Turkish Terrorism Evident in Taking of Smyrna Where Fire And Sword Prevails

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Fire has demolished the foreign quarter of Smyrna, according to despatches received here. The conditions are described by allied admirals as appalling. All the British and all the Americans with the exception of fourteen have been safely taken on board allied warships.

Turkish irregulars are in control of Smyrna and are firing on and terrorising the inhabitants.

The evidence submitted to the committee at several of its sittings up and down the coast has not been reviewed by the committee in its deliberations since the hearing of evidence, but most of the evidence strongly supports the proposal that a minister of fisheries should be appointed and Mr. Duff admitted last evening that this evidence was bound to have an effect on the recommendations of the committee to Parliament.

Yesterday the committee held a conference with the representatives of the Washington state fisheries board in regard to the problems attending the salmon

The admiral commanding the British squadron of Smyrna warned the Turkish authorities in the city that if the massacres are continued the Turkish quarters will be bombarded, it is stated in despatches.

Ultimatum to Kemal.
The British cabinet is summoned for this afternoon with the principal object of discussing the possible results of the meeting it is believed will be that Mustapha Kemal will be informed that he will be met, not only by British troops and the British ships but by a Slav army if he attempts to cross the straits.

NATIVE TRIBES HOLD MEETING

Appoint Henry Pearce to Be Delegate to Conference with Minister.

The meeting of the native tribes of Northern British Columbia was held yesterday in the Salvation Army Hall at 2 o'clock. President Henry D. Pearce in the chair. Mr. Pearce and Vice-President Samuel Bennett addressed the gathering on the question of Indian rights. Henry Pearce was unanimously chosen as delegate to represent the tribes at Vancouver in November and money is to be raised to pay his expenses there. It was reported that already the women's auxiliary at Port Simpson had raised part of the money.

Samuel Bennett welcomed the delegates, delivering an address in which he outlined the history of the dispute on land and other matters which had gone on since 1829 and has been a bone of contention ever since. It has been a grievance since the first white settlers came to the country. He urged a fit person be appointed to represent them in the conference with Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the department of the interior, including Indian affairs, and Duncan Scott, superintendent of Indian affairs.

Title to Land.
Henry Pearce spoke along similar lines and urged that every step be taken to secure the rights of the Indians of the province. As president of the organization he strongly recommended co-operation and united action between the various tribes in regard to the land question and all matters of Indian rights. The title they laid claim to was the same title acknowledged and recognized by the Dominion Government in connection with other tribes in the East. He said all that they asked was a square white man's deal.

INQUEST HELD TODAY ON DEATH OF MR. AND MRS. GREEN WHOSE TRAGIC END CAME WEDNESDAY

That Cora Green came to her death from a gunshot wound inflicted by George Green, and that George Green came to his death from a gunshot wound self-inflicted.

The foregoing was the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury sitting this morning before Coroner J. H. McMullin on the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. George Green on Wednesday afternoon last.

Evidence adduced showed that the Green family had had serious domestic troubles of late and that it was on account of these that the double tragedy probably occurred.

Evidence of Friend.
Mrs. James Gibson, a friend of the dead girl and who was intimately conversant with the affairs of the family, told of a quarrel that had taken place three weeks ago between Green and his wife. "This shooting could have happened then," declared Mrs. Gibson. She had been visiting with Mrs. Green and Green had apparently been under the influence of liquor. He had wanted his wife to go out with him but she had refused and he had become ugly saying that she must be ashamed to go out with him.

After going out and coming back a couple of times he had come back to the house in a violent mood and had stamped off to the room where their child lay asleep. He had thrown his boots against the wall and Mrs. Green being afraid that the baby would be hurt had gone to the room and brought it to the kitchen and put it in its buggy. Green came to the kitchen and demanded that the baby be taken back to its bed. Mrs. Green had refused and a struggle ensued in which Green took his wife by the throat knocking the baby carriage over in the struggle. Later Green had gone to the dining room and had rummaged through a drawer where the day before Mrs. Green had found a revolver. This had been removed to another place by Mrs. Green and Green could not find it. Things quietened down later.

Offensive Conduct.
In view of the offensive conduct and remarks made by Green Mrs. Gibson had not gone again to visit the family although she had taken Mrs. Green to the show the evening before the shooting. That day she had been feeling blue and was getting fed up with everything and would have gone to Vancouver to her mother if she had the fare. Parting after the show, that was the last Mrs. Gibson had heard of the Greens until the next afternoon an acquaintance telephoned her and told of the tragedy that had occurred.

Ernest Pearce, brother of the dead girl, told of having noticed that all was not well between Mr. and Mrs. Green a few weeks ago. Green had warned his wife that he objected to Mrs. Gibson's visits and that their friendship would have to cease or "she would be sorry for it."

Funerals Tomorrow.
James Gibson gave evidence corroborative of his wife's and evidence was also given by W. W. Wright and George Ness, the first to discover the tragedy, Mrs. Martha McKinley, Dr. J. P. Cade, Chief Vickers and J. W. McKinley.

Dr. Cade stated his opinion that Mrs. Green's death had not been self-inflicted but that Green's had been.

The jury comprised Douglas Sutherland, Fred Gilhuly, J. H.
