SPECIAL SERVICES IN CITY CHURCHES HELD YESTERDAY

Special services were held in several of the city churches yesterday. At St. Andrew's Anglican, thanksgiving services were held. Rev. Archdeacon Heathcote, of Vancouver, preached two splendid sermons, morning and evening, and the choir rendered special anthems in the evening. The church was made beautiful with thanksgiving decorations. Rev. W. H. Redman preached his farewell service at the Baptist Church before leaving for Victoria to which city he has been transferred. John E. Davey sang the solo, "The Holy City," accompanied by W. Vaughan Davies. At the Methodist Church was a congregational song service of old familiar hymns. An illustrated sermon, "Quo Vadis?" or "Whither Goest Thou?" was given by Rev. G. G. Hacker, E. V. Ling sang a farewell solo. Considering the inclement weather, the attendance at each church was very satisfactory. Thanksgiving services will be featured next week at the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist Churches.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE SUBJECT OF SERMON

Last evening Rev. H. R. Grant preached a sermon on the subject of church attendance. While urging that people go to places of worship on that day the Doctor said it was a matter for each person to settle with his own conscience. The difficulty was that people did what they thought, He had seen much evil come from neglect to attend church services on Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. VICKERS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Chief William H. Vickers, of the city police, and Mrs. Vickers are today celebrating the twenty-first anniversary of their wedding. The ceremony took place on October 30, 1901, in the old iron church, St. John's Anglican, on Douglas Street, Victoria. Rev. Percival Jenks, father-in-law of Mrs. Vickers, of this city, officiating. Fred Miller, present sergeant-at-arms in the Legislature, was best man. Many changes have taken place in the twenty-one years, a notable one having been the tearing down of the old iron church on the site of which the big Victoria Hudson's Bay store now stands. Their many friends throughout the province will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Vickers many more happy returns of their wedding day.

SPORT CHAT

The usual fall lull between the summer's outdoor season and the advent of the winter's indoor sport is now on. Baseball, football and lacrosse games have been off the calendar for some weeks now and the next on the program will be billiards, basketball and possibly indoor baseball and hockey. In the meantime athletics and fans have little to do but talk and think about prospects for the winter and what they are going to do then. If the weather were clear it might be possible to have a few special outdoor games or a few ante-season indoor matches of some kind or other might be pulled off.

A suggestion has been advanced by the Prince George hockey club for the formation of a league in the central interior this winter. Such a league it is proposed would include Prince George, Giscome, Vanderhoof, Burns Lake and Smithers. The only difficulty that seems to be in the way is the old one of how to finance travelling expenses. Smithers is actively planning already for the hockey season. A rink is to be built on the polo grounds and the railway company has been asked for water supply. The rink is also to be provided with electric light. Further decisions of a definite nature will be made by the Smithers Athletic Club at an early date.

Bill Barbour, who has established himself as the best player in the Trail Club billiard competition last winter, says that he has not been approached by any of the prospective teams regarding this winter since returning to town from Buckley Bay last week. Barbour was the first man on the champion Trail Club team last winter and was undefeated in the course of the competition. He would be a valuable acquisition to any of this winter's teams. It is likely he will have to go begging for a position.

R. F. McNaughton, district passenger agent for the Canadian National Railways, made the round trip to Stewart on the Prince Rupert at the end of the week.
