Razor for $1.

The patent expired and the price dropped from $5 to $1. It is the same identical article except that it has six blades instead of a dozen.

The Twinplex Stropper $5

These two make a perfect combination that no man who shaves can afford to be without. The Twinplex sharpens the two edges, both sides, alternately. One blade lasts three months and every shave a perfect shave—better than with a new blade.

Our confidence in both is absolute and we offer either or both on one month's free trial. Your money back. You take no chances. Satisfied customers are our best advertisements. You must be satisfied.

HEADS That Ache
and Pain

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time. In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

which has been on the market for the past forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes:—"My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

The telegram from the Naval Department accepting the city's offer to connect Digby Island with the municipal power line for the sum of $3875 was received and filed by the council last night.

A benefit dance will be given on March 10, in St. Andrew's Hall in aid of a returned man who suddenly went stone blind last year. His friends are others are having tickets printed for this dance and will have them on sale at an early date. This case is a deserving one and the committee expects that the appeal, approved by the G.W.N.A., will have a generous response from the public.

A letter from the City Solicitor of Victoria presenting an account for $340 this city's share in the costs of the case of the Bishop of Vancouver Island vs. the City of Victoria, which as a test case, involves the taxation of all church property, was received by the city council last night and the account was ordered paid. Mayor Rochester explained that the judgment obtained in the case from the Privy Council had provided that all church property was subject to taxation with exception of the actual space on which a church stood. All grounds were taxable.

PIPE DREAMS

By Newton F. Pullen

The Irish, I notice, have not yet ceased hostilities. Perhaps the time may come when the Irish will be able to advertise their country as the only place where fighting can be obtained by those who desire it. You can picture the newspaper advertisements: Does the old fighting instinct still assert itself? Come to Ireland. Fighting every day in the week. Shillelaghs rented at moderate rates. Excuses for fighting are provided free of charge.

Vancouver to one who makes a short visit there, does not seem to worry overmuch about Government liquor laws. A recent visitor there reports that patrons of a certain well-known restaurant could take their own beer or whiskey along with them when they went there for meals, and were not molested when they placed the bottles in plain view on the tables. Another place on the same street dispenses whiskey at so much a glass and the fact appears to be well known. A drug store on one of the main streets in the business section will sell liquor to those who use a certain magic name.

Conversation, the act of talking together, holds a place in life the importance of which, it would seem, is hardly realized. We hear much these days of the art of public speaking, and we are urged to learn how to address gatherings with ease, fluency and clarity, but how often is the desirability of developing the same skill in carrying on conversation ever brought to our attention?

Conversation is more important than written communication, is it not? And certainly it is only comparatively few of the people who make speeches, but everyone of us carries on conversation. What characteristics mark the good conversationalist? In considering this question let us omit mention of business talks and deal solely with conversation apart from that phase.

Conversation gives entertainment, can be informative, and can be an important factor in mind development. The good conversationalist seeks to find out in what the other person is interested. He is willing to allow the other a liberal portion of the talking, is anxious to get his opinions and information but at the same time realizes that to be a good listener is not everything in expressing his own views an individual clarifies his thoughts, creates thoughts and develops mentally. The conversation, therefore, under normal circumstances, should be fairly shared so that the fullest benefit may be secured. The good conversationalist is accurate in statement, does not exaggerate, and does not dogmatize. He has a good command of English but does not use words which the others would not understand.

