Changes Expected In American Government Bodies.

Regardless of election results there will be many changes in the next United States congress. Even with the retaining of power by the Republicans, new hands, to a large extent, will handle the wheel both in the Senate and House. New officers and committee chairmen in both bodies have been widely discussed and voluntary or involuntary retirement of some of the old leaders insures a shake-up in the management of the Congress. Increased insurgency especially in the Senate, will also develop during the next session, veteran politicians aver.

Changes in rules of operations in both Senate and House are also possible. In both there will be strong groups preparing to fight for the overturning of the long established seniority rule by which members of long service, regardless of other considerations, are automatically promoted to committee chairmanships or to high places on committee personnel. This rule has been under fire for many years. Veteran leaders freely admit its weaknesses and effects on legislation but many hang on to it until a more workable substitute is brought forth. It has been modified in many respects in the past but its principal features are still binding. Whether it is to endure during another Congress remains to be seen.

Another effort to break down the ages-old Senate rule permitting unlimited debate also is pending. Closure advocates plan to press for a new bill cutting senatorial talking time to an hour or two on each bill. The Senate Republican committee has reported favorably on such a rule but there still remains strong opposition to any amendment of the unlimited debate privilege.

This Year's Harvest Quite Satisfactory.

Harvesting and threshing operations were completed in the West earlier this year than usual, and under highly satisfactory weather conditions, says the Royal Bank Monthly report. Generally speaking, the yield was well up to expectations, and in the majority of cases, it exceeded earlier estimates. Several districts report slight damage from sprouting. The dockage for weeds was fairly heavy in parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and some sections of the Prairie Provinces experienced slight frosts. In general, however, the loss arising from these various sources was no greater than is normally the case. The frosts which did occur came in the latter half of September, when there was very little crop left standing, and the slight injury which resulted was restricted to the lowering of grades. Fall rains, while retarding harvesting somewhat, greatly improved pastures, and resulted, as a rule, in the growth of ample winter feed. The precipitation also put the land in good shape for plowing and this is being completed much earlier on the average than normally.

In spite of temporary car shortages in some sections, the movement of wheat has this year been singularly free from interruption in transportation. Although the farmers are reported, in some districts, to have held their wheat for higher prices, this tendency does not appear to have been as pronounced as was the case last year, and, in any event, it did not cause an interruption in the actual movement of the crop, since it is a common practice of the farmer to haul his grain to the elevator and obtain an advance on it, selling and obtaining settlement for the balance at a later date. The movement of the wheat crop, as indicated by quantities loaded, inspected, and shipped, is well ahead of last year.

Stock raisers in the west, particularly in Alberta, are confronted with still lower livestock prices. The farmers in the northern areas where fodder is limited, have been marketing heavily with prices ruling at 3 1/2 cents to 4 cents for grass cattle. Heavy cattle shipments to Chicago were virtually discontinued when the new American tariff became effective.

BOOTH SCHOOL WILL SOON BE ALL FINISHED

Architect Jeffers Reports to School Board on Progress of Repair Work

Architect A. M. Jeffers told the school board last night that the repairs to the Booth Memorial School would practically be all completed by a week from Saturday and that the building was now ready for occupation if the side entrance was used in the meantime. Although there was still dampness where the new work had not yet completely dried out, Mr. Jeffers stated that the building was now practically dry and free from leaks. Though a definite estimate on the exact cost could not yet be made, the architect assured the board that the cost would not exceed the last estimate made. They were now working on a more favorable side of the building although they had found places where the mortar was wet and the bricks were not firmly set. The building had stood the recent severe storms very well and had been steadily drying out while they were on. A sudden spell of very cold weather might hold up the completion of the stucco work.

Dr. Kergin was insistent for a definite estimate of the cost but Mr. Jeffers said this could not be given at the present time, although the board might rest assured that the cost would not exceed the last estimate.

A report from Mr. Patmore and Mr. McLennan, the committee delegated to look into the matter of Mr. Jeffers' remuneration, was accepted by the board. It provides that after Nov. 1 Mr. Jeffers will pay his own expenses. The payment of $500 monthly, expert's salary, will be continued up to Nov. 21 and after that date, if Mr. Jeffers' services are still required, payment will be made on the basis of professional services rendered.

