BIG CITY HAD NO NEWSPAPER FOR FIVE WEEKS
 That Was Experience of Perth, Australia, When Printers Had Strike

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Imagine a city of 150,000 population being without a newspaper for five weeks, not even a weekly newspaper—practically cut off from the world for that period—and you have some idea of the position of Perth, the capital of Western Australia, during part of last August and September. Perth was not only cut off from news of the world outside of Australia, but it had no news from the neighboring states in the Commonwealth during this blank period.

The cause was the strike of the mechanical staffs of the papers. It arose over what at first was regarded as a comparatively trivial dispute in the printing industry, but it suddenly developed into a deadlock. The mechanical staffs of the West Australian and the Daily News ceased work. These were the only daily newspapers. The Sunday Weekly and two mid-weekly journals were involved, and a population of 150,000 persons was thrown back into the position of the earliest settlers, before the cable and land telegraph linked them with their fellows beyond their borders.

No News At All
 In the middle of September the man in the street in Perth was ignorant of the trend of the reparations struggle in Europe, knew little or nothing of Ireland's

They will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, and will tone, renovate and purify the liver, removing every result of liver trouble from the temporary, but disagreeable bilious headache to the severest form of liver trouble.
 Mrs. J. Schellon, Bethany, Ont., writes:—
 "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time. I was troubled with a bad liver and headaches, but since taking your Pills I am perfectly well again."

troubles, or of the Greek-Turk clash. Worse still to him, he could learn nothing, except by a tiresome circuitous route, of the form of the horses then in active preparation for the Eastern States racing carnivals.
 The only newspaper available which had a telegraphic service was the Kalgourie Miner, which was published nearly 100 miles away from the Western Australian capital. This had a very limited circulation in Perth, and the proprietors, avoiding any possibility of being made parties to the dispute between the printers and publishers in the metropolis, were not trying to obtain a Perth circulation. The strike ended on September 21.

WOMAN SAVES RUM RUNNERS
 Story of Bravery and Greed Comes from Lake Erie

SIMCOE, Nov. 30.—The story of a woman's bravery and of men's greed is hidden behind the details of the wrecking of the City of Dresden last week. This vessel sprang a leak and foundered while off the Lake Erie shore five miles west of Port Rowan.

The heavily laden ship, with Capt. J. S. McQueen, Annapolis, in command, bound for Port Huron, was caught in a sweeping gale which threw Lake Erie into a furor. The boat sprung a leak, and the water poured in so fast that all hope of reaching Port Burwell was abandoned, and Captain McQueen headed the vessel for shore.

Lifeboat is Capsized
 The treacherous undercurrent kept sweeping the boat back, although several times shore was but 300 yards distant. A small life-boat was launched with oars and lifebelts, but heavy seas capsized it. The second skill was lowered minus oars and bells, and the Captain and four mates clambered in, but the former's son, Peregrine McQueen, while assisting one of the men who was rendered partially helpless by a wooden leg, slipped, was caught on the crest of a huge breaker, and was drowned.

The sight of the wreck had brought speculators to the shore. The survivors of the crew were unable to make a landing, being caught in the treacherous under-tow. But for the courageous aid of Mrs. Rockefeller, wife of a neighboring farmer, they would have shared the fate of young McQueen. Alone she ventured out into the surf and by dint of daring and great efforts managed to drag the helpless and exhausted men to shore.

Whiskey Floats to Shore
 As the City of Dresden commenced to break up the nature of her cargo became apparent. She was laden with 500 cases of whiskey. As case after case came crashing on the shore, while hundreds of bottles from broken cases were bobbing about the surf, willing workers eagerly gathered the welcome spoils. Farmers toged their wagons and trucks, others came with bags, and the liquor was quickly gathered up. The harvest of the storm was nearly all gathered when License Inspector Edmonds, Provincial Constable Lawrence and County Constable Alway arrived on the scene from Simcoe. There was little left for the officers to seize.

All Sunday afternoon it was reported that a number of those who had terrified by their salvage operations were busy engaged in driving backward and forward to the beach and in various directions along the roads, making it impossible for the officers who were attempting to trace down the liquor to follow tracks into the various farm-yards.

Body Comes Ashore
 The body of young Peregrine McQueen came floating to shore while the salvors were removing the last few bottles of liquor. Coroner McGillivray was called to the scene, and after investigating the circumstances decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body is being taken back to Annapolis by Captain McQueen. He and the other survivors are little the worse for their experience, having been sheltered, warmed and fed in neighboring farmhouses.
 The City of Dresden was condemned some 20 years ago, when Captain McQueen purchased it and installed a completely new set of high-powered engines. The scene of the wreck is the most treacherous point along the coast of Lake Erie.
