BELLA COOLA COLLECTION AT OTTAWA

Marlan Smith Adds to Indian Exhibit in Victoria Memorial Museum.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—A very interesting exhibition now on view in the Victoria Memorial Museum is that of part of the collection of objects from the Bella Coola Indians of British Columbia, made by Marlan I. Smith in 1921. The Bella Coola Indians live at Bella Coola, at the head of the South Bentick Arm. The section in which they live is about 60 miles inland from the Pacific coast, midway between Vancouver and Prince Rupert, and is one of dense forest, glaciers and snow-clad mountains. Included in the collections are climbers with which the Indians used to take the bark off trees; rope, made of the inner bark of cedar; a fish knife, made by sharpening the hinge edge of a giant mussel shell, and a trough made from the bark of red cedar, and used for catching the oil which drops from roasting salmon.

Fire Making.

One of the most interesting features is a fire-making apparatus, the drill being of red cedar and the hearth of cottonwood. This is now obsolete as it gave way to flint and steel and more recently to matches. There is also a sample of dried dog salmon, which was the staple food and used to be stored in boxes. Other articles in the collection are: a cake of certain dried berries, which was used for making Indian ice cream, a wooden spoon for general purposes, some adze blades, a spindle wheel, a hammer made of stone, a drying dress made of the inner bark of red cedar, a suli case, a coarse mat, a rattle and a mask.

YUKON HAS ELECTED THREE CONSERVATIVES AND TWO LIBERALS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—The political history of the Yukon is comparatively brief. Following the discovery of gold in the territory in the late 90s, and the subsequent development of the natural wealth of that far northern part of the Dominion, the district was given parliamentary representation and the first election was held in 1902, when J. H. Ross, Liberal, was elected. Two years later, in 1904, Dr. Alfred Thompson, Conservative, was elected. Then in 1908 F. T. Congdon, K.C., secured the seat. In 1911 Dr. Thompson was again elected, and he was endorsed once more at the general election in 1917. Thus in fifteen years, 1902 to 1917, Yukon has on five separate occasions returned three Conservative and two Liberal members of Parliament.

ALL FOR NOTHING.

Mother—I've tried so hard to make you a good child, Margaret, and yet in spite of all my efforts you are still rude and naughty.
Margaret—(deeply moved)—What a failure you are, mother!

LENSE GRINDING IS A LOCAL INDUSTRY

John Bulger Puts in Special Machinery for Purpose, Electrically Driven.

Prince Rupert boasts another new industry. This time it is in connection with the science of optometry. John Bulger, the local jeweler, has installed the latest electrically operated machinery for the grinding of optical lenses. One machine cuts the shape of the lens required from specially manufactured blanks with a diamond cutter, and the lens is then ground to the required prescription on a special type of emery wheel driven by electricity, the hole in the lens being drilled by a diamond drill, electrically operated. With this installation it is possible, in the event of a person breaking a lens, to have a test made by the lense tester and a new lens cut and ground to the exact shape and prescription. Anyone requiring special glasses can get the lenses ground very quickly. This service will undoubtedly prove to be a boon to the public.

Methodist to Improve Home of Their Minister—Committee Appointed.

At a meeting of the Methodist Church board last night it was decided to proceed at once with the improvement of the parsonage building by making an addition to it so that it will be in keeping with the position of the church in the city. A committee consisting of Frank Derry, A. J. Mallet and Rev. G. G. Haeker was appointed to carry out the work.

The proposal is to build the addition to the front of the present residence making a vestibule, a large living room and a study in addition to the present rooms. At the meeting the report of the treasurer showed the financial condition of the Church to be healthy.