To Re-occupy School

It was decided by the board to re-occupy the Booth school as soon as possible. The Borden Street school is closed this afternoon to permit of the removal of school furniture to the Booth School and the pupils who were removed to Borden Street from the Booth School will take up their studies at the latter school on Monday morning. The Booth school pupils now at the King Edward school will be moved back to their original quarters during the coming week.

DR. BAYNE ON DENTISTRY

Interesting Address at Rotary Club Yesterday—Game Dinner Next Week

Members of the Rotary Club on Thursday at their luncheon listened to a very interesting educational talk on dentistry by Dr. A. Bayne. Harold Campbell also gave an educational talk on the principles of Rotary including some strong points why the membership of the club should be limited to one member from each business or profession.

Dr. Bayne commenced his talk by passing around photographs of teeth made by the X-Ray machine and then pointed out that the care of the teeth had a great deal more to do with the general health of a person than the average human being realizes. He cited case after case in which a patient had been given up by medical men and turned over to a dental surgeon as a last resort but who had been completely cured by the removal of one or more defective teeth.

It was announced that the meeting next week will be held at 7:30 p.m. when it is possible that the members will enjoy a game dinner should the big game hunters of the club be fortunate enough during the week to get a good bag.

Objection Overruled

"Huh! Women in politics!" snorted the old-timer. "Makes me sore. I don't believe in petticoat rule."

"Calm yourself. We don't wear 'em any more," replied the modern woman, sweetly.

IT seems hard for some people to tell which is the right side of the law.

COX THREATENS TO SUE SCHOOL BOARD FOR HIS ACCOUNT

Taylor & Brethour, Victoria Solicitors, Have Matter of Collecting $1750 in Their Hands

A. A. Cox, the Vancouver consulting architect whose account for $1750 for professional services rendered the school board declined to pay offering $500 in, instead, has placed the account in the hands of Taylor & Brethour, Victoria solicitors, for collection. Last night the school board received a letter from the law firm stating that Mr. Cox had refused the $500 and if satisfactory arrangements could not be made legal proceedings would be started.

It was moved by Mr. Patmore and seconded by Mr. McMeekin that Taylor & Brethour be communicated with to the effect that the board had not instructed Mr. Cox to do the work that he had done and that, therefore, the money was not coming to him. The law firm is also to be asked to come here, where the witnesses and record are, if they decide on legal action. Otherwise change of venue will be asked for by the board.

PICTURE RETAINS ALL FINE POINTS MARK TWAIN'S BOOK

Action Never Lags in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," And Fun is Fast and Furious

The picture, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," which opens tonight at the Westholme Theatre will please any audience, especially those who have read the famous story by Mark Twain. For the many, many incongruities—when, for instance, "The Yankee," surrounded by armored knights and ladies, costumed in the period of King Arthur's court, talks about Yale locks, "tin-Lizzies" and time clocks—there is always a hearty laugh. Great care has been taken in staging the production and the minutest details have been followed. The action never lags, and the fun is fast and furious. There is not the least doubt that the film will appeal to all.

Harry C. Myers as "The Yankee" is screeningly funny. He does not overact the part. Every one in the cast is uniformly good. Seldom has a cast of players been assembled that just suits, as this one does, each respective part.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 10, 1912

A. C. Smith, of the G.T.P. Inn, and G. T. P. Constable Jack Merritt, who went on a duck shooting expedition yesterday to L. Crippen's herring fishing grounds on the former's gasoline launch, returned to the city this morning. The weather was too stormy for good sport but otherwise they had a pleasant little jaunt.

Charles C. Perry, Indian agent at Metlakatla, returned to his home this morning. Mr. Perry arrived on last evening's train from Terrace where he had been attending the trial of the two Indians charged with killing beaver out of season.

The weather report at 5 o'clock this morning was—Barometer, 29.369; maximum temperature, 42; minimum temperature, 37; precipitation .23 inch.

RENEWED ACTIVITY AT DOCK PREDICTED

That the dry dock will shortly be opening up more extensively and employing a larger number of men is a rumor often heard on the street lately.

While enquiry has failed to elicit any definite information which would confirm such a rumor it is quite probable that the recent business trips of J. H. Pillsbury, manager of the dry dock, may result in some good sized marine work contract coming to the local yards. At the moment, however, it is purely a matter of conjecture.

The man with the best "right" usually wins the fight.
