

"You Are Looking 'All In'"

"YES, and that is just how I feel."

"What seems to be the matter?"

"Why, I had tonsillitis, and my whole system seemed to be poisoned and run down. So much so that I do not seem to gain strength."

"Will you let me be your doctor and do as I tell you?"

"I will do anything to get strong and well. I have been sitting here too long already."

"Well, you send to the drug store for six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and take one pill after each meal and at bedtime. Believe me, it will not be long until you feel the benefit of this treatment and find yourself gaining in health and vigor."

"How do you know?"

"I know from personal experience. After I had the 'flu' I was left just like you are now—all run down; could not sleep; the little food I ate did not seem to do me any good, and I was getting pretty blue."

"Yes."

"Well, my wife had been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and insisting on me giving it a trial. You know the rest, for I was soon about again, as hale and hearty as ever. I have told lots of people about this Nerve Food, and never knew it to fail yet."

"You are to be the doctor in this case, so I will follow your advice."

ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Seven Splendid Performers Featured Program in Westholme Theatre Last Evening.

The Emerald Isle, the memory of St. Patrick and, in fact, all things Irish were honored at the grand concert under the auspices of the Prince Rupert Council, Knights of Columbus, held in the Westholme Theatre last evening. Seven delightful artists appeared on the stage: Barry Shannon, Ernie Butler and Miss Nora Shannon, of Vancouver; Mrs. L. B. Warner, of Smithers; and Mrs. L. O. Larson, J. J. Raleigh and S. K. Campbell, of Prince Rupert. The numbers of each were so entertaining that it would be a difficult matter to adjudge which if any was the most entertaining. The program was entirely of Irish character and a full house rewarded the long and painstaking preparation of the committee in charge of the performers. Commencing on time at 8:15 o'clock it was well on to eleven when the curtain dropped on the final number. All the artists who appeared last night are again billed to perform in the matinee this afternoon in a changed program.

The performance last night opened with selections of Irish airs by the Westholme Orchestra comprising Charles Balagno, Will Balagno and Will Browne. Intermission and closing music of a similar character was provided by the orchestra. Its usual excellence is well known and was well sustained on this occasion.

Vocal Numbers. Mrs. Warner, of Smithers, making her first appearance on a local program in years, sang "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," and "Ireland Must Be Heaven." Mrs. Warner has a clear, sweet voice and a pleasing stage manner and was well appreciated.

J. J. Raleigh appeared in a turn entitled "A Little Irish Humor." Mr. Raleigh showed that he was quite at home over the footlights and his variety of songs, jokes, patter and step dancing was fully enjoyed.

Mrs. L. O. Larson, practically a newcomer in the local concert world, was very pleasing indeed. Her splendid soprano voice was heard to advantage in the Irish songs "Ashore" and "Molly O" for which she was specially costumed in typical Irish dress. Besides her excellent voice, Mrs. Larson's number showed a great deal of elocutionary ability. Encored she sang a Norwegian classic solo. Mrs. J. A. Anderson was her accompanist.

Barry Shannon, the popular Vancouver Irish ballad singer, who with his daughter, Miss Nora Shannon and Ernie Butler, was brought here especially to take part in this concert, created quite as good an impression this year as he did on a similar occasion last. He sang "Irish as She's Spoken" and "That Old Irish Mother of Mine" and was encored twice.

Novelty Numbers. The Song "Mountains of Mourne" by Mr. Shannon and Miss Shannon was the opening number of the second part of the program. Mr. Shannon, as Pat, and Miss Shannon, as Molly, provided, in this item, a fine combination of singing, Irish conversational wit and dancing.

Ernie Butler, London comedy conjurer and vaudeville entertainer, in his number of magic stunts, proved both clever and mystifying. He is a conjurer of no mean ability and showed that he has had a lot of experience at this kind of entertaining. He had a variety of tricks which were splendidly executed. Two small boys, Harold Davidson and Edward Houdima, assisted him.

