CONTRASTS IN MOSCOW CITY

Rich Spending Freely for Luxuries While Famine-stricken Starve.

MOSCOW, Mar. 28.—Moscow has become more than ever a city of contrasts in this first winter of free trade under Communist rule. Black bread, the staple food of most of its inhabitants, grows dearer and scarcer nearly every day, but chocolate creams, sweet pastries, silk stockings and Paris gowns become more plentiful, though high-priced.

The famine throughout a great section of Russia grips and kills faster than grave-diggers can work, but many Muscovites are eating more, drinking more and wearing better clothes than for years past and are burning all the wood they can buy.

Many others, struggling on comparatively low wages or no income at all against increasing prices and fluctuating currency, are huddled in heatless rooms with little to eat.

Silks Plentiful.
A considerable quantity of cotton goods from some of the Russian factories has appeared in the co-operative shops and the market stalls and there is a very limited showing of woollen stuffs, but it is easier to find silk than gingham, satin than serge, and lace than worsteds.

New restaurants, with white linen, rare porcelain, high salaried orchestras and closely written menus a foot long, are opening to cater to crowds that mingle with the sleek, white-collared, newly-prosperous traders with a sprinkling of unshaven, dark-shirted and sometimes unwashed diners who appear too content with their lot to bother with barbers or washwomen.

Wine is now sold secretly and soon will be sold openly under license in these restaurants. Bootleggers call daily on many strangers, offering vodka and cognac.

Luxuries Common.
It is easier to find good champagne than good milk and chocolate eclairs than sausage sandwiches. The stores, reopening in constantly increasing numbers, ask prices which are as far beyond the reach of the ordinary Muscovite as is the exclusive 'maison' in New York above the pocketbook of a Manhattan shopgirl.

The millions of rubles necessary for the most modest purchases seem to come easy and so easy, however, to Moscow's new upper crust. Free trade is on the cheka, which once made short shrift of those who seemed wealthier than their fellows, is dead in name and curtailed in its powers. Moscow's multi-billionaires, with pockets full of 40,000,000 ruble notes, grow bolder and sleeker daily in the Communist capital.

MUSICAL METHOD.

"I never saw two children so much alike. How does your mother tell you twins apart?"
"She finds out by spankin' us. Dick cries out louder'n me."
—Boston Post.

ECZEMA ON FACE AND HANDS for Five Years

Eczema or salt rheum, as it is so often called, manifests itself in little round pimples which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to a strong heat, is almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

There is only one way to get relief and no remedy like
BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
Take it internally and it gets at the seat of the disease in the blood and drives it out of the system.

Apply it externally and it takes out the itching, stinging and burning, and promotes healthy healing.
Mr. J. Sage, 215 Princess Ave., Vancouver, B. C., writes:—"Having suffered with eczema on the face and head for the last five years, I consulted several doctors, and tried various kinds of salves and lotions, but I derived no benefit from any of them. I did not know what to do until a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used two bottles I began to get better and now after taking eight bottles I have not even a blemish on me. I feel that I cannot praise B. B. B. too highly. I hope you will make full use of this recommendation for the benefit of those who are suffering from this terrible complaint, eczema."

B. B. B. put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

STORE ROBBED LAST EVENING

John Main Arrested With Goods in His Possession—Was in Dazed Condition.

At about 11:45 o'clock last night the store of Mrs. Frizzell, in the Smith Building at the corner of Fifth Street and Third Avenue, was entered and goods and cash totalling in value about $10 as well as some useless documents and papers were removed. John Main, a young returned soldier, was arrested shortly after on suspicion and the case was called in police court this morning before Magistrate McLynn. Main elected for summary trial, evidence was taken and judgment reserved until further particulars as to the record and conduct of the accused, who claims to have resided here for some years, is secured.

The case against Main is a clear one, for witnesses testified to having seen a man answering to his description emerging from the broken window in the store. Later police officers found the stolen goods in his possession. No defence was offered other than the statement of the accused that he had been drinking last night and had no memory of having entered and robbed a store.

The first alarm the police received of the robbery was a telephone call from Fred Syrotuck, who said that a man had broken into Mrs. Frizzell's store and had gone away. The police were immediately put on the lookout.

Hatless and Bloody.
Fred Gilhuly, who had heard of the robbery, was passing a few minutes later along Third Avenue eastwards, and near Fuller's store saw a man without a hat and with something sticking out of his pocket which he took for a string of beads. He shadowed him until Constables Bourne and Macdonald arrived. The constables arrested the man, who was Main, and found in his possession 17 strings of beads, $6.60 in cash and various receipts, promissory notes and unredeemed drafts. The man's hands were cut and his clothes were torn.

Lawrence Ferguson of the Alder Rooms gave evidence in court to the effect that he had seen a man answering to the description of the accused emerging from the hole in the plate glass window at Frizzell's store at about 11:45.

Mrs. Knight, appearing in court, gave evidence identifying the goods.

The accused entered the box and made the statement that he had been drinking and had remembered no such incident as that with which he was charged.

Appeared Like Druggist.
Mr. Gilhuly, again coming into the box, said that he noticed no signs of the man being intoxicated, and he thought it was possibly due to drugs. Constable Bourne also said that the accused seemed dazed but not intoxicated. Chief Vickers said that accused had smelled strongly of liquor, possibly rum.

The window through which the thief entered has been bricked for years. Near the base was a loose piece of glass which had been knocked out. Apparently the person entering had gone through this way and made his entry into the store through the show window. There was a quantity of blood on the silk dresses in the window and the damage done to goods and property was possibly greater than the value of the goods and articles stolen.

Six Rules for Making GOOD COFFEE

- KEEP YOUR COFFEE AIRTIGHT—It loses its strength and aroma when exposed to air. Keep it in an airtight container.
- MEASURE CAREFULLY—Experiment until you find just the proportions of coffee and water that suit your taste. Then stick to them. Guessing usually means a poor cup of coffee.
- USE GROUNDS ONLY ONCE—Don't leave the coffee grounds in the pot for the next meal. Used coffee grounds are of no more value in making good coffee than ashes in building a fire.
- USE BOILING WATER—Boil your water, but don't boil your coffee. Don't let the water and the ground bean boil together after they are mixed.
- SERVE AT ONCE—Many a pot of perfect coffee has been ruined by letting it cool. If you must wait, keep the coffee piping hot, but never let it boil. Re-cooking ruins the flavor.
- SCOUR THE COFFEE POT—It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry, scour it even more carefully than other cooking utensils.
