"Fruit-a-tives" Restored Him to Health

159 AVENUE PIER IX, MONTREAL
"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine but I did not improve, and finally he told me that I could not be cured.
At this time, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives". After taking two boxes, I was greatly relieved; and this fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are now splendid!"

MAYOR ROCHESTER'S VISIT TO NELSON

Gave Interview to Newspaper at Kootenay City in Regard to Prince Rupert

Paying his first visit to Nelson, though he "pounded a key" in Revelstoke 30 years ago in the infancy of the Kootenay's development, Mayor H. B. Rochester of Prince Rupert arrived from Kamloops last night, in company with Mayor C. F. McHardy, both having been in attendance at the good roads convention and the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities, Mayor McHardy having been elected president of the latter, says the Nelson News.

For a couple of days the mayor of the north-east metropolis will look over Nelson and its environs, under the guidance of his brother chief magistrate, and one of the points of interest will be the city power plant at Bonnington.

"You can say that Prince Rupert is holding its own," said Mayor Rochester. "While times have not been too good, our experience not being much different from that of other British Columbia cities in that respect, we are in a solid position, and when things begin to move over the country Prince Rupert will go ahead."

A Bane to Bootleggers

The two mayors fresh from the municipal convention, read with interest, while coming up, the report of the Conservative meeting here last Friday, at which Hon. W. H. Stevens stated all the liquor prosecutions in Prince Rupert had been originated by the city, while the attorney-general interested himself mainly in quashing them. Mayor Rochester had in his wallet a newspaper clipping showing that since he left Prince Rupert the city had secured one more fine from a bootlegger, this time to the tune of $1,000.

When Mayor Rochester is through with Nelson he will visit Spokane and Seattle before returning home.

Sport Chat

To present day swimmers, the English channel seems unbearable. The latest to give up the battle was the giant Russian, Stanislaus Andriksanov, who had to abandon the attempt when seven miles from Dover.

Miss Gierke, who failed in her first attempt, made another unsuccessful effort, having to give up when several miles from the starting point.

Miss Hilda James, the English lady champion, who has lately returned to England from the United States, evidently appreciates her own home waters, for she broke her own record, covering 220 yards in 2 min. 51 2-5 sec., lowering her previous best by 5 2-5.

Captain Ward, accompanied by his Chinese wife, their son, and a crew of three Chinese, recently crossed the Pacific from China to Vancouver, in the small Chinese junk "Amoy." When off the California coast the crew had to fight off a huge snake that swam out to sea and invaded the cabin. With such weapons as they could find the crew managed to overcome the reptile. The distance sailed was approximately 5,200 miles which is a wonderful feat for so small a craft.

A sensation was caused in English First Division football recently by the ordering from the field of the famous McCracken, of Newcastle United. The match was with Sheffield United, and McCracken disputed the referee's decision on a certain point very forcibly, and was told to retire.

The Corinthians, the famous amateur club, have entered the Football Association Cup series for the first time in their history, and are not likely to be lacking in fitness, for they have secured the services of the great Sandy Tait, the old Tottenham Hotspur player, to act as coach. Tait was a member of the Spurs when they won the English cup in 1901.

Inspector Miller, of the Inland Revenue department, Vancouver, passed through the city on the Princess Mary yesterday afternoon.

Dogfish Reduction Plant for Skidegate Contemplated by New Company Just Organized in South

An attempt to exploit the potential harvest of the sea which exists in the enormous quantities of dogfish swarming in the waters of Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands has been set on foot by two local men, S. T. Hankey, the well known barrister and solicitor, and E. G. Henshall, a manufacturer of this city, says the Victoria Colonist.

As a result of the efforts of these gentlemen, a company, "Ferphos Fish Products, Limited," has recently been organized to carry on the manufacture of fish meal and the extraction of oil from dogfish, on a larger scale than has hitherto been attempted in this Province.

The process by which the company confidently expects to overcome the difficulties which hitherto have hindered the commercial utilization of dogfish, is the invention of Mr. Henshall, who has been working for years past to effect the ready separation of the oil, and to eradicate from the product the fishy taint and smell.

A Profitable Market

Experiments conducted at the small plant which Mr. Henshall has been operating at Sooke, and also at the Empire Cannery of J. H. Todd & Sons, Esquimalt, have completely demonstrated the success of the new process, in the belief of the company's officers; and it is expected that in the near future employment will be given to a considerable number of men, fishermen and reduction workers, in the proposed plant at Skidegate Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands.

As for the market for the product—always providing that the product fulfils the requirements which have up to now been the difficulty of similar enterprises—it is said that there is a practically unlimited market, at profitable prices, both on this continent and in the Orient, for the fishmeal and the oil which are the main products of the process. An interesting feature of the process is the fact that the whole of the fish is utilized, and Mr. Hankey was responsible for the statement that the "healthiness" of the dogfish, a substance, or rather a condition, of the flesh peculiar to the species, and which had heretofore been the difficult factor in reduction, has recently given up as its final by-product of the Henshall process an excellent preservative shingle stain.

No Waste in Process

The success of the new venture is hoped for from the fact that the Henshall process will put the whole fish to commercial use. Former reduction operations have been confined to extracting oil from the liver of the dogfish, the rest of the fish being thrown away. This, according to Mr. Henshall, was equivalent to throwing away 75 per cent of all the oil available from the fish, which is said to be double that contained in such an essentially oily fish as the Pacific salmon.

The fish meal, which is one of the two main products of the process, has been endorsed by Mr. J. B. Terry, chief poultry instructor for the Province, and by several other well-known local men who have given it a thorough trial, for both swine and poultry feeding. It is said to be excellent for stimulating properties, to be absolutely free from taint and smell, and to be capable of keeping indefinitely.

Another possibility of great importance to the new industry is that involved in the likelihood that, as a result of evidence recently given on this Coast before the Royal Commission on Fisheries, a bounty will be offered for the taking of dogfish. With regard to the actual quantities of dogfish obtainable, the general opinion among experienced fishermen is said to be that it will easily be possible to keep the new plant supplied with fifty tons of fish a day, for 200 working days a year.

Fishing Methods

The approved method of taking the fish is by setting lines, having 500 to 1000 hooks to the line. Where the fish are found in shoals, a seine may also be used. It is well-known to the fishermen that the dogfish has a keen sense of smell, and that the baiting of an area of water will cause immense quantities of them to accumulate. It is believed that there are more dogfish in Skidegate Inlet than at any other point on the Northern Coast.

The commercial management of the company will be in the hands of Mr. Hankey and of other directors still to be elected. The actual manufacturing will be carried on by Mr. Henshall, the inventor of the patented process, and his son.