S. K. Campbell, whose splendid tenor voice has gained an enviable measure of popularity in his brief period of residence in Prince Rupert, sang splendidly the two numbers "Killarney" and "Nora" and responded to an encore with "Come Back to Erin." H. C. Bailey was the accompanist.

The last number on the program was the comedy sketch "Casey's Night Out" by Barry Shannon and Miss Nora Shannon. Mr. Shannon appeared as a typical Irish toper who had mistaken his home address and entered the fashionable residence of Mary, whose part was taken by Miss Shannon who was indeed charming and delightfully gowned. Singing and comedy conversation featured the act.

Miss Stewart Speaks. The concert committee comprised J. C. Gavigan, chairman, J. J. Raleigh, stage manager, and J. F. Venables, F. W. Henning, L. Astoria and U. U. LaCasse.

In the course of the program last evening, opportunity was afforded Miss Helen Stewart, of Victoria, President of the B. C. Library Association, to give a four minute address on library matters. Couching her remarks in terms suitable to the occasion, Miss Stewart said that Prince Rupert, in the past, had seemed to neglect the mental feeding of the people and urged that this city provide this very necessary requirement by giving full support to the Municipal Free Library bylaw which will be submitted to the vote of the ratepayers next Wednesday.

KLINCK SPEAKS ON UNIVERSITY

Addresses Gathering at Hazelton and Will Speak Here on Monday.

HAZELTON, March 18.—On Tuesday night Professor L. S. Klinck, president of the University of British Columbia, spoke at Hazelton, and on Wednesday night at New Hazelton, before large gatherings. The professor took as his subject "The University of British Columbia, Its Relation to the Province." In opening his lecture the speaker said that he was not there for money, for moral support or for students but for the informed interest of the audience.

The evidence of growing interest in the university had been shown by the invitations received to address meetings and give lectures. In touching upon what the University of B. C. was doing, the speaker stated that in the department of Arts and Science, the following subjects were taught: bacteriology, botany, chemistry, classics, economics, sociology and political science, English, geology and mineralogy, history, mathematics, modern languages, philosophy, physics, and zoology.

The departments of agriculture embodied agronomy, animal husbandry, dairying, horticulture and poultry husbandry.

The staff of the university numbered 77, not including assistants.

Provincial Institution. He said that the University of B. C. had been looked upon in the past as an entirely Vancouver university, but he could assure his listeners that this was far from the facts, and stated that the students attending were drawn from 78 points within the province, eight students from points in Canada outside the province and 13 students from foreign countries.

The number of students enrolled since 1915 had grown from 379 to 1011, which fact spoke for itself as to the increased demand for university training and the justification of a university.

In addition to courses of university training the following courses of non-university grade had been undertaken. Vocational training for returned soldiers. Applied science 817 students, agriculture 472, and arts and science 62.

Summer School. A summer school for the accommodation of school teachers had been opened and in 1920, 127 teachers attended and in 1921, 134 attended.

The public health nursing, which was most essential in a vast province like B. C. where in outlying districts doctors were scarce and sometimes unobtainable in emergency, had met with great success and 26 students had enrolled in this department.

A botany evening class of 26 students had also been established, and extension short courses in agriculture had an attendance of 570 and comprised students from the upper country and from the northern interior districts. In addition to the courses mentioned other courses were being insistently called for, including home economics, advanced commercial science and music. In speaking of criticism, the lecturer said, "There is always the question of criticism to be dealt with. Some criticism is constructive, friendly and well informed, while some is less constructive, less friendly and still less well informed. The first is always welcomed, the second is never objected to providing the critics first avail themselves of all the data the authorities will gladly place at their disposal."

Immediate Need. The professor stated that the immediate need of the university was greater accommodation to enable them to take care of the ever increasing enrollment of students, and that a greatly increased legislature grant supplemented by other dependable sources of revenue would be necessary to put the university on a proper financial footing.

Principal Klinck will address the Canadian Club here Wednesday and will speak at a mass meeting in the Empress Theatre in the evening.

Was Troubled With Her Stomach For Five Years

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask., writes:—"I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better."

"I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many months. This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout."

"I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can do all my housework. You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am." B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