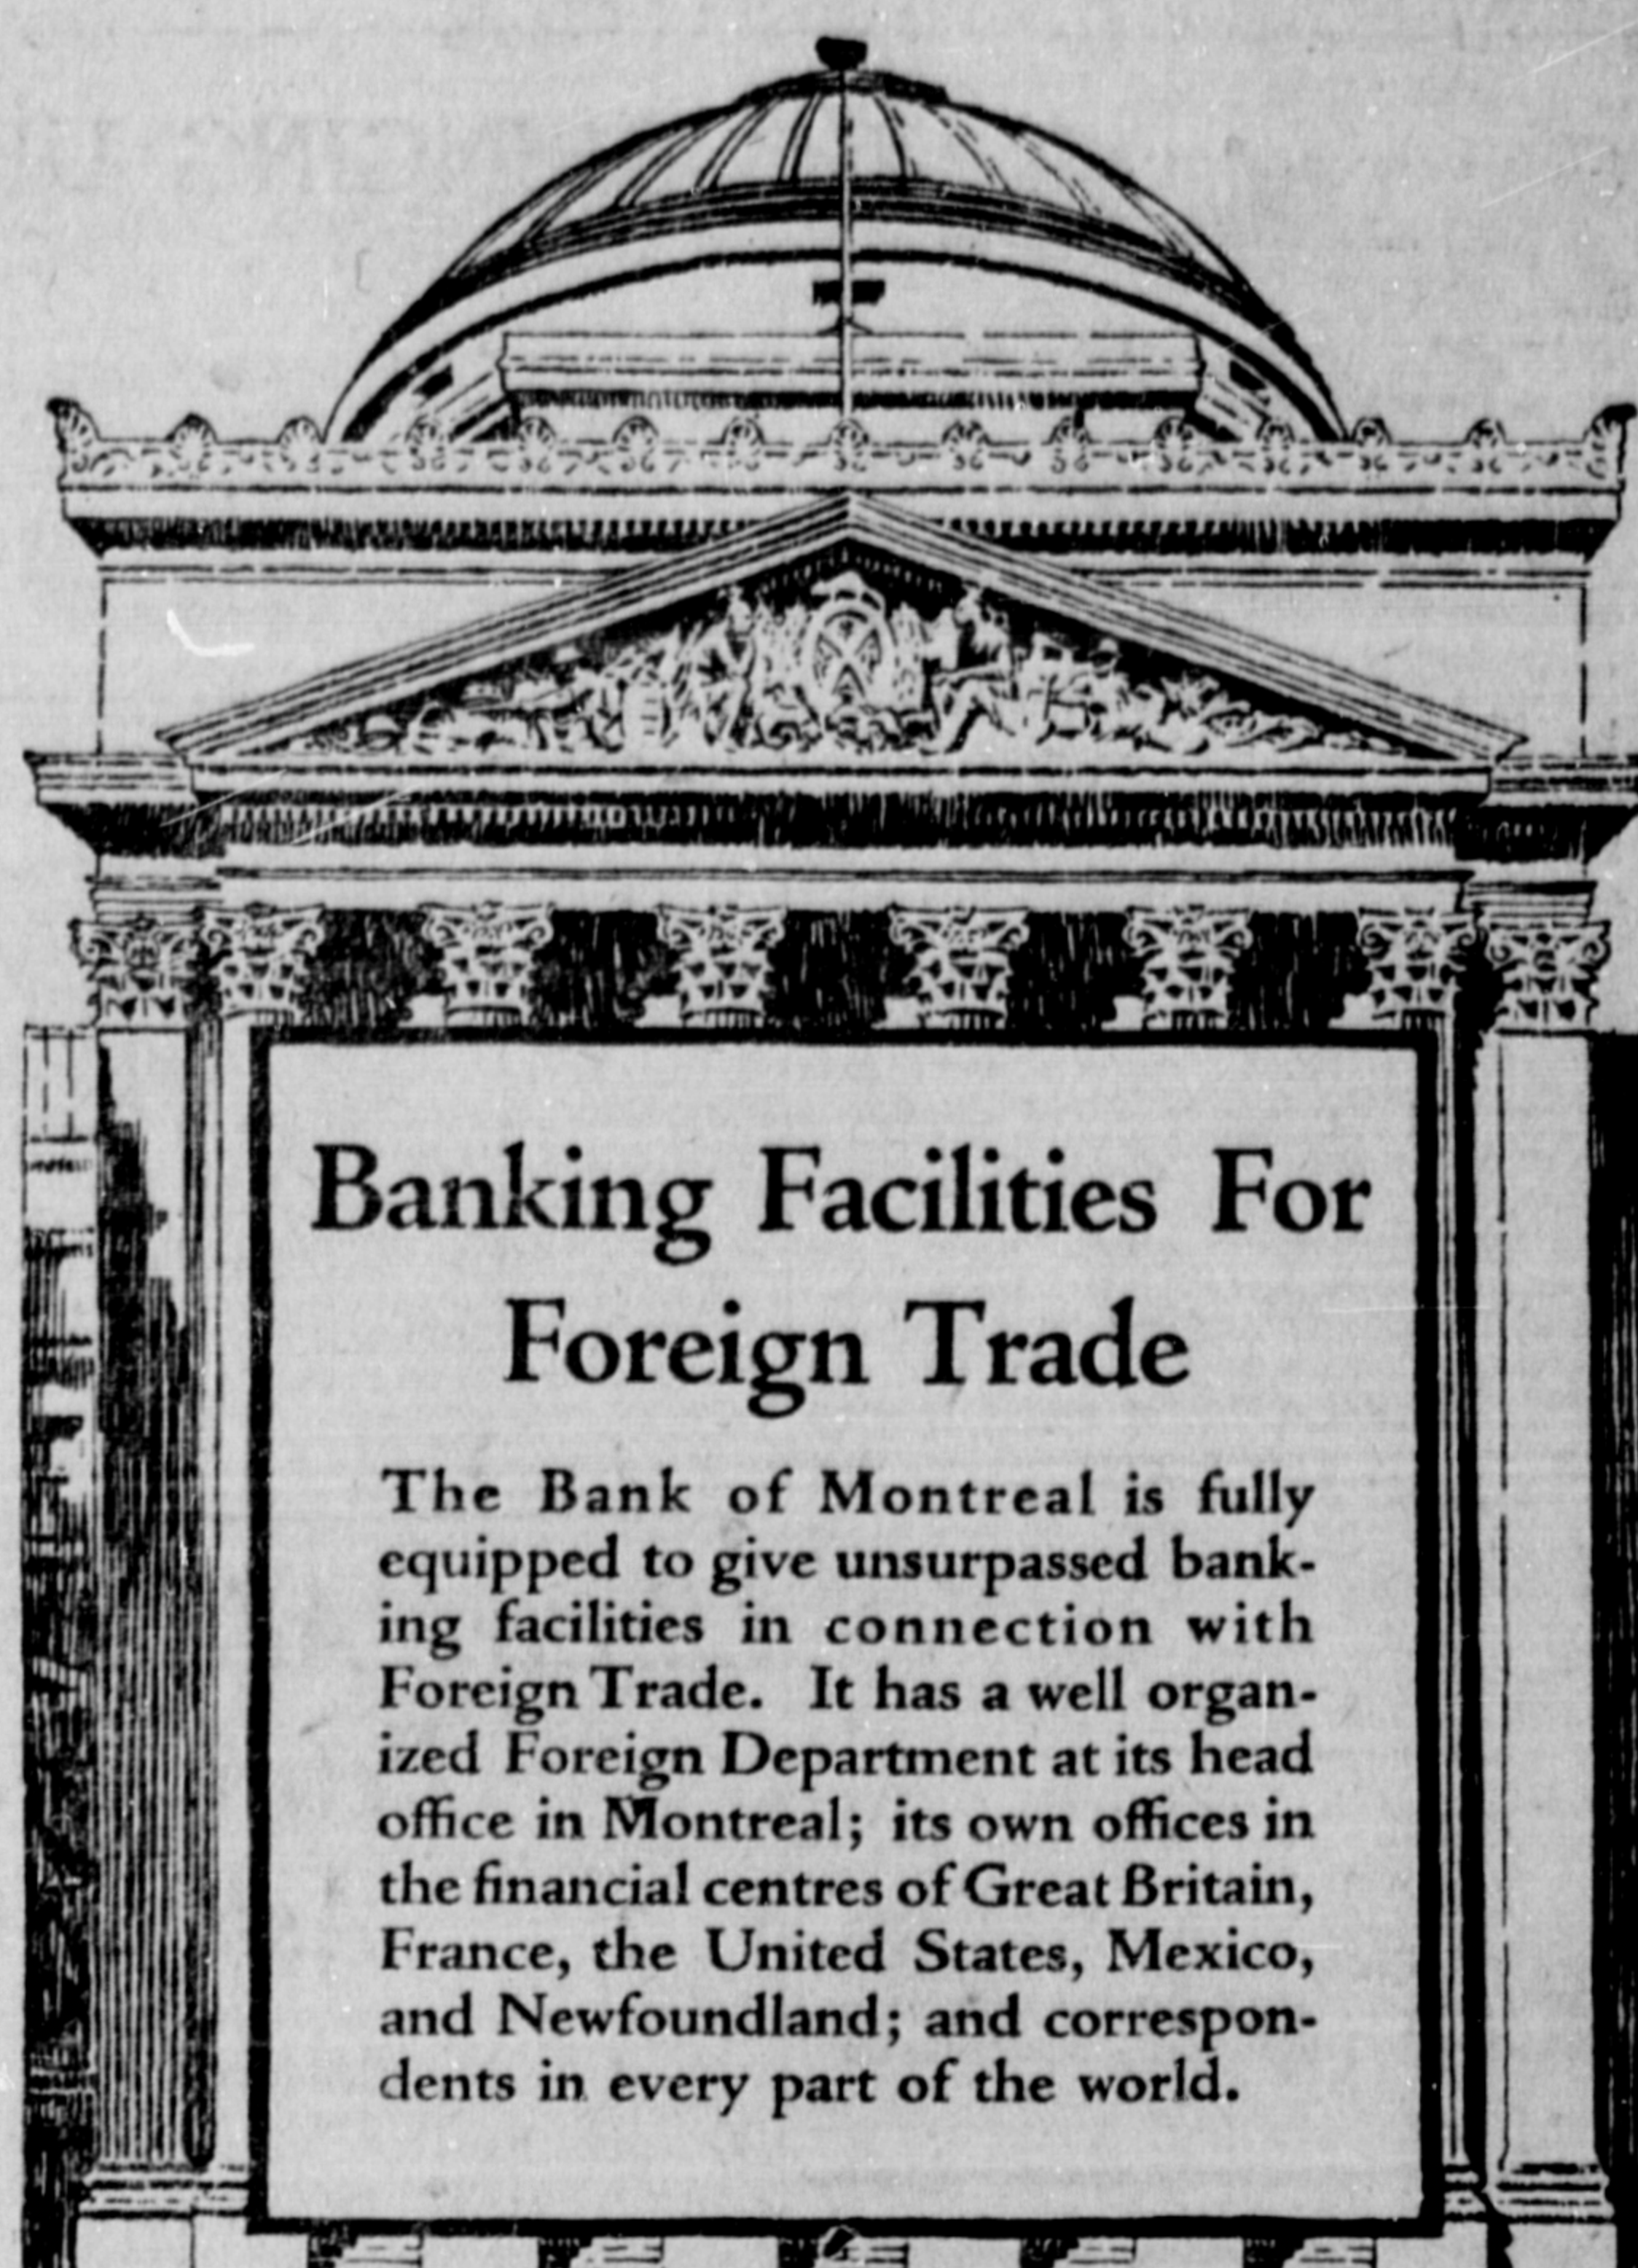

Conversation does not hold its rightful place in our social life. Do people, generally speaking, show any great desire these days to spend an evening in conversation? Are they not too prone to choose the theatre, the dance, billiards, cards, or other forms of entertainment? If you have at times sat before a blazing fire and, with a kindred soul, ranged over a great variety of subjects in conversation you will probably agree that this method of spending the hours of an evening is a delightful one.

New Things
Out of Old

We can't do that, quite—but we sometimes come pretty close to it. A little skilful work on things broken or twisted often transforms them into useful articles once more. We ask you to bring all your breaks and bends to us, no matter how small. The cost will not be unreasonable.
