SORES SPREAD All Over FACES AND BODIES.

Mrs. Howard—Houllette, Waslatenn, Sask., writes:—I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters. My children started to break out on their faces with small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared.

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood-cleansing medicine such as

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY HAS NOTICE TO LEAVE

Building Occupied by Them to Be Renovated and Remodelled.

The St. Andrew's Society has been given orders to vacate the premises now occupied by it on the corner of Second Avenue and Seventh Street, and the owner, P. Black, announces that the place will be thoroughly renovated and remodelled with a view to making it revenue-bearing, it having since its purchase brought in small returns for the investment.

The outside of the building was thoroughly repaired last year and now the interior is to undergo a similar process.

CAPTAIN WATSON OF TUG BOAT STARSTON MARRIED IN LONDON

Picture of Bride and Groom Published in Recent Issue of Times.

In the London Times illustrated section which arrived yesterday is a photograph of Henry A. Watson of British Columbia and his bride, Miss N. M. Millicent Foster, taken as they were leaving All Souls Church, South Hampstead, London after their wedding.

Mr. Watson is the owner and skipper of the tug Starston of this port, which does a general towing business with headquarters at Gow Bay. He left recently for England where it was understood he was to be married. He is well known on the waterfront and is a member of the Prince Rupert Club. He served overseas during the war with the motorboat transport service, an Imperial unit.

Live in Juncoau.

"There are approximately 75 halibut fishermen living in Juncoau and in most cases their families reside here with them. These people purchase all their food and clothing at local stores and participate in our social and political life, and are an important part of our community.

"The heads of these families are to a man opposed to the proposed change of market unless some guarantee of their products will be maintained and it would seem well that the business men of this city should adopt a policy of co-operation with the fishermen of this community with a view to learning fully just what they desire in legislation that may be beneficial to them and that they may incidentally be of industrial benefit to this city.

Asks Public Action.

"Today there are a number of halibut boats in port and the crews are expressing their interest in this proposed legislation. Why should the business men of Juncoau and its commercial organization not learn how the local fishermen's mind operates on this question and endeavor to take some interest in his welfare by public action in his behalf."

ARGUMENT FOR OPEN MARKET

Juneau Newspaper Has Strong Editorial on Value of Prince Rupert.

The following editorial article from the Juneau Empire will prove of interest to local readers.

"The legislation now pending in Washington providing for the landing of American fish at any American port has raised much discussion throughout Southern Alaska and as it stands today the people of Ketchikan, the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the Washington delegation in Congress are strongly favoring it, while every fisherman of Alaska opposes it.

"The fishermen hold that the passage of this measure would mean that the halibut of the Pacific now landed in part at Prince Rupert, B. C., would be driven to market in Seattle and thus the old system of manipulating the market would come into vogue again.

Competitive Market.

"Although it would seem on the face of the matter that a stringent law whereby American vessels were compelled to land their catches at American ports would result in an increase of business for Alaskan fishing towns, it must be borne in mind that today a fair, open, competitive market exists and that the closing of Prince Rupert to American fish would lessen the competition to a considerable extent.

"The proposed railroad ferry from Prince Rupert to an Alaskan port would appeal to us with more force if the Seattle Chamber of Commerce were not so deeply interested in the proposed legislation for we cannot believe that it is the intention of the Chamber or the transportation interests to permit the traffic in fresh fish to pass over Canadian lines, and we would say that from their view point they are quite right in their effort to draw traffic thru Seattle and over American railroads to the East.
