

SETTLERS LOOKING
FOR INTERIOR LANDRepresentative Visits Prince
George from Spokane and Speaks Encouragingly

Accompanied by A. H. Button of Big Sandy, Montana, and G. McHaffie, of Alberta, A. H. Anderson, a well known Spokane immigration agent, is in the city to look over lands in this part of the province with a view to settling numbers of families in communities, says the Prince George Citizen.

The operations of Mr. Anderson, at Spokane, are conducted on an extensive scale. He is no stranger to this country, having visited it on three occasions. In 1919, when associated with Nels Jorgensen, land agent of this city, Mr. Anderson turned over large tracts to settlers who have made good here.

In conversation with The Citizen, Mr. Anderson stated that he was optimistic for the future of land settlement in this part of the province. The men who accompany him represent many families in the United States and Alberta, which are anxious to become established on the lands available here at reasonable prices, and on terms that are lenient. He represents some large land-holding concerns, and the heavy pruning of the prices, which these companies were asking before they realized that settlement under such a tariff was next to impossible, has brought the sale of the areas which they control well within the means of the modern immigrant.

FISHING PARTY TOOK SEVERAL RAINBOWS
AT KHTADA LAKE

The launch Striborn with Douglas, Fred Hale, A. R. Nichols and Norris Fringie aboard, made port this morning after an enjoyable two days' cruise to Khtada Lake. In the words of the skipper the trip was "a peach" and several large rainbow trout took the hook of the holiday fishermen, as well as a bunch of smaller fry. The toughest part of the trip was dodging the fishing nets in the Skeena on the return journey. However, these entanglements were successfully negotiated.

Details as to the sinking of the Wales Island Cannery gasboat No. 9, in Portland Inlet on July 31, when the skipper, Jas. M. Hamilton, was drowned, are in the hands of Chief Minto, provincial police chief. Hamilton was an American, single, aged 45, whose parents live in Illinois. The affidavit of the four members of the crew is to the following effect:

"On Monday, July 31, when returning to the Wales Island cannery with fish and at a point 10 miles north of Wales Island passage, Portland Inlet, engine trouble developed. A strong breeze was blowing and the sea was very rough. The waves breaking over the boat started to fall her. A heavy load of fish was being carried and to lighten the boat the crew threw considerable of it overboard. However, this action did not help the boat and the small boat was launched in which the crew took. The crew implored the skipper to go with them but he insisted upon staying with the boat. The stem of the No. 9 was then under water, Hamilton said he would be alright and that if the boat did go down he could make the shore. The small boat then started off for the shore but they were unable to beach it owing to the sea being so rough. The Lura D. owned by W. Davidson, was hailed but there was not sufficient distillate aboard to permit of her reaching the wreck and the crew were landed at the Somerville Cannery. In the 24-hour Yosda they started for the spot where the accident happened and on arrival, found that the No. 9 had sunk. There is about 50 fathoms of water at this point and no sign of Hamilton could be found. The crew then returned to the Wales Island cannery and two boats 'Starling' and 'No. 7' were despatched to the scene. At 9:30 that night the No. 9 was located and after considerable difficulty was beached. A minute search of the sunken craft failed to find any trace of the missing skipper. The members of the saved crew were J. Erick, W. Jameson, P. H. Corbish, and J. Kramer."

PRINCE GEORGE

John D. Galloway, provincial mining engineer for the district, who returned last week after spending several days in the Cedar Creek section, is not inclined to discount the mineral possibilities of that district too severely. He says that, although the district is not all that has been claimed of it in the press it may yet become a very important producer of gold.

A change in the railway divisional point from Jasper to Lucerne is imminent according to reports received here from official circles. The railway commission has issued findings which favor the former place. Lucerne and Jasper are 22 miles apart, the former in British Columbia and the latter in Alberta. There has been much rivalry between the two points for months.

Sport Chat

In the local world of sport this week will be one of the most important of the season. The headline feature will, of course, be the baseball game on Wednesday evening between Prince Rupert and Anxox Elks. On the same day the Elks' children's celebration will provide all kinds of fun for the kiddies. Other sporting events of the week will be the Intermediate League baseball game between the Grodio and Gills tonight; the Stuart shield football game between the Grodio and the Sons of England tomorrow (Tuesday) evening; Knights of Columbus vs. Elks senior baseball Thursday evening and Sons of Canada vs. Calles Stuart shield football Friday.

The local Elks have mustered together for the baseball game with Anxox on Wednesday evening as strong an aggregation of players as it would be possible to obtain in the city this season. They have the pitchers of all three Senior League teams on the list, Eddy, Selman, Frizell and Astori, and also the pick of the infields and outfields. The Anxox Elks are hailed as the strongest team in the district this year but the local selection should be able to hold its own. It will be the first outside team to play with the locals this year and the match will, doubtless, get a big patronage.

Now that lawn tennis is more popular than ever in England and hosts of people are playing it who never played before, a painful complaint has become almost epidemic—"tennis elbow." The prevalence of the "tennis elbow" is attributed by a medical correspondent of the Times to the use of large-handled rackets. He cites a view expressed by a prominent physician, Dr. Frank Roper, in the "Lancet" to this effect and agrees with it.

"I believe," says Dr. Roper in the "Lancet," "that the universal use of a large handled racket in lawn tennis, without consideration of the size of the player's hand has much to do in bringing about this common ailment."

The Times' medical correspondent says that the trouble arises through the strain on the muscles of the hand, which, attempting to grip the large handle are thrown out of the proper function. "It is obvious," he says, "that once the condition has been established it will be apt to recur when certain strokes are repeated."

He adds that in the great majority of cases the onset of the condition is gradual. Pain in the muscles is only produced at first by actions which bring the affected muscles into play. Thus patients notice that they can lift or pull heavy weights from the ground with perfect comfort, while any slight action, such as pouring out tea, tying a bow-tie, brushing the teeth, or similar movements are exquisitely painful.

The shape of the Racket handle ought to be a first consideration, the Times' correspondent says, so far as prevention of "tennis elbow" is concerned.

Persistent advertising is absolutely necessary to success.
