending a special meeting of the police commission.

About 11 o'clock last night preparations were being made to take Post to the steamer Prince George to start on his southward journey to the Asylum, when he went on the rampage. Constable Howe was at the time on duty and went into the cell room to remonstrate with the man but he made at the officer in a threatening manner with a broom in his hand. Howe left him and locked the door of the room.

It was then that Constable Leek came in and the two officers attempted to quiet Post. Even with assistance they were unable to do so and Constable Leek fired a couple of shots into the air with the intention of frightening him.

Car licenses have been issued in the last fortnight to Fred Stork, Ford, and the Canadian Fish & Gold Storage Co., Ford.

This, however, proved without avail so the shots were fired into the fleshy part of his arm and shoulder.

The victim was soon overcome and placed in a cell where Dr. Tremayne was called to examine him. The wounds were announced to be of a minor nature and not serious.

Favors Formation of a New Province in Northern B.C.

At the public meeting called by President Williams of the Board of Trade to discuss a proposal to form a new province in the north the following resolution was passed after an amendment to delay action for further information had been defeated:

"Whereas there is a proposal to create a new province to consist of all that part of British Columbia north of latitude 52 and the Canadian Yukon,

"And whereas we feel that this portion of the province is not receiving fair treatment from the provincial government which is composed for the most part of residents of the southern portion of the province,

"And whereas we believe that the affairs of this portion of the province could be much more effectively administered under our own Legislature,

"Be it therefore resolved that this meeting of Prince Rupert citizens goes on record in favor of the dividing up of the province and that we petition the Government at Ottawa to allow a plebiscite to be taken in the district mentioned in order to determine same."

In opening the meeting, Mr. Williams explained that he had called it as president of the Board of Trade. He had originally not gone into the matter fully but was in favor of it. He felt that human nature was the same the world over. Men had not added much to his original fund of knowledge. It was still difficult to get from place to place and our territorial knowledge was limited. Each person knew his own locality best. People in politics, government or business were largely influenced by selfish interests. Selfish interest was that brought us up from monkeys.

A voice: "Some of us."

The speaker went on to say it was impossible to ignore so great a principle. Laws were made so that the majority benefited and the minority frequently suffered. To overcome this to some extent the country was divided into sections called provinces. The larger they were the less they represented the people. Prince Rupert was very small compared with other cities, yet he had all the problems of any other. With a view to enable the people to lay before the centres their requirements, the smaller divisions were formed such as municipalities.

All Voting Power.

Northern B.C. had little to say with only four members in the Legislature out of forty-seven. It was difficult to let our requirements be known. The south has all the voting power and got everything. The railways headed for Vancouver, because Vancouver wanted them there. If branches had been built for the G. T. P. instead of building the P. G. E. it would have been better for the development of the province, but the difficulty was we did not see B.C. through Vancouver eyes.

Mr. Williams then discussed taxation, arguing that with the exception of the income tax, auto tax, amusement and poll taxes, all were raised in unorganized districts. But the unorganized districts did the paying on timber and mines. Everything was taxed double, triple and super-taxed. He thought the people of the north were thoroughly capable of taking care of themselves. They would have more income to spend if the change were made and there would be more chance of their wrongs being remedied. There
