LONDON, Oct. 31:—A dozen persons were slightly injured yesterday when rioting broke out during a peaceful demonstration in Trafalgar Square of hunger marchers who were continuing the campaign to raise funds for their sustenance. Speakers were soliciting subscriptions for the purpose with a crowd of about 15,000 persons in the audience when the backfire of an automobile was mistaken for gunfire. The signal for the disturbance came from a dark-complexioned grey-haired man whose shrill scream: "Smash the palace windows," started a rush for Buckingham Palace, the King's residence. Rioting immediately developed and it was some time before police officers could get the crowd under control.

The office of the city clerk will remain open from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock p.m. on Monday, Oct. 31, 1932 (tonight) to receive declarations of householders and licence holders for their registration as voters at the civic elections. It was the third victory within a month for the London bobbies over the restless unemployed. The weary police expected only a 24-hour breathing spell, however, for on Tuesday the jobless plan to march on the forbidden Parliament Square to present a petition protesting against the means test in the dole system.

During yesterday the police turned aside several threatened attempts to reach Buckingham Palace. Blocked by the police, the crowd of thousands dashed toward the government offices in Whitehall. A stone wall of bluecoats met the onslaught.

Leaders of the trouble-makers, nearly all of whom were believed to be mischievous youths of London, commandeered a taxi and tried a flying wedge through the police lines. The officers, who were taken unawares, gave way until a rush of reinforcements beat off the attackers.

Again the crowd tried wedge tactics, this time isolating a squad of thirty police. A mounted patrol, waiting for just such a coup, dashed into the melee and routed the mob. Then the boisterous ones tried window smashing in Northumberland Avenue but the main force of the drive had been broken. From then until dark it was just routine work of clearing the streets.

Prince of Wales Towed From Foggy Bay to Ketchikan Following Stranding Last Week

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Oct. 31:—The motorship Prince of Wales was towed here Saturday night by the salvage tug Akutan.

Striking a reef near here while enroute from Prince Rupert, the Prince of Wales backed off and, for two days, the crew fought to keep the vessel afloat. Lifeboats were finally launched when the water rose to submerge the engine room.

Finally, a passing ship took the motorship to Foggy Bay where she was beached, a call for salvage bringing the Akutan to the scene. It is the second stranding the Prince of Wales has had recently, the vessel having gone aground north of Alert Bay during the summer, remaining there several weeks before she could be successfully refloated.
