World Is Better

Spite Of Pessimists.

In spite of what pessimists say, the world is improving. Poor people are no longer hanged for stealing bread, neither do men have their ears cut off for minor offenses. Insane people are not chained and put in cages nor burned, neither are the very clever, very beautiful, or the uncanny looked upon as witches and burned or ducked. In these days of enlightenment men are not imprisoned because they cannot pay their debts, neither are the rich glorified because of their riches except by a few.

Men, women and children are not held as slaves today, in spite of all the loose talk about "wage slaves" and their horrible condition. Women are no longer slaves to men unless they wish to be so. They have equal rights in most respects and the few inequalities will be removed soon.

Today a man may hold what religious views he wishes, or he may go through life without any religion. No one interferes with him. He is not even told that if he does not adhere to certain forms he will be burned in a fire of brimstone. He does not have to believe that God is a devil who hates his enemies, is jealous and vindictive, neither does he have to believe that God sends sickness into the world or that it is he who delights in killing off the young and innocent. He knows now that sickness usually comes as a result of sin and is a disgrace rather than something over which to gloat.

A man is not arrested today for kissing his wife on Sunday, neither is he put in the stocks for breaking the Sabbath by whistling or some such offense. In fact he may go fishing, play healthy games or otherwise enjoy life, so that Sunday is today an even pleasanter day than any of the other six and he delights in it instead of looking on it as a scourge.

Today life is better worth living than ever it was before. There is much sin, sickness and premature death. There is hate, deception and all sorts of evil, but nothing like the evil that was seen one hundred years ago.

Betting By Pari-Mutuel And Its Logical Result.

The Oak Bay Council has taken a strong stand against betting by the pari-mutuel system within its boundaries. They have decided not to allow it and as the Victoria race track is situated within the municipality, it looks as if there would be no horse races there for the fair. The council does not object to racing but to the betting which accompanies it.

The betting game is loaded against the one who bets to such an extent that any man who goes to the races stands to lose more than half his money. There is a ten per cent rakeoff for the machine from each bet. Suppose a man starts out with $100. At the first race the machine gets ten dollars leaving ninety for someone to bet next time. By the end of the sixth race there is only $53.15 left and another bet gives the machines more than half the money that was put in at the beginning. As practically every man who follows the races bets more than six times in one afternoon, it is plain to see that half of the wagered money is absorbed by the machines every day the races are operated. This in addition to the admission fees of those who go to watch.

No one likes to be a killjoy or interfere with any legitimate sport, but to allow a game to be operated by a public body organized for the public benefit, which fleeces the public every day of over half the money put in, does not look like a good policy.

The Oak Bay council is a representative body of business and professional men and the residents of the municipality are mostly well to do people who can afford to spend a few dollars on racing or any other form of sport, but because they have business sense they see that the system of betting as conducted under the pari-mutuel plan is simply robbery and they refuse to allow the people to be taken advantage of in that way.

The Detroit News publishes some figures which are more conservative than those just given. They say that at a recent meet there were 7,500 people present who took with them $89,000, out of which they paid for admission $22,500, and out of the balance of $67,000 they got back $41,800, therefore the afternoon's whirl cost the visitors about $48,000.

NEW OFFICERS
T. L. COUNCIL

Re-election in Most Cases—
Pinder Moss Scheme Endorsed—Fred Stork Invited.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council took place last evening in the Carpenters' Hall. James Black, vice-president, was in the chair and there was a good attendance of delegates.

Election of officers for the ensuing term took place and resulted as follows:
President, S. D. McDonald.
Secretary-Treasurer, T. Ross MacKay.

Statistician, Len Dewhurst.
Some committees are yet to be appointed.

Continuation Schools.

John Pinder-Moss, of Anyox, was present to address the council on the proposed system of correlated continuation schools for northern B. C. After some discussion the proposition was endorsed, the suggestion being made that the present southern boundary limit be changed from the 53rd to the 52nd level, thus taking in the towns of Ocean Falls and Swanson Bay. It was pointed out that these two towns would be behind such a move for Ocean Falls had already had night schools and the Pacific Mills had always shown themselves to be in support of educational projects. At Swanson Bay and Surf Inlet there were already splendid technical libraries. These towns would thus be brought in closer relation with Prince Rupert from business, social and athletic standpoints.

Member Invited.

It was decided to invite Fred Stork, M. P., to address the next meeting of the council on July 25th on the work of the session especially as concerning labor matters. Delegates from the Great War Veterans' Association are also to be asked to attend next meeting.

If the city council sends a delegate to the Calgary unemployment conference next month, it is to be asked to send a labor member of the council as the city's representative.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION
STRIKE VERY COSTLY

Nearly Nine Million Dollars Spent in Fighting for 44 Hour Week.

NEW YORK, July 12.—It has cost the 75,000 members of the International Typographical Union $8,800,000 to maintain a strike of 9,000 men since May, 1921, until the end of last month. Total assessments made against members who are working amount to $9,500,000 leaving $700,000 still unexpended.

The strike is for a 44-hour week as against a 48 hour week in some offices and a 46 hour week in a few others. The strike is still continued but all the shops are working, some as union shops and some as non-union shops.

The claim is made by the employers that they have won and that the strike is non-effective. The printers also claim a victory to a certain extent although many of the former union shops are now run as open shops.

The city is having difficulties with the Bank of Montreal with regard to the sale of bonds. The local agent of a London financial firm has offered to purchase the remainder of the city's treasury certificates for the completion of the hydro-electric system to the amount of $374,000 at 98 percent, an offer which the Bank of Montreal has shown no disposition to accept.

Two launches, sank at the waterfront last night on account of the extremely low tide. They were the fish boat, Fish Maid, Capt. George Tarlbert, and the Nomlas. The captain and crew of the former boat had a narrow escape from drowning in their sleep and saved their lives with difficulty, all their effects being destroyed. The Fish Maid is to be raised and repaired across the harbor.

PROGRESSIVES STAND FOR ECONOMY WHILE
FARMERS WOULD SPEND

WINNIPEG, July 12.—"Winnipeg Progressives and United Farmers will find it impossible to come together following the elections if they both adhere to the policies which they are preaching to the electors," W. H. Trueman, K.C., said at a Liberal campaign meeting.

Mr. Trueman asserted the local Progressives were preaching economy, still they had linked themselves up with the United Farmers who had included proposals for huge expenditures in their platform. There was also inconsistency in their policies on the question of the sale of liquor, Mr. Trueman said. The United Farmers were entirely opposed to the sale of intoxicating liquor while the Progressives stated they favored a referendum on the sale of liquor to be taken before June, 1923. Is it organized hypocrisy? he asked. Mr. Trueman declared the Winnipeg Progressives should be standing either with the Conservatives or Liberals as the policies of those parties were more in line with the retrenchment demanded by Craig and Chipman. The speaker said there was no place in the provincial field for the Progressive movement and added that it should be confined to the question of economies in the federal political arena.
