Red Mountain

The prompt recovery of Red Mountain shares from the low level of 45c to Monday's close of 59c has partially fulfilled the prediction we made in these columns.

We are advised by the Boundary Red Mountain management of a second bullion production record amounting to $3985 in seven days. This was at the rate of $565 per day and showed a material improvement over the preceding nine days when the daily gross output was $493.

If you will contrast this output of gold with the present quoted value of Boundary Red Mountain shares you will understand our advice to enter your order at today's market.

Full particulars concerning the property furnished on request.

ing in the fort. He is trying to get my nanny tied up. He says as how he has got a raise in his job having been moved from the basement to the attic. Guess he's trying to be funny. He also says he's applied for a job as a dresser in a butcher shop. He's going to put the lights on the sausages which I don't think is a very gentlemanly business myself. I took Podge to a singing school the other night and he nearly quered the whole show. The teaching guy came out and said "Miss Winkle will now sing. Put me in my Little Red Accompanied by the Curate." but I don't know what he was getting at. Anyway Podge took exception to it and blew some noomer from a tube on to the stage and you should have heard 'em sneeze. The lady at the piano blew the music out of the window and they had to put a handle on the box of dominos. They turned us both out so Podge produced four bits which he had saved up and we went to the pictures which were swell."

Ready for Christmas

Several boat owners have left upon the happy and economical idea of fattening up their favorite dish for the big Christmas dinner aboard ship. Several nice large well intentioned very much alive turkeys have already been given a berth on deck and are being fed with the daintiest of food so that the eating will go good when the big day comes. One boat owner has met with much success in the past in keeping a few live fowl aboard whose duty it has been to keep the table supplied with eggs. In the event of an egg not being forthcoming the owner has been successful in producing eggs by squeezing the hen a little.

Predicted Fur Record

If the number of trappers who have already left port and who are preparing to leave is any criterion, a record fur catch for the coming season may be predicted. Last year was one of the greatest raw fur years in the history of the port of Prince Rupert and the coming season bids fair to eclipse it.

Captain Claude Ketchum left on Sunday last for Vancouver and other southern cities on a combined business and pleasure trip. Cap will return about December 1, and alone, perhaps.

BUY YOUR APPLES NEXT WEEK

Extra Special—300 Boxes of Apples at $1.50 per box. See This Line Displayed in the Windows of our Old Store.

Over fifteen different varieties of unwrapped Apples, some of which are winter keeping varieties which you can afford to put away for two or three months and use when they will have doubled in value.

Apple Prices Sure to Advance

Owing to the extreme low prices which have prevailed this fall, sales have doubled and most of the early varieties are cleaned up. The tremendous European demand for later keeping varieties which has kept a constant stream of export stock flowing through the Port of Seattle has strengthened American markets, forcing their buyers to import British Columbia Apples.

The Law of Supply and Demand

Will regulate prices. Just as surely as over supply forced the Apple Growers to throw their early varieties on the market at prices which were less than the cost of production, just so surely will export demand reverse the situation and cause the market to advance.

Mr. CONSUMER---
This Is Your Opportunity

Every household in Prince Rupert should have one or more boxes of this shipment, because they represent the biggest value in Apples which have been offered in Prince Rupert since this store opened here, more than seven years ago. We expect to sell the entire shipment this week, and we advise you to come early and select the boxes you want as none are worth less than $1.50, and the most of them are worth $2.00 or more.
