Two Views on Local Court House.

Two views are being taken in the south in regard to the building of the new court house at Prince Rupert. Those in opposition to the government, as well as those who are bound up in the interests of the south and do not want to see anything come Prince Rupert's way, accuse the government of extravagance. Firm and Home, a Vancouver weekly allied with the Vancouver Sun, whose publisher is launching a fierce attack on the provincial government at the present time, in a recent issue printed on its front page a critical leading article condemnatory of the present administration and mentioning the local building says the government is "spending $600,000 for a court house at Prince Rupert large and luxurious enough for ten times its present population" and that "the present quarters are good enough." The defence for the building and the view that is being taken by many people in the south, as well as those in the north, is that this place is worth while and the future prospects, more than immediate necessity, warrant the new building. Indeed, the city is likely to have that "ten times greater population" before the Vancouver Sun has any idea that it will and it is on the strength of that prospect that Hon. T. D. Pattullo has been successful in obtaining the building for the city.

Prince Rupert and Permanent Buildings.

Starting with the building of the fine new school at Hays Cove Circle and the new court house, Prince Rupert is about to start on an era of permanent building. The buildings that are now being planned for the city, both public and private, will be more of a permanent nature than any ones that have before been built here. Every city has its stage of "shabby" business houses and residences, but if a city is to become worth while it is not going to continue the erection of such buildings. The prosperity of a place is largely judged by the outsider on the quality of its buildings. A town of lumberedown and disreputable structures does not inspire confidence while an air of permanence and quality most certainly does. The time is here when Prince Rupert should be showing signs of permanence and there is no doubt but what this is warranted. Indications are that Prince Rupert is about to emerge from its state of temporary buildings and in building structures of solidity and permanence will take on the air of a city that has a future in which at least its residents are confident. The provincial government, by the erecting of such a fine court house, is showing its confidence in the place. Is this not enough to inspire confidence in others when it comes to building?

Hard Times Seem Easier Here.

While bankers and business men and people generally in the south are moaning over the hard times and are making blue predictions for the immediate future, Prince Rupert people are still maintaining a feeling of optimism and confidence. Comparatively speaking, Prince Rupert looks bright and cheery. True business is slack and money is not so free as it was a few months ago and this place is affected by the general depression that is passing over the entire world at the present time, but the spirit here is much more cheerful than in most other cities. This is largely because unemployment is not being felt to any great extent and the people are busy. All here are earning enough to live comfortably and this cannot be said of the larger places. In such unsettled times as these the unemployed seem to flock to the great cities and that is why Prince Rupert, in common with the other smaller cities, is passing through hard times so smoothly.

"Fruit-a-tives" Conquered Nervous Prostration

R. R. No. 4, GILBERT PLAINS, MAN.
 "In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; dropping from 170 to 115 pounds.
 The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-tives".
 I began to mend almost at once, and never had such good health as I have enjoyed the past eight years. I am never without "Fruit-a-tives" in the house". JAS. S. DELGATY.

ANOTHER COLD STORAGE MAY COME TO PORT

B. C. Packers Will Move Steveston Plant Either to Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

VANCOUVER, June 20.—Just where the B. C. Packers' cold storage at Steveston is to make its home in the future has not been decided, according to officials of the Association, but it has been decided to close the big storage and move it to either Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

This cold storage was originally at New Westminster, but high waterfront taxes and the impression that it might serve both the salmon interests of the Fraser and the halibut requirements of the West Coast banks. In recent years, however, the salmon have gradually disappeared from the Fraser river and the halibut have forsaken the West Coast for new haunts in the north, with the result that the big cold storage at the mouth of the Fraser has become little more than a herring warehouse for the Japanese.

The association has had leanings towards Prince Rupert for some time because of the big runs of salmon, cod and halibut in the northern waters, but it is possible that the plant will be installed at Vancouver. For some years an attempt has been made to try and bring fish from the north to the Steveston plant, but the cost of transportation has been too high and the plan was abandoned. George Cassidy, manager of this cold storage, is one of the most expert authorities on the fish packing in British Columbia.

ADVERTISING ON CENSUS PAPERS

New Departure in Government Transactions Instituted in Britain.

LONDON, June 20.—A new departure in government transactions in the disposal, for a cash consideration, of advertising space on census papers; a proceeding which the official mind would formerly have looked upon with horror.

Even now, a proposal of an enterprising advertising agency to pay the government £11,000 for the use of the backs of 11,000,000 forms to be used in the forthcoming national census, was at first summarily rejected by Dr. Christopher Addison, the Health Minister.

Sir Alfred Mond, First Commissioner of Works, and a keen business man, saw the advantage of drawing revenue from this source and persuaded the Minister to consent to the innovation.

Some time ago, the same advertising firm offered £50,000 for the use of empty space on ration books; but the authorities would not listen to the proposal.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

A grant of $5000 was made to the Hospital at last night's meeting of the city council. The city is to have two representatives on the board.

Reorganization of the city engineering staff, to effect a saving of $9319.92 per annum in the staff payroll, is recommended by the special committee to look into the matter of the department.

Captain Harry Kohet had a narrow escape from drowning last night when his boat, "Just It," sank at the wharf while he was on board. The captain had to jump ashore in his night clothes and run up Center street in the early hours of the morning in this scanty attire to procure help. The boat apparently had her bow in some manner driven up on the rocks at the railway grade. As the tide fell so did the stern and she started to fill finally disappearing altogether. It will be possible to salvage her.

Miss Johnson, of the local hospital staff, returned on Saturday's boat from a vacation spent at her home in Vancouver.

PRINCE RUPERT TIDES

Monday, June 20.
 High—0:59 a.m., 20.9 feet.
 13:55 p.m., 18.8 feet.
 Low—7:45 a.m., 2.8 feet.
 19:40 p.m., 2.7 feet.

Tuesday, June 21.
 High—1:36 a.m., 20.7 feet.
 14:33 p.m., 19.0 feet.
 Low—8:18 a.m., 2.8 feet.
 20:15 p.m., 2.7 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port-Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.
