ABOLISH WAR SAYS PREMIER

Head of Sweden's Government Delivers Lecture Before University of Christiania.

LOOKS TO LABOR

Many Illusions Have Been Shattered Yet Spire of New Hope Rises.

STOCKHOLM, July 22.—(Can. Press).—The strongest hope for the abolition of war is to be found in a universal League of Nations and Labor International of Amsterdam, is the opinion of Hjalmar Branting, Sweden's Social Democratic Premier. He expressed this idea recently in his Nobel Peace Prize address before the University of Christiania. Mr. Branting divided last year's peace prize with Christian L. Lange, of Norway. According to the terms of the Nobel Foundation, the winner must deliver an address before the University of Christiania on the subject of peace.

Foe to Bolshevism.

For years Premier Branting has been closely identified with the labor movement as represented by the International unions, and of late years he has proved an implacable foe of Bolshevism in the ranks of labor. In his speech he stressed the importance of the role that enlightened labor could play as peace-maker. He declared that the League of Nations was now weak because of "the absence of President Wilson's own country as well as that of the great defeated powers, Germany and Russia," adding that the limitations and short-comings of the League must be eliminated if our civilization is to endure.

"Nevertheless," declared Mr. Branting, "the League opens for the first time, after a huge military catastrophe, perspectives of

'DR. FOWLER'S'

Saved The Lives of Four Children

Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and summer complaint are responsible for more deaths, especially among children, during the summer months than any other form of disease. According to statistics, in the City of Toronto alone, in the past five years over 1000 deaths of children, from diarrhoea, 757 died during the four summer months. It therefore behooves every mother to look after her children on the first signs of any looseness of the bowels by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past 77 years, and has been proven to be the best there is.

Mrs. Harold Sellers, Pennfield, N.B., writes: "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry saved the lives of four of my children when all other remedies failed. It stopped the vomiting and terrible diarrhoea with which they were troubled. I will always recommend it, and now always have a bottle on hand in case of emergency."

peace, understanding and justice between the free and self-governing people of the world.

New Europe Emerges.

"Although recent years have seen many illusions shattered as regards human progress," continued Mr. Branting, "it is not certain that the future will deem the years we have lived through only as a period of destruction and retrogression. The spires of new hope are too many, too numerous, and too promising for that. We must not altogether forget that out of this hard travail a new Europe has emerged. The League of Nations must become universal. No people is too great to keep outside of the League."

"Before the world war many hoped that the workers of the world would never permit a war. We know now that this hope did not materialize. But will labor be powerless now that public opinion against war has been so much strengthened? The political international may at present be weakened by dissensions introduced into the ranks of labor by Bolshevism, but the Labor Union Internationale in Amsterdam, representing 20,000,000 workers of all countries, stands stronger than ever before. Its huge membership is a power to be reckoned with, and the propaganda against war is being incessantly carried on among the masses. The situation may soon be such that when the question is asked: 'Who has done most for the cause of peace in the spirit of Alfred Nobel, the reply will be: 'The Amsterdam International.'"

Mr. Branting closed his address with this quotation from James Bryce: "If the peoples do not try to annihilate war, then war will annihilate them."

FINDS TRIBE SUMO INDIANS

Scientist Makes Trip Into Little Known Country in Nicaragua

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Wharton Huber, assistant curator of the ornithology section of the Academy of Natural Sciences, returned recently to this city from hitherto little known regions of Nicaragua where he assembled a large collection of birds, beasts, fish and reptiles, a number of which he believes have not yet been classified. He also claims to have penetrated to the villages of Sumo Indians who rarely had seen a white man. The scientists' specimens include 600 birds, 40 rare mammals and 2,000 fish, reptiles and insects, all of which he placed on exhibition in the local institution.

Heavy Rainfall

"My research work was done about 180 miles inland from the Nicaraguan coast," said Mr. Huber. "We established our headquarters at a small mining camp whence we made trips further into the country. The average annual rainfall here is 147 inches. From the time I reached the interior until I left there never was a dry article of clothing on me. The country is infected with red bugs, smaller than fleas which burrow under the skin and inflict serious wounds."

"I went up the Prinzapolka river for 180 miles in a pitpan, an open boat made of a hollowed-out mahogany log. Then in a smaller pitpan I ascended the Banabana river to Mininda. The district is hilly, and covered with tropical forests so dense that it is impossible to enter them until a way is cut by Indians."

"The only inhabitants are a few scattered tribes of Indians apparently of Spanish and Miskito Indian descent. With a body of these Indians as guides I penetrated to certain villages of the Sumo Indians."

Skilful Hunters

"The Sumo men are very skilful hunters, but the tribe is rapidly becoming extinct. With all their ability in hunting and their courage in facing wild animals, they are excessively timid of strange human beings, and will run away even from members of other Indian tribes. Miskito Indians sometimes walk into their villages and take anything they want without meeting resistance. The Sumos, numbering about 500 souls all told, have the slant, almond eyes of the Chinese and their skin is about the same color as that of a Chinaman."

Killed by Jaguars

Mr. Huber had with him a number of dogs, two of which were killed by jaguars. The scientist believes that fully 40 per cent of the birds and animals he shot were lost because neither dogs nor Indians could make their way into the jungles to the point where they fell. He used dynamite to secure his fish specimens. Mr. Huber emerged from the jungle region weighing 40 pounds less than when he entered, at which time his weight was 180. Although he warded off illness during his expedition, he was taken down with fever immediately it was over.
