Safe and Sane
Xmas Celebrated.

Another happy Yuletide has passed and the manner in which it was celebrated in Prince Rupert clearly showed that this city had the proper spirit. The air was pervaded with optimism and contentment—factors that do not come unless people are hopeful and prosperous.

There was no big splurge about Christmas here but, generally speaking, there was plenty and enough of the good things of life to go around. It was a safe and sane Christmas and the spirit of goodwill and fellowship was there in an accentuated degree.

Such a Christmas celebration is characteristic of a prosperous community with a permanent and stable foundation for its existence and the people who live in it.

All Agree That
Immigration Is Necessary.

Lieutenant-Governor Nichol, on his return from a tour of Europe in the course of which he took the opportunity of studying internal conditions in the Old Country in relation to the affairs of Canada in general and British Columbia in particular, brings with him the message that Canada's development can only be brought about with an influx of immigration. This premise has been accepted for some time and of late both federal and provincial governments have been making efforts with that end in view. There are too few people in Canada and there are too many in Europe. Many people want to leave Europe and come to Canada to settle. With such a condition existing it should be a difficult matter to colonize this country with suitable immigrants from the old countries. There is one thing that is necessary, however, and the governments are working on that basis. This is that immigrants to Canada must be carefully selected and must be assisted when they get here. We do not want tradesmen or artisans. What we do want is agriculturalists and it does not matter much whether they be poor or rich. If the governments invest money in the right kind of immigrants, the country will be amply repaid for such will develop themselves into prosperous citizens, improving the citizenship of the land while doing their bit to increase its trade and production.

Germany Reaching Out For Business.

That Germany is reaching out far afield for foreign business is demonstrated in a letter which has just been received at the business office of the Daily News. This letter is from a German paper manufacturing concern in Essen which offers to deliver monthly 500 tons of newsprint to fit any type of rotary machine.

"Though we have still numerous orders to execute, we can deliver to you from 300 to 400 tons of this paper in December or January and will suit your sample of color and finish. As the demand for newsprint is very great we suppose we will soon be out of all our articles," the letter states, although it gives no indication of prices.

The Daily News has no intentions of buying paper from Germany but the letter exemplifies Germany's progressiveness and indicates that that nation is already in the field for extensive exports. It would seem directly evident that her economic condition may not be so black as it is painted.

One Market She Has Recaptured.

One market that Germany has virtually recaptured is that of Egypt. She is steadily increasing her exports to that country and orders which previously went to other countries have been secured by German firms. She exercises an almost unchallenged monopoly in synthetic dyes, toys and pianos, and has a predominant position in the field of pencils, paper, glass, chinaware, cutlery, leather goods, small metal manufactures, cotton hosiery, small mirrors and hardware. All these articles have been dumped into the Egyptian market on a scale and at prices that have defied competition. Statistics on foreign trade for the first seven months of 1922 show that Germany has advanced from sixth to fourth position, and that the United States stands fifth.

The Man in the Moon
SAYS—

THESE are the days when:
There is one man,
Who's nearly bugs,
It's the guy
Who hands out drugs.

IT was certainly a green Xmas for the little fellow who ate too much pudding.

EVEN Santa Claus used bad language when he stepped on the one lone tack.

TURKEYS may come and turkey may go but the soup goes on for ever.

IT'S a funny thing that the man who borrows generally suffers with a failing memory.

WHEN a woman has a red nose, she has a cold; when a man has one he has a Cellar.

IT TOLD drops of poison, Little drops of ink,
Will land you in the churchyard.

If that's the stuff you drink.

A TOAST to Woman:
To her gladness when she's glad,
To her sadness when she's sad,
But her gladness when she's glad,
And her sadness when she's sad,
Are nothing to her madness when she's mad.

MUSIC FEATURES
XMAS SERVICES

All City Churches Observed
Yuletide Season in Fitting
Manner with Good
Congregations

There was special music in all the city churches on Christmas Sunday. Yuletide music being a special feature in the most of them. There were unusually large congregations in attendance.

At the Presbyterian Church in the morning, the large children's choir rendered a beautiful program which was highly appreciated. This consisted of several choruses and a duet by Misses Enid and Claire Williams. The baptisms of the infant daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Paul were also solemnized. In the evening the church choir rendered an anthem and carol and S. K. Campbell sang a solo. Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant delivered brief Christmas addresses at both services. The church was beautifully decorated.

There was special musical services at the Anglican church on Sunday evening and on Christmas morning. The very special feature of the music were the solos by Dr. Manning, of Saskatoon, at both services. Mrs. W. S. Aschroft and J. E. Davey also rendered solos and the choir sang several anthems. Venerable Archdeacon G. A. Rix preached brief Christmas sermons. The decorations were fine indeed.

In the morning in the Methodist Church, the boys and girls' choir, under the leadership of H. C. Higgins, gave two special numbers. Miss Winnie Dobb being the soloist in one of the anthems. Miss Bessie Derry also sang a solo. In the evening, Pryce's augmented orchestra took part in the service and the music provided was most pleasing. The choir sang two anthems and solos were rendered by Mrs. Stockdale, F. Dobb and A. Clapperton. Rev. G. G. Hacker gave brief Christmas sermons at both services. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers and evergreens and other seasonal adornments.

Pastor Smithson delivered special Christmas sermons at the Baptist Church both in the morning and evening. Mrs. P. J. McMillan rendered a solo in the evening and Christmas hymns were sung. The church was specially decorated.

The Salvation Army also had special services in the citadel which was decorated in keeping with the season. Capt. Coleman had the service in the morning and Envoy Tomlinson, of Cedarvale, took the lesson in the evening.

The usual Christmas services took place at the Catholic Church.

MONTGOMERY IS STILL RUNNING

Denied this Morning That He is Withdrawing in Favor of Alderman Dybhavn

Ald. W. H. Montgomery stated this morning that he is still definitely in the field for election as mayor and was not intending to withdraw in favor of Ald. Dybhavn. In stating that he was absolutely opposed to Ald. Dybhavn, Ald. Montgomery declared that reorganization of the city hall was absolutely necessary and, if he was elected with an economic council, every employee who could be done without would go, no matter who he might be. Deduction of donations to a minimum and intelligent dealing with all civic questions are planks of Ald. Montgomery's platform.
