What audiences would like to know is why a detective on the screen is a man who could never catch a criminal? Why criminals are always represented as wooden noodles with clubs? Why criminals act in such a way as to give away the fact that they have committed a crime? (They do not act that way in real life.)

NORMA TALMADGE THURSDAY ONLY

"Love's Redemption" is Screened Very Largely in West Indies

Many of the scenes in "Love's Redemption" which is to be shown here on Thursday only were made in the West Indies, where Norma Talmadge and her company spent nearly four weeks. The story is laid in a small tropical island, where the thermometer is about 130 degrees, and the population principally black, with the exception of the unlucky younger sons of English families who are condemned by their parents to work out their own salvation. But just as a pond lily grows in the darkest mud, so Jennie Dobson, nicknamed "Ginger" (the part played by Norma Talmadge), blossoms to lovely girlhood, despite the evil surrounding her on all sides. Her own fineness of character, high ideals, and noble purpose, eventually have their effect upon the man she loves. How she brings about this redemption, when he, too, is on the point of giving up the struggle, forms one of the most interesting plots in which Miss Talmadge has ever appeared.

JUNIOR CHAUTAUQUA SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Children's Parade Tomorrow Morning at 10 o'clock; Prize for Costume.

The second session of the Junior Chautauqua closed with an exciting search for a Chautauqua season ticket which had been hidden on the playground previous to the Saturday afternoon play hour. Of the 135 children who engaged in the search Bessie Derry was the lucky finder.

The children are now busily planning costumes for a Junior Chautauqua parade which will occur Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. All boys and girls are invited to participate in this parade regardless of previous attendance at the play sessions. The child appearing in the best costume will receive a season ticket as a prize.
This will conclude the Junior Chautauqua for 1922.

WEE JAMIE COMING

Famous Pipe Major of Killies to Be Here with Canadian Chautauqua.

When the Killies Band of Bellville, Ontario started on their two year tour of the world, two members of the company became inseparable companions. Because of their difference in height they were soon nicknamed "Big Don" and "Wee Jamie."

To the pipe-major the name has clung and whenever he has appeared, he is best known by the name of Wee Jamie. Throughout the tour he was a popular member of this musical organization and contributed a full share to the success of the program.

"Wee Jamie" is not a Harry Lauder imitation. His program is unique and includes such specialties as bag-pipes and Scottish dances.

Wee Jamie will be here this week with the Canadian Chautauqua Company.

KETCHIKAN HYDROPLANE GIVING GOOD SERVICE

Steve Selig Says Roy Jones is Making Commercial Success of His Venture.

Roy Jones, the Ketchikan aviator, who recently took a hydroplane to Ketchikan, is making quite a commercial success of his venture according to Steve Selig, the well known fisheries man, who was in town at the week end. Mr. Selig says that the service given by the machine is a great convenience to the citizens of Ketchikan and they use it quite regularly for visiting outlying points. On Friday for instance the "Northbird" came from Ketchikan to Hidden Inlet, a distance of ninety miles, with Mr. Freely, of Seattle, the manager of the cannery, as a passenger.

Mr. Selig has been up in the machine himself and has taken quite a fancy to the air mode of travelling.

Mr. Selig arrived from Ketchikan Friday night on the W. R. Lord and returned Saturday night on the Lloyd C.

The Man Who Brings the Message of Life Insurance is the True Friend of Us All

You know something of the work of the Life Insurance Man,—but do you appreciate that if it were not for his efforts, the homes of Canada would be without the protection of three-and-a-half billion dollars of life insurance?

He is, by his daily work, "holding the bridge" against trial and distress for millions of wives and children, or providing "old age comfort" for many who would otherwise be in want.

Moved by a vision of the good to be accomplished, the Life Insurance Man has faced his problems with optimism, and now sees over a million dollars paid out each week by the Life Insurance Companies in Canada to the beneficiaries of his labor.

Life Insurance Representatives are the great ambassadors to your home. They will be pleased to show you how simply and easily you can throw the "mantle of protection" around it.

In Toronto this week the Life Insurance Representatives on this Continent are meeting for the purpose of further increasing their power to serve the public. Life Insurance Service extends greetings from all who are engaged in this great cause, and also on behalf of the policyholders throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Screen Silent Missionary Says Katherine Macdonald

"The screen is the greatest silent missionary working for the uplift of mankind today. Its mission is to entertain, not preach, but in a subtle way accomplishing far more than is evident from a mere cursory examination."

So declares Katherine Macdonald, the beautiful film star. "The average photoplay," she says "emphasizes the folly of sin and the rewards of good. In even the cheapest melodrama the moral is usually of an uplifting character—the villain learns the way of the transgressor. The heroine that virtue rewards, the hero that it punishes to be brave, kindly, self-reliant and decent. The beauty of home life and filial love is also emphasized."

"These are the things that the motion picture teaches without preaching. And it is easy—in fact, it is very pleasant—to take such a lesson especially when it comes in the form of delightful entertainment."

"That's why I claim that the screen is a wonderful missionary of the world today. It is the great missionary because it reaches the masses—it comes into real contact with many more people than do the churches or the printed word."

"I have an opportunity to do some real missionary work in my latest photoplay, 'The Infidel,' in which in my opinion I have the best role of my career. I play the part of Lola, an unbeliever in human circumstances takes to a South Sea island and its missionaries."

"Lola has been taught by her mother to hate all ministers. Her life for them is not increased when an over-zealous preacher takes the shut down of the Australian opera house in which she had been playing."

"And so she accepts the proposition of 'Bully' Haynes to go to the island of Menang, pose as a runaway and attempt to rescue Gus Flint, owner of the island's opera interests, from the clutches of the missionaries who, Haynes declares, are bleeding Flint."

"Lola reasons that it will be
