Silly Objection To Local Director.
 The Vancouver Sun is assuming the role of a village newspaper in its criticism of the appointment of Fred Dawson to the position of director of the Canadian National Railways. If there are a quarter of a million people living in that city, the fact should add dignity to its newspaper and not tempt them to displays of childish temper.

We take no exception to the suggestion that our population is smaller than Vancouver but we do take exception to the suggestion that a large population is likelier to develop a man of the proper calibre for a big job. History suggests the opposite. There is no man in Vancouver better fitted for the position than Mr. Dawson and the Sun knows it.

Again the Sun claims that the Vancouver branch of the Canadian National brings in fifty times more revenue than does the main line to Prince Rupert. To this we take exception. While no figures are available just now, it is well known that the travel this way has been greater all summer than the travel to Vancouver, and that in addition to the immense express business done from this port and from places in the interior. As a matter of fact the attempt to stifle this port and to carry all the business to Vancouver was a failure for in spite of the handicaps, the people still came this way.

Vancouver Will Get A Square Deal.

In anything the new board of directors does it will undoubtedly give Vancouver a square deal. What it will not do is try to stifle any other place for the benefit of the big port.

We all like Vancouver and we all visit the city occasionally, and Prince Rupert people spend a lot of money there. The development of Prince Rupert is good for Vancouver, but there are some small minds in the big city that cannot see far enough to visualize the fact. However, it is good to know that they are not all that way.

All that Prince Rupert has ever asked has been that it should get a fair deal and no favors. That it expects in future.

Always Knocking This City.

The Vancouver Sun seeks readers in this city. Only recently it had a canvasser here during the fair week. Yet that paper goes out of its way often to try to injure us. It constantly, in season and out, objected to our getting the new government buildings and misrepresented the cost stating it as $600,000 instead of $400,000. Such action as that will be resented. The people of Prince Rupert are long suffering and are not thin skinned, but they will not continue to support any newspaper that is always knocking them and their institutions.

Will Be Given Banquet Tonight.

Fred Dawson will be given an idea of what the local people think of his appointment when he is their guest-tonight at a banquet in the St. Regis Cafe. Unfortunately the accommodation of the dining room is not sufficient to allow of a very large crowd being present but what it lacks in numbers will be made up in enthusiasm. Anyone wishing tickets for the event should act quickly. While the event is under the auspices of the board of trade it will, so far as possible, be open to all citizens who wish to attend.

Labor Represented On Railway Board.

Labor organizations will doubtless feel pleased that labor has been represented on the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways. Tom Moore is a well known and trusted leader and one who will exert a good influence at the railway board. His presence there will be welcomed by businessmen as well as labor men for the idea of capital and labor getting together is gaining ground everywhere. Co-operation rather than class conscious enmity is what is desired.

DRUG CENTRE AT VANCOUVER

Janey Canuck Comes Back at Chief Anderson in Interview at Toronto

In connection with an interview given the Daily News on Thursday by W. E. Staneland, police commissioner of Victoria, in which he said the headquarters of the drug ring had shifted from Chicago to Vancouver, it seems that Police Magistrate Emily Murphy of Edmonton, better known as Janey Canuck, had made a similar statement recently which was denied by the Vancouver chief of police. A despatch from Toronto to the Edmonton Journal just arrived here says:

Janey Canuck's Interview
 Magistrate Emily Murphy (Janey Canuck) of Edmonton, Alta., when interviewed here on Saturday concerning the despatch in which Chief of Police James Anderson, of Vancouver, is alleged to have contradicted her statements concerning the operations of the drug ring in Vancouver, and in which he stated that in 20 years the illicit drug traffic was never less, replied that the returns of the federal government for 1921 show the convictions under the Opium and Drug Act to have totalled 858, and that the Vancouver daily papers have stated there will be a marked increase for 1922.

Magistrate Murphy says she believed these figures to have been the maximum of the traffic in that city and not the minimum as suggested by Chief Anderson. It was true that the chief's predecessor, Chief McLennan, was brutally murdered while raiding an opium den, but the figures at that time gave the convictions twenty-five per cent less than this year. The magistrate claimed to have on her files in Edmonton, incontrovertible data establishing her statements, these being not only from the chief's own office but from prominent officials in provincial police circles concerning the appalling traffic and its consequent ravages in that city. The Kiwanis Club has written reports to the same effect.

Figures Never Contradicted

The magistrate also has clippings from the Vancouver daily papers giving the number of addicts to be three thousand, irrespective of the Orientals. These figures, so far as she knows, have never been contradicted and were freely quoted last winter when all the associations in Vancouver—nearly one hundred in number, including the board of trade—took part in a prolonged and persistent campaign to arouse the public to the danger, not only in their own city, but in the whole dominion.

Mrs. Murphy says that this condition of affairs reflects no discredit on Chief Anderson or upon his men, who apparently are faithful and indefatigable officers. The conditions result largely, she said, from Vancouver being a seaport and the headquarters of the drug ring. The same conditions, according to Mrs. Murphy, apply in Montreal.

"At any rate," said Magistrate Murphy, "in contradicting my statements Chief Anderson is not only taking an absolutely untenable position, but is denouncing a battle which is not the Lord's."

The Statement

The statement to which Chief of Police Anderson took exception was according to the Toronto Star, that the headquarters of the drug traffic are in Vancouver, western Canada. Conditions there are worse than in San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, or other large western cities. In 1919 Vancouver had 293 convictions for drug selling or taking; in 1921, 858; and in 1922 over 1,000.

N.P.I. CLASSES ARE WELL UNDER WAY

Three Classes Opened Last Night with Good Attendance.

The gas engineering class held at the King Edward school last night was well attended. The students took much interest in the lecture on this subject by H. D. Robinson who is in charge of this class for the Polytechnic.

The elementary dressmaking class under Miss Hudson, held last night in the Booth School, proved very successful and quite a number of ladies took advantage of the privilege to learn something of this art in needlework.

Nine students were in attendance last night at the typewriting and shorthand class under Miss E. M. Earl, and all available typewriters were in use. If the number of students in this subject increases it will be necessary to divide the time between the shorthand and typewriting section to enable each student the use of a typewriter.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MRS. ROBERSON BY GIRL GUIDES

Who is Leaving City. Captain of Local Organization

Mrs. H. L. Roberson, captain of the local Girl Guides and Brownies, who is leaving for Victoria on Sunday night to take up permanent residence, was the recipient of a set of steel knives at the regular meeting of the Girl Guides held in the Anglican church on Thursday night. The presentation was made by Miss Margaret Palmer on behalf of the Girl Guides and Brownies.

Mrs. Roberson has been very active in the Girl Guide movement during her residence in the city and took charge of the Girl Guide and Brownie camp on Porecher Island during the past summer, which proved to be one of the most successful girl camping ventures ever held locally.

Her presence will be sadly missed not only by her girl charges but by a wide circle of friends in the city.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Morris left on the boat this morning for California where they will make an extended visit. Mr. Morris has not been feeling very well lately and the trip to the south is for his health.

Bishop Stringer, of the Yukon territory, with headquarters at Dawson City, passed through Prince Rupert yesterday on the Princess Sophia on his way to Victoria.
