Library for City Seems Assured.

Judging from the tone of last night's meeting and from expressions of opinion heard on the streets, a civic library should be an assured fact in a short time. The new committee is preparing a budget and will lay the matter before the city council in the near future, asking that it be taken up as a regular feature of civic work. At the same time a Library Association is being formed to co-operate with the city and to help gather books and go into the matter of securing a new building in the near future. It will be the business of this committee to foster everything that has to do with library improvement.

Already success is reported in securing the nucleus of a collection of books. These are being carefully stored and catalogued and will be available just as soon as the library is ready to open its doors with a librarian in charge.

Great Need Is Trained Librarian.

The one essential to a successful library is a trained librarian who will devote her whole time to the work. To make the library subsidiary to anything else is to smother it aborning. It has to be a distinct entity. The new library may very well take over the reading room and the librarian be given charge of everything subject to either the reading room committee of the council or a library commission appointed by the council but acting independently of it.

The reading room has done good work in the past. It has provided a place where men may go to read the newspapers and magazines and to spend an hour when not otherwise employed. If it is placed under the supervision of the librarian its usefulness should be increased. The librarian would find means of adding to the attractiveness of the place and would aid those who wished to take up special courses of study.

Without a librarian the library would be a dead place. Instance of this is shown in the Red Cross library which was established here temporarily during the war. Mrs. Backus, who was voluntary librarian, took a keen interest in the work, and the result was that the library was used a great deal. Directly she left, the library went out of business. Almost everything depends upon the librarian.

Good Class of Books Donated.

One of the noticeable things about the books so far donated to the library is the high class of the literature. Practically all the books were by well known authors, and many were classics. The books were generally in good condition, well bound, and some had been little used.

Those who still have books which they do not use or which they feel they could spare for the public benefit are asked to send them in. They may be left at either of the Orme drug stores. Mr. Orme has kindly allowed the services of his stores in that way until the library is established. When there is a place to put the books they will be removed. Mr. Wilkinson is giving his services free and is cataloguing the books as they come in. All books will be acknowledged through the press.

The difficulty with making collections of this sort is that people forget to bring in the books. The time to do it is today while it is fresh in the mind.

Canadian Club Being Revived.

The new executive of the Canadian Club has already held a meeting and arranged for a canvass for members. That the club is one of the institutions of the city that should be encouraged and kept going is generally recognized. While the Rotary Club entertains visiting guests, the Canadian Club is open to all British subjects and does an altogether different class of work. It fills a niche in the life of the place that no other organization can fill. Its success depends on the support it gets from the public.

MASQUERADE BALL, ANYOX

Valentine Event at Smelter Town Was Wonderful Success.

PRINCE RUPERT JUDGES.

ANYOX, Feb. 17.—Elkdom ran riot here on last Tuesday evening, the occasion being the annual Valentine Masquerade Ball, under the direction of the Anyox Elks, which was held in the Recreation Hall.

It proved to be the social event of the season, and one of the most successful and brilliant dances ever held in Anyox.

The spacious hall was beautifully decorated with Allied flags and bunting, the royal purple emblem of Elkdom being in evidence, white colored electric lights were prettily festooned over the dance floor casting a fairylike glow over the galaxy of color displayed by the masqueraders.

Some 175 fancy costumed couples were on the floor, while an additional hundred spectators were seated around the hall.

Dancing commenced promptly at 9 p.m. to the strains of jazz melody delightfully rendered by the Anyox orchestra dressed in the guise of every known and unknown cannibal tribe, under the capable leadership of G. Hayden. Paddy Ryan acted in a capable manner as floor manager.

Prince Rupert Judges.

Four prizes were offered for both ladies and gentlemen's costumes, the judges being Ralph LePine, Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for the northern district, W. F. Roberge, Leading Knight, and E. Unwin, of the Prince Rupert Lodge No. 16, who were visiting brother Elks to the Anyox Lodge. In view of the large number of elegant costumes present the judging proved a difficult task. A grand march commenced at 10 o'clock for the benefit of the judges, and at 10:15 the judging had been completed when amid much merriment the dancers unmasked.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

Ladies—Advertising, Margie McDonald, "The Daily News."
Character—Miss Violet McKay, "Ali Baba."

Fancy—Mrs. J. Pinder-Moss, "Lady of the Harem."
Comie—Nurse Stewart, "Home Furnishings."

Gentlemen—Advertising—Geo. McCall, "Heinz Pickles."
Fancy, D. W. Dow, "The Pirate."

Character, Dean Buzzell, "Farmer Giles."
Comie—W. Heighway, "Vice Versa."

At 11 o'clock the usual Elks' service was held in utter darkness, which was presided over by H. B. Chapman, exalted ruler of Anyox Lodge No. 47.

Refreshments were served at 11:30 by coon soldiers, cannibal kings, pirates and clowns, during which Ralph LePine presented the prizes amid applause.

St. Charles—more than a name!

Most everybody knows that milk branded with the name St. Charles has "the cream left in", that it contains a minimum of 7.8 per cent. butter fat, that it is properly sterilized, that it is always of the highest pure rich quality, and always fresh.

It is the finest milk obtainable!

But St. Charles stands for more than a name. It is your unqualified guarantee of complete satisfaction, it is your assurance that your purchase will never disappoint, it removes "doubt" from your milk buying.

Why be satisfied with any other milk but St. Charles—particularly as it costs no more?

Use it for cooking and table use. St. Charles answers every milk purpose—better—and more economically. "A size for every need." Order a supply from your grocer to-day!

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

February 17, 1912.

W. C. C. Mehan, general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, today gave 1 day notice to the city hall, post-office and all other buildings on the reserve to move in order to make way for the starting of excavation work by the company for new terminals, hotel and dry dock. The G. T. P. Inn is to be moved across from its present location and will be changed into offices.

The marine depot at Digby Island is rapidly nearing completion and the big reinforced concrete dock will be ready to receive steamers on the first of next month.

SEAL COVE COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Orweg, of Seal Cove, are today celebrating the golden anniversary of their wedding day. The groom, coincidentally, is 71 years of age having celebrated his birthday just yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Orweg are the parents of Mrs. Len Reith. Mr. Orweg is well known along the waterfront as a boat builder.

Captain Groves, of the Pacific Stevedoring Co., and a party of longshoremen, sailed last night for Ocean Falls where they will assist in the loading of pulp and paper on a trans-Pacific steamer.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

WHO said Prince Rupert would not have a library?

OF all mankind I classify the lot Those who have sense And those who have not.

OF all mankind I know this to be true Some are successful Others are always blue.

YOU have heard of the wife who said she was going to dress and asked her husband if she should put on the percolator. The husband remarked that she looked all right the way she was.
