WOMEN CLERGY ARE ADVOCATED

Montreal Ladies See No Reason Why They Should Be Debarred From Ministry.

MONTREAL, Dec. 5.—Prominent Montreal women can see no reason why their sex should be barred from the clerical profession. They believe that they should have equal rights with men in doing so.

Several were questioned as to their opinion of the decision arrived at by members of the board of St. James Methodist Church not to favor the admission of women into the pastorate of the Methodist Church in Canada.

"Three or four years ago the Rev. Dr. Symonds, preaching in Christ church Cathedral, said that he saw no reason in nature or in scriptural inspiration to prevent women from holding highest positions in the Church, even that of Archbishop of Canterbury included," said Professor Giesse Derick.

Woman Professor.
Professor Derick said she saw no reason at all why women should not be admitted into the Church just as they were being admitted nowadays to all other professions, why there should not be absolute equality in this matter as well as in any other.

"There is," she said, "no special reason that I can think of why the clerical profession should be barred to women."
"Women spoke from the pulpits of Canadian churches on several occasions during the war on war subjects, and in the United States and in England there are women who take part in the services," she quoted instances of the late Dr. Anna Shaw, the national suffragist leader in the United States, and Maud Royden, who is now associated with the minister of the City Temple in London, England.

Woman Doctor.
Dr. Ritchie England also stated very emphatically that she saw no reason why women should not have the same rights as men with regard to any walk of life at all, or why the admission of women into the pastorate should be an exception.

Dr. England also spoke of Maud Royden, who, she said, had preached last year at the international meeting at Geneva of women, of all nations, and whose discourse upon that occasion was said to be exceptionally good.

BED OF RIVER UNDER LONDON

Narrow Escape for Part of City Near Oxford Circus.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—This city has just narrowly escaped a great peril, the possible caving in of Oxford Circus, the shopping center of the West End, says a story circulated by a news agency. The danger of the disaster was known only to contractors and workers underground. They were altering an exit from the Oxford Circus tube station so as to make an entrance into a business building when the contractors discovered a bed of a little unknown tributary of the Thames River which was covered over when Regent Street was made.

They also found, to their amazement and consternation that they were meeting the direct "lines of vibration" of the two underground tubes, the Central London and the Bakerloo.

The news agency says that they realize that if the excavations continued the whole of Oxford Circus might be literally precipitated underground. There were perilous days and laborious nights occupied in underpinning the buildings above ground and overcoming the side pressure which was being felt.

In place of the shifting sands of the old river bed there was constructed a retaining wall of cement more secure than at any time since the river flowed down the slopes of the present Regent Street.

AN election is like the game of put and take. You put ten dollars on your favorite candidate and the other fellow takes it.

THERE are likely to be a lot of people change their political views tonight or tomorrow morning.

IN the new school geographies it will state that British Columbia is bounded on the northwest by thirty Alaska.

THERE is one thing about the supporters of Colonel Peck, they are not lukewarm.

NOW that the election is about over, what about a little election pep in placing Prince Rupert solidly on the map as a shipping centre?

NOW that there is no election to bet on after today, the people who want to lose their money will take a flier on the results of the billiard tournaments.
