VICTORIA TAX NINE PER CENT

Other Means Than Land to be Found to Raise Money Needed in Cities.

VICTORIA, Nov. 13. — Some interesting statements were made in the Legislature by J. B. Clearihue, member for Victoria city in a speech on the address.

Speaking of the increasing cost of city government and of education in particular, Mr. Clearihue said the Victoria tax rate was 33 mills and the city assessments were three times actual value so that based on actual land values the tax rate was about nine per cent. This was much too high and it should be distributed over other revenue sources. Today Victoria held about five and a half million dollars worth of reverted land, all of which was withheld from paying taxes and the result was that the burden fell on the rest of the land. That was why they were suggesting the taxation of rentals and an increase in the business licenses on a graduated scale. He also favored raising money for municipalities from income tax, but this he suggested should apply to all municipalities and not only to Victoria. Tax payers were too few and the basis of taxation should be changed so as not to bear too heavily on the few. Every year the number of those paying civic taxes was decreasing and the burden was becoming heavier. Everything possible should be done to encourage people to pay their taxes. The admission of the instalment system by which the payments could be spread over ten months would be a step in the right direction.

Mr. Clearihue quoted Edmonton, Calgary and other cities as places where other than land taxes were raised.

WEEK AT THEATRES
Westholme

Monday and Tuesday,
Tom Moore in "Mr. Barnes of New York," Mack Sennett Comedy: "Bow Wow."

Wednesday and Thursday,
Alice Lake in "The Hole in the Wall," Comedy.

Friday and Saturday, Saturday Matinee,
Gloria Swanson in "Her Husband's Trade Mark," Christie Comedy: "It was Ever Thus."

Tom Moore, who stars in "Mr. Barnes of New York," the picture at the first of this week at the Westholme, is an Irishman and his radiant smile is one of the surest gleams on the screen. He says the pants he wears tonight are exactly like those his father used to wear "in the old country."

"The Hole in the Wall," starring Alice Lake, which is the mid-week feature at the Westholme, is a drama of the mystic and mysterious. It deals with three worlds, the underworld, the society world and the spirit world.

"Her Husband's Trade Mark," the Westholme week-end feature, is a vivid romance of modern married life where a woman is the shimmering advertisement of her husband's prosperity—nothing more. Glittering Gloria Swanson displays in it more dash and beauty than in any of her many great pictures of the past.

Nine million people attended moving picture theatres in Los Angeles last August paying a tax for the period of $211,000.

Wally Reid was the star in "The Dancin' Fool." Another picture called the "Drivin' Fool" is being made with Wally Van in the lead.

"Oliver Twist," is being adapted to the movies with Jackie Coogan in the title role.

The idea of "talking films" has not been given up. After several years of careful research, Prof. Edgar I. Wenger, formerly of the Electrical Engineering Department of the University of Illinois, has now in actual operation a set of instruments for photographing any or all sounds and reproducing them at will without the use of any needle such as is required in the phonograph. The sound can be reproduced in perfect synchronism with the pictures.

CORSICAN VENDETTA
IN TONIGHT'S PLAY

Tom Moore in Role of American Becomes Involved in "Mr. Barnes of New York"

Tom Moore's latest starring vehicle, "Mr. Barnes of New York," which will be shown at the Westholme theatre, beginning tonight, introduces this genial player in the role of an American of the eighties who becomes involved, in a singular manner, in a Corsican vendetta. Although he is not one of the principals in the blood feud, the American's love for the sister of the suspected murderer places him in a dangerous position. The Corsican girl believes him to be the man she had been seeking. Her love, however, makes her postpone the carrying out of the terms of the vendetta until fate intervenes and saves her from fulfilling her oath.

"Mr. Barnes of New York" first appeared as a novel; was later dramatized; and now is being offered in a film version, with Tom Moore as the American.

In support of Mr. Moore, Naomi Childers plays the part of Enid, an English girl whose brother was believed to have killed the Corsican. The other players are Anna Leary, Sydney Ainsworth, Lewis Willoughby, Otto Hoffman and Ramon Samaniego. Victor Scherzinger directed the production, and Cedric Gibbons designed the sets.
