

"Just Listen to This"

"I HAVE been after you to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you always say it is intended more for women."

"Well, that is what I always understood, for I hear you women talking so much about using it."

"Don't you think men have blood and nerves as well as women? It says here that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new, rich blood and nourishes the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor."

"Yes."

"Well, the doctor says it is your nerves that are responsible for your indigestion and sleeplessness. Why not try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? You know what it did for me."

"I would like to know of some men in my condition who used it."

"Just listen to this: 'Mr. A. W. Foster, 178 Le Breton street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: 'For a year I was troubled with "nerves," was restless, especially on retiring, and unable to sleep for hours. I was easily fatigued and very irritable.

"A friend told me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before I had used the treatment a week I was enjoying a good night's rest every night. I gained rapidly in every way and my general health is very much improved."

"That sounds all right."

"Yes. This statement is vouched for by Mr. E. M. Ahearn, the druggist, and is no doubt correct."

"Well, I will give it a try-out."

MADAME FAHEY COMES TO SING

Famous Operatic Soprano Being Brought Here Under Auspices of Ladies' Musical Club.

Arrangements are being made by the Ladies' Musical Club to bring Madame Fahey to this city, possibly about the middle of May.

When the famous operatic soprano was here before she gave a wonderful recital in the Westholme Theatre. Since then she has been singing in Toronto and New York and other centres with great success. She has been taking part in grand opera, and everywhere has been acclaimed as a great singer.

She is this summer making a tour of Canada and will include Prince Rupert in her itinerary.

REDUCES WAGES IN VICTORIA

Day Labor Now Receives $4 a Day From City in Capital.

VICTORIA, March 30.—After involving itself in a mesh of resolutions and counter-resolutions, and after framers of the now famous salary reduction report had urged that this document be scrapped altogether, the City Council at last decided definitely to cut the wages of city laborers. While in the City Engineer's Department staff salaries were left intact, common laborers will be paid $4 a day instead of $4.50, maintenance garbage men and sewer laborers will receive $3.25, boulevard and park workers $3 a day. Alderman Woodward proposed that all laborers who have been employed by the City for more than a year be placed on a monthly salary basis of $100, but this idea was not supported.

As soon as the meeting started to consider the ill-fated salary report Alderman Leeming called upon the Council to face the financial facts, and reduce wages to a figure which the city could afford.

Alderman Leeming recalled that the sinking fund investigation had shown conditions that could not continue this year. Local improvement sinking funds had been "scraped" into the general sinking fund for several years and this must stop this year, he asserted. He pointed out that city tax collections had been $322,000 short last year, that the city had been forced to borrow $75,000 to carry on and that $28,000 in bills had been left unpaid.

Must Face Facts.

"How can we take care of our commitments this year?" he demanded. "What are we going to do about it? We shall not get the necessary money in, I can assure you of that. And here we are going merrily along as if we were going to have all the revenue in the world. You can't raise the money by higher taxation and the bank has cut down our borrowings. The question now is not whether we should pay such and such a wage but how much can we get the work done for? We have been stealing money in the past and it can't continue this way."

FIFTEEN BOILS ON NECK AT ONE TIME

Anyone who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job.

There was no Burdock Blood Bitters on those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Nowadays no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming.

What you have to do is take BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS and the blood will be cleansed of all its impurities, and then every boil will disappear.

Mr. Roy McSwain, High Bank, P. E. I., writes:—"I was troubled with boils for some time, and had as many as fifteen on my neck at once. After taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters they commenced to get better, and after I had taken two bottles I was relieved of them and felt much better. I think B. B. B. is a grand blood medicine, and can recommend it highly."

For the past 45 years B. B. B. has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRINCE RUPERT AND ANYOX MAY MEET NEXT WEEK

Arrangements Just About Completed for a Three Game Basketball Series.

Anyox and Prince Rupert basketball teams will meet next week in a three game series if arrangements that are now being planned go through, stated W. E. Willisroff, president of the Prince Rupert Basketball League yesterday.

As far as Anyox is concerned it has been practically agreed upon that the Prince Rupert team will go north next Wednesday night. Two games will be played on Thursday, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, and both teams will come down in a special boat from Anyox to Prince Rupert arriving here early Friday morning. The third game will be played in this city on Friday evening. The Anyox players will then return North as soon as convenient.

The matter has yet to go before the executive of the local association and official word confirming the arrangement is expected here from Anyox tonight.

FAIR WAGE OFFICER HERE IS REQUESTED

Trades and Labor Council Asks For the Appointment of J. M. Campbell.

Local union members when they have the price to buy a cigar will confine their choice in future to union made brands. This action was decided on Tuesday night at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council as the best method of assisting the Cigarmakers Union in their efforts to maintain good working conditions.

The Ocean Dock Warehouse and the new Station were given some attention and a little criticism, a couple of delegations registering dissatisfaction with the warehouse job. In this connection a resolution was passed and copy will be forwarded to Fred Stork, M.P., and Hon. Jas. Murdoch, urging that J. M. Campbell of the local Employment Service office be appointed a deputy fair wage officer for this district. Without a local man the office is of little use as in case of a dispute the work may be completed before action is secured in this remote corner.

One of the Labor aldermen will be asked to have Daylight Saving brought to the attention of the city council at an early date. Members of the public utilities committee will be invited to the next meeting of the Trades and Labor Council.

