Pattullo Urging Immigration as a National Remedy

TORONTO, March 28.—Immigration will be the solution of Canada's present difficulties, according to Hon. T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia's minister of lands, who is here en route to Ottawa to discuss immigration with the federal government. He said: "We simply must have people. Conditions demand it. It is generally admitted one of our biggest problems is the railway situation. We must create enough business to support both systems. To suppose we can indefinitely hold our undoubted great resources out of use according to our own liking and disposition is an illusion. We would do well to advance development while there are reasonable opportunities for selection. If we do not, it may be done for us."

Rat Fish Spine Pierced Neck of Fisherman and Entered One of His Lungs

With the spine of a rat fish piercing his neck and the point entering his lung, Ole Solem, a fisherman on the schooner Revilla, was rushed to port yesterday and taken to the hospital, where the offending spine was removed. An ugly and painful wound resulted, but the patient is doing well and it is expected will recover.

The Revilla had reached the fishing grounds only a short time and was hauling in the line when on one of the hooks a rat fish came over the side. It was an ugly creature with a sharp spine in its back several inches long. Solem took it off the hook and swung it around his head with the purpose of throwing it overboard, when the fish slipped and fell on the back of his neck, one of the spines piercing the flesh and going right through the lung. The spine broke and nothing could be done except to hurry to port and secure surgical aid.

Lines were hauled in and the Revilla made for Prince Rupert with the injured man and on arrival here yesterday the man was taken to the hospital and the spine removed.

Another fisherman was picked up here and the boat returned to the fishing grounds.

Others Poisoned. A number of local fishermen have been injured by the spine of the rat fish and it is usually considered to be poisonous. Capt. E. E. Sanderson speaking to a Daily News representative this morning said he had once pricked his hand on one and it had swollen and was badly poisoned. He told of others who had suffered similarly.

The rat fish has a head like a rat, is mottled in color and has the solitary long spine which is dreaded. It is a valuable fish for oil.
