LIBRARY MUST BE BUSINESS

Most Modern Ideas and Methods Necessary to Get Best Results.

LIBRARY AND THE BOY

Miss Stewart Gives Interesting Address to Rotary Club on Favorite Subject.

Assuming that the members of the Rotary Club favored the establishment of a library just because they were Rotarians Miss Stewart, the guest of the club yesterday, addressed them on how to make the library effective. Just as the Rotary Club seeks to represent each point of view, so said Miss Stewart, the Library seeks to represent every point of view. Keen in the matter of selection, anxious to choose the best, each had in view the formation of a community spirit, which was a higher goal than anyone singly could achieve. In the idea of internationalism or the making of world citizens and getting rid of barriers, the Rotary was doing what the Library also aimed to do for the whole community.

Miss Stewart said there were two distinct points she wished to impress upon her hearers. The value of seeking the community interest and of looking out for the boys. Those too were Rotary ideals.

When a library was started it was very frequently considered that someone who was unable to do anything else could be the librarian. That idea was still fairly ripe. There was a deep contempt by the man of action for the man of ideas. It was only in the last few thousand years that man had developed the art of thinking. Men worked for the future of the boys and girls so that they might have a chance. Unfortunately, however, the boys of today were deprived of much of the opportunity of the former generation. The forest had in many cases been burned over, the land impoverished, the mines depleted. A great many of the resources of the country had been robbed. Because of this the boys of today must be better equipped for life. This could be attained by developing ideas.

In the library movement they were asking the people of Prince Rupert to vote 50¢ per head of the population for the work. It was a small amount to ask them to invest in ideas. Some people felt they could not get along without material things but they could be quite happy without mental stimulus.

Miss Stewart was flanked for her address by President Duby who spoke most appreciatively of her address and of the cause for which she was pleading. There were a number of guests present including members of the Library Committee.

Business Methods. Miss Stewart then spoke of the business end of librarianship. It was necessary in business to make up a budget, in order that it may be known exactly what is being done and may be done. Cost accounting was necessary. So a librarian must be a business person who could do cost accounting and make up a budget. The librarian's office is a business office. There were the same problems in a library as in business. The librarian could not be a doddering person, but must be well equipped with knowledge of modern business methods. It was only easy to conduct a library when modern business methods were installed as up to date as in any business. Every librarian must know how to administer.

Further than that in the matter of a library as in business it was necessary to get the idea over to the people. That was why businessmen advertised. The librarian must know both books and people. It was also necessary to have the stock with which to work. Like a mine, however, the books were of little value unless developed. In order to be head of a library a person must keep the finger on the pulse of the community. It was the duty of the librarian to gather information and keep it in such a way as the finger could be placed on it in a moment. Magazines all had to be filed and indexed after their general use. As a matter of fact "a collection

Night Coughs

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep.

The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition that they get no chance to heal.

You will find in

a remedy without an equal, for soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the breathing organs and fortifying them against pulmonary disease.

Mrs. John McKernay, Lower Montague, P. E. I., writes:—"About three years ago I caught a very bad cold accompanied by a sore throat and hoarseness, and was so hoarse you could hardly hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised; got a bottle, and at once it gave me relief, and after using four my cough had all gone. Now I always keep Dr. Wood's in the house, and shall recommend your remedy to others."

of books is no more a library without a business and professional expert than is a hole in the ground a mine without the expert to get out the ore."

Value to Boys.

Miss Stewart then went on to speak of the value of the library to the boys of a community. They all realized the value of physical health but without mental muscle these were of little value. They could not succeed with a healthy body without a healthy mind. Men worked for the future of the boys and girls so that they might have a chance. Unfortunately, however, the boys of today were deprived of much of the opportunity of the former generation. The forest had in many cases been burned over, the land impoverished, the mines depleted. A great many of the resources of the country had been robbed. Because of this the boys of today must be better equipped for life. It is expected that about 25 more members will be enrolled.

ARTISTIC EFFORT IS CONCERT PROGRAM FOR ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT

The most pretentious artistic effort yet made in Prince Rupert in the way of a program has just been issued from the Rose, Cowan & Latte presses of the big St. Patrick's Day concert which is being held here tonight under the Knight of Columbus. It is printed on heavy cream coated paper and has an art cover, the whole constituting something unusual in the way of concert programs. It is a credit both to the committee having its preparation in hand and also to the printers.

Splendid refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary committee and the House Committee.