The question of government employees engaging in work other than their official duties was debated at considerable length.

President Macdonald gave a report on Police affairs with special reference to the efforts being made to suppress the "Drug Evil."

THE recent hockey series does not seem to have increased the faith of the people of British Columbia in professional hockey.

THOSE who lost bets are the ones who are most convinced there was something not quite all right about it.

BRITISH people are sobering down. As a matter of fact they have little money to spend on liquor, especially at present prices.

On Saturday, April 8, a vote will be taken at Anyox on the question of adopting daylight saving for the summer months. The Anyox Community League will handle the polling and all residents will be entitled to vote. There has been quite an agitation in sporting circles at the smelter town for the adoption of the system which will mean there, like here, a very long evening for the holding of games. Among the less energetic residents, who apparently did not want to rise one hour earlier in the mornings, there was a certain amount of opposition vote, as feeling was divided, it was decided to take the vote. It is believed that the most of the people, however, are in favor of daylight saving for the summer.

The city of Nelson, through Mayor C. F. McHardy, has taken the lead in southeastern British Columbia for the organization of athletics on a strictly amateur basis. The mayor last week called a meeting to form a sports governing body in the city and the result was that there were 60 or 70 persons present and the Civic Sports Committee was formed. The committee comprising five prominent citizens, including the mayor and a clergyman, and supplemented by representatives from each branch of sport, will take charge of funds collected by an authorized canvasser and apportion them on a fair basis to the different lines of sport represented, will have full charge of the city recreation grounds and the allotment of hours for their use. A second committee appointed, representative of the different branches of sport, will secure data necessary to the forming of a recognized athletic association and will prepare a constitution. The city council will in future grant no funds to any body but this civic sports committee.

MARY PICKFORD STORY OF THE WEDDING RING

Incident in Connection With the Filming of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

When a reporter writes a news story he is supposed to put practically all of the facts into the first paragraph. But when he writes a human interest yarn, he can start pretty much as he pleases. This is to be a combination fact and human interest story, so we will take a little license and put the important facts into the second paragraph instead of the first.

On Friday "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will be the feature of the bill at the Westholme Theatre. The greatest interpreter of child roles the world has ever known—Mary Pickford—is to be the star, and she will play a dual role. There—so much for the important facts; now for the story.

Little boys do not wear wedding rings. Married women do. Mary Pickford is a married woman, having for her husband Douglas Fairbanks. But in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" she has to be a boy, and being married it quite naturally followed that to interpret the role of a boy realistically she would not wear a wedding ring.

Kept the Vow.

But when Mary Pickford poised her finger and Douglas Fairbanks slipped on the tiny diamond-studded platinum band that united them, she vowed that the ring would never be removed. It symbolized not only the solemnity of wedlock but also all that is deep and undying in the way of romance and sentiment. So for Mary Pickford the great problem in making "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was not the matter of securing the most capable and talented cast, nor the difficulty of building stupendous and realistic sets, nor the question of proper costumes, period furniture, etc., but how could she wear her wedding ring and still play the part of a boy.

The problem was solved quite accidentally. Benjamin Zeidman, production manager for Miss Pickford, happens to wear a broad signet ring on his little finger. And one day Miss Pickford spied it.

"May I see your ring, Bonnie?" said she.

Big Signet.

Whereupon the production manager took it off and passed it over. Miss Pickford slipped the band on to the third finger of her left hand and discovered that it completely covered her wedding ring.

"Wonderful," said she. "Repnie, from now on your ring becomes a part of the wardrobe of 'Little Lord Fauntleroy'."

So when you see this ring in the close-ups of the little Lord you will know that beneath it is the jewel-studded emblem that cements one of the greatest romances the world has ever known.

WESTERN LUMBERMAN INTERESTING PUBLICATION

Deals With Everything of Value to Those Engaged in Industry.

The March issue of the Western Lumberman, just out, is a number which justifies the claim of the publication which has for over 19 years been a reliable source of information to the lumbering interests of Western Canada, that it is a magazine which appeals to every man connected in any way with the industry. The number has an interesting and message for every British Columbian engaged in the business whether he be an employer or employee in mill or camp or getting out timber as an individual. The issue contains about 100 pages with especially handsome color cover. Every page is full of valuable and up-to-date information.

Special articles give a complete survey of B. C. timber resources and markets, covering the local, Northwest, Eastern Canadian and export markets, these being supplemented by reports and market quotations from regular correspondents at all points. The department of Mill and Logging Equipment is, as usual, replete with up-to-date information as to new types of equipment both for the mill and woods as well as the methods which are being successfully followed at many mills and camps, these articles being written in a most practical form.

The popular departments, Camp Chat and Mill Clatter are full of interesting notes and pointers on operation while the personal pages give the news of the men who follow the mill and camp or handle lumber in all parts of the West. The Western Lumberman is published and printed at Vancouver by Hugh C. MacLean Western, Ltd.

BOY WAS VAGRANT.

VANCOUVER, March 30.—Clad in overalls and minus underwear or overcoat, Leo Kersey, 18-year-old sailor, crossed Canada from coast to coast this winter, stealing rides on trans-continental trains. He reached Vancouver with a charge of vagrancy attached to him and now is in jail. Kersey was born in Murphy's Lane, Nfld., and has followed the sea for eight years. When his sentence is finished the police authorities have promised him a steady job—if the wanderlust will permit him to hold it.
