"CHEATER REFORMED" EMPRESS THEATRE

"The Cheater Reformed" is the title of the picture starring popular William Russell which begins an engagement at the Empress Theatre tonight. Don't imagine that the title gives away the story. It doesn't. No mere title could do that. Before the audience can catch its breath after the main title is exposed on the screen it finds itself in the midst of the most delicious sort of dramatic entanglement. Imagine a crook taking advantage of his own brother's death to assume the brother's position as rector of a fashionable church, and no one suspecting the fraud—not even the clergyman's widow. That is something to think about.

That's what Russell does in "The Cheater Reformed," and in his dual role makes a picture that you won't forget in a hurry.

A Mild Tooter.

"Dick" Aubrey's latest is a Swede story he picked up while travelling in Wisconsin.

Ole Ander, a yokel, visiting in town one day, asked a restaurant proprietor:

"Got any squirrel whiskey?"

"No," said the restaurant man, "but I can slip you a little Old Crow."

"Aye don't want to fly," said the Swede, "aye just vant to yump around a little bit."—Youngstown Telegram.

FORT NORMAN NEWS BUDGET

150,000 Acres of Oil Claims Filed by Imperial Oil Company.

EDMONTON, Aug. 12.—The Imperial Oil company has staked in the neighborhood of sixteen oil claims in the Fort Norman district this season.

The Imperial Oil Company has not yet struck oil on its Bear Island claim but has its apparatus all in readiness for drilling operations.

There is no cannibalism in the north country among the Indian populace. Indians generally especially after the paying of the treaty money, are in a fairly prosperous condition.

Conditions around Fort Norman are greatly improved. The town itself has taken on a cosmopolitan atmosphere, and there are more white people in the district than in any previous year. There is lots of money and lots of provisions.

The Fort Norman Oil Company is one of the best bets in the North. The company put down its drill, forty-five miles down stream from Fort Norman in the record time of two weeks, and is now drilling.

The Imperial Oil Company is now transferring its drills from No. 1 well at Fort Norman to Zieman's claim across the river and by this time should be carrying on drilling operations.

In the neighborhood of 150,000 acres of oil claims have been filed in the Fort Norman Oil district by the Imperial Oil Company.

Such are some of the outstanding items of interest brought to "the inside" by one hundred or more northern men who have reached Edmonton via the Northern Transportation and other systems of boats and the rails of the Alberta and Great Waterways.

CAPTAIN M'GREGOR ARRIVES VANCOUVER

Tells People There of Ice Shortage That Made Trip There Necessary.

Says the Vancouver Province just to hand:

"One of the most decorated war veterans of Canada came into Vancouver Harbor on Sunday with a cargo of fish on his gasboat Malamute, all the way from the northern British Columbia banks. He was Captain McGregor, V. C., M. C., D. C. M. with bar, M. M., of Prince Rupert. When the business of killing Huns and doing hair-raising deeds of bravery came to an end Captain McGregor returned to Prince Rupert, invested money as part owner in the Malamute, and went to sea to work on his own ship as a member of the crew. The shortage of ice at Prince Rupert, which has been very serious during the past week, forced him to hurry down to Vancouver with his catch, as it was impossibe to dispose of the fish at the north port. He sold the catch at the New England Fish Company warehouse.

"The fish situation at the northern port is reported by wire as being still in bad shape on account of the shortage of ice. The supply is secured from the railway company and from two plants at Ketchikan. These have been unable to meet the requirements of the fishing boats. On Saturday last one company alone had to throw away between 2000 and 3000 pinks because of the lack of ice, and it is said other companies suffered losses of the same kind. There were about 60 fishboats in harbor at Prince Rupert on Sunday, all anxious to get away to the fishing, but there was only enough ice for six."

HON. CHARLES MURPHY AND FARMER PARTY

OSGOODE, August 11.—Hon. Charles Murphy, who was the principal speaker at the farmers picnic here having alluded to matters of personal interest to his constituents dwelt at length upon the relations between the Liberal party and the Farmers. He pointed out that because of satisfaction with Liberal policy and administration there had never been a Farmers' party in Canada while the Liberals were in power, and that Farmers' parties had entered the political field only when the Conservatives held office. In addition to these facts, he reminded his hearers that the Laurier government had gone down to defeat in an effort to give the farmers the benefit of the reciprocity arrangement with the United States for which the farmers had asked and that from 1911 to 1917—a period of six years, during which there were no farmers as such in the House of Commons—the battle of the farmers had been fought by the Liberal party and by the Liberal party alone. Hence, with the appearance of a Farmers' organization there ought to be co-operation between it and the Liberal party everywhere. In large measure that co-operation had been brought about in parliament, and it should be extended throughout the country.

STAR DRIVES TRUCKS

Wallace Reid Breezy as Ever in "What's Your Hurry?"

The hare and tortoise of the automobile world—the racing car and the truck—figure prominently in "What's Your Hurry?" Wallace Reid's latest picture, which will be shown at the Westholme Theatre tonight.

The star has the role of a racing driver in love with the daughter of a motor truck manufacturer. The latter does not approve of Wallie as a prospective son-in-law. To get into the old man's good graces, Wallie deserts racing to act as publicity man for trucks. But he only succeeds in getting "in bad" and it is not until he risks his life to bring a cordon of trucks to plug the breach in a bursting dam that he is able to win the girl of his choice.

Proverb Revised.
