MUD SLIDE CAUSES DELAY OF TRAIN AT POINT NEAR SMITHERS

The train was passing a point about twenty miles east of Smithers yesterday when a small mud slide came down and mingled with the wheels of the first class coaches and diners. The second class car and baggage was safely across before it came. Passengers were transferred to the forward part of the train and others cars taken on at Smithers and the delay was only a few hours. The rest of the train is due in this afternoon.

WORK BEING RUSHED AT TELWKA COAL MINE

PORT OF PRINCE RUPERT HAS WONDERFUL DESTINY ACCORDING TO J. F. MAGUIRE OF THIS CITY

everyday calculations of every shop-keeper in London as well as every merchant and farmer in Canada."

First Class Significance.

At the same lecture another eminent military authority said: "The Pacific termini of the C. P. R. and G. T. P. railways already more than rival in importance Vladivostok and Port Arthur and Dalny, and those railways may at any time surpass in military value and any historic interest the Trans-Siberian Railway. A glance at the map will show the strategic and maritime points, whether relations with Asia be pacific or hostile. To neglect our British Columbian ports would be madness; they are already of first-class significance."

The greatest authorities in the United States, as in England, such as Captain Mahan, Homer Lea and Hubert Bancroft, have for the past twenty-five years emphasized the immense importance and value of our British Columbia Ports in view of the coming vast expansion of trans-Pacific trade and travel.

Stragetic Position.

It appears, therefore, that both as regards commercial opportunities and possible international complications on the Pacific Ocean (the ocean of the future) Prince Rupert occupies an exceptionally favorable stratgetic position, the contemplation of which should cheer and stimulate everyone having an interest of any kind in its future. Who can doubt that just as soon as the necessary docking and coaling facilities are provided they will be availed of by the owners of ocean-going vessels for the transportation of merchandise, and perhaps passengers also, across the Pacific, seeing that it will be the quickest, cheapest and safest route available! The largest vessel now afloat could come alongside our new wharf at low water with the utmost east and safety and find all the necessary facilities for loading and unloading cargo expeditiously, while at least a day and a half could be saved in its transportation between China and New York or Montreal.

Time is Money.

The cargoes of silk and tea coming regularly from China are worth many millions of dollars, and the advantages of saving even one day in transit are quite too great to be neglected by those directly interested. Apart from the saving of time there would be a money saving, in interest and working expenses, of at least $5,000 on an average cargo. The marine insurance rate from Oriental ports to Prince Rupert is the same as to Vancouver. It ought to be less, as every experienced mariner will testify. In this connection it should be noted that the Japan current runs toward the North Pacific Coast and thus favors shipping coming this way as compared with more southernly ports on this coast.

Cheerful Courage.

Now, sir, if what I have here written is anything like correct surely there is neither room nor justification for gloomy forebodings or dreary pessimism regarding the future of this highly favored port. On the other hand are we not justified in "putting a cheerful corage on" during the little further period of waiting that lies before us, and, withal, doing our individual best meantime to hasten the "consummation so devoutly wished for"?
