ACTIVITIES OF SOUTH CITIES

Vancouver and Victoria Getting Results of Persistent Advertising, Says Mr. Wilson

TOURISTS EVERYWHERE

That the tourist traffic has been the saving of business this summer in the southern part of British Columbia is the conclusion reached by George Wilson, of the Daily News staff, who returned on Saturday after spending a month in Vancouver and Victoria. Practically every train arriving in Vancouver is full and the number of automobiles from the United States this year exceeds all previous records. This increased business, of course, has not altogether come of its own accord, but is the result of persistent advertising.

The City of Vancouver, the Board of Trade and other organizations all advertise their city and the appropriation made early in the year for newspaper space used in the popular centres of the United States is bringing its results surely. During one week alone, close to six thousand cars crossed the line bringing visitors to Vancouver.

Filled With Campers.

Central Park, on the way to Westminster, is one of the places utilised for a camping ground for tourists, and this site is continuously filled with automobile campers. It is this influx of tourists to Vancouver this summer which has saved that city from an actual business slump, as in practically every line of business, quietness prevails meantime, although prospects for the future are brighter. One of the retail drug stores and one of the busy ones, too, took an unofficial census of their customers for several days and ninety per cent of these were shown as visitors.

At the Municipal Information Bureau, numerous enquiries have been made this year for directions to the road to Prince Rupert. Many others want to drive to Alaska and the Yukon and are grievously disappointed at finding that there is no road to the north country. Work is going on steadily on the "pavement," the Pacific Highway running south from Westminster to the border. Off the pavement, the roads for motorists are poor. It is in Victoria and Vancouver Island where the roads are really first class.

At the Beaches

Vancouver is fortunate in being both a seaport and a watering place in one. The various beaches around the city are immensely popular with both citizens and visitors. English Bay, Second Beach, Kitsilano and Jericho Beach are thronged daily with enthusiastic bathers. It is quite common to see the street cars laden with bathers dressed in bathing costumes and a wrap on their way for a dip. After drying on the beach in the sun, they go home dressed the same way. English Bay alone has some five or six thousand people on its sands all day long, while in the evening cars are parked along both sides of Beach Avenue facing the sea for about a mile. There their occupants sit listening to the band and taking in the sights on the Esplanade. And there also it is possible to see several former Prince Rupert people among the crowd.

Leisurely Attitude

The bustle and stir of Vancouver, however, is noticeably absent in Victoria where the leisurely attitude of the people on the streets and of the street cars, too, is the first impression. Here, too, there are many tourists who from the city, spread all over the island. Splendid provision is made for automobiles by having first class roads and every other facility. In addition, the steamers arriving are all thronged and like Vancouver, Victoria is feeling the benefit of advertising. In the south, they have something to advertise, they do it, and prosper. When the North is advertised in the same way, it will attract the tourist travel in bulk, too.

LICENSING OF CLUBS BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Five Applications Not Reported on Favorably by City Engineer and Fire Marshal.

Five applications for club and managers' licenses, under the city's new bylaw, were received at last night's council meeting and, after over an hour's discussion, were allowed to stand over for a week in order to give the applicants an opportunity to confer with the building inspector with a view to putting their premises in shape to comply with the regulations of the fire marshal. The applications were from the Skeena Club, water front, Axel Anderson, manager; Empress Social Club, Owen Fisher, manager; Kaien Island Club, F. T. Buckley, manager; Marathon Club, T. W. Shackleton, manager; Travelers' Club, Harry Killas, manager.

The applications were approved by the chief of police but the building inspector's and fire marshal's reports as to premises were not favorable. None of the premises, it was pointed out, complied with the bylaws and several of them were dangerous as fire hazards.

The council went into a committee and discussed the applications from many angles. Ald. Dybhavn and Ald. Kelly thought that the applicants should be given the opportunity of fixing up their premises. Ald. Montgomery thought the applications should be granted with the instructions that the buildings be brought to compliance with the bylaws.

With the laying over of these applications for a week, the operation of the bylaw is suspended for that time. Under the bylaw all clubs will be operating illegally unless they have made applications for the licenses.

CONNECTIONS OVER PRIVATE PROPERTY

Board of Works Make Light, Water, Telephone and Road Connections Only to City Property Line.

A report from the Board of Works recommending that the city council adopt the policy of making water, telephone and light connections only at the city's property line and that the policy of putting roads to private property over the Grand Trunk Pacific property be discontinued was received last night and tabled for a week to be dealt with in the meantime by the Utilities committee.

In explaining the purpose of the report, Ald. Montgomery stated that the connection with the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. property at Seal Cove with telephone, light, water and roads was the principal example of the policy which the Board of Works desired to discontinue.

FUR DEALERS AND LICENSE

Objection to Granting Favors to Vancouver Over Other Sections of Country

A petition is being circulated in the city protesting against a proposal made to the Game Board that there should be a $25 fee for fur dealers operating in Vancouver only whereas others should pay $200. It is pointed out that this would prove a hardship for local dealers. The opinion here seems to be that if there is to be a license, it should be the same for the whole province. The chief difficulty with a high license system is that it tends to create a monopoly.

The following account of the meeting of the Game Board in Vancouver is from last Friday's Vancouver World:

Meeting of Board
A suggestion that a central fur selling market be established by the government to handle all the furs produced in the province was made by Chairman M. B. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., this morning when the game conservation board held a public session to deal with the question of furbearing animals.

"That would settle most of our troubles," spoke up a trapper, who said that at present many men sent their furs out of the province because they could get a better price. Other furs were being shipped out by rail without paying royalty.

For farming, dates for opening and closing seasons, size of bags, protection for trappers and royalties were each discussed. An indication that the government may assist the fur-farming industry by running an experimental fur farm was received with satisfaction.

Breeding Foxes

According to Mr. French, chief fur dealer for the Hudson's Bay Company, it is possible to breed foxes to any type within six years or so by judicious mating. Mr. Allen, who gave the results of his experience, said that beaver, muskrat and mink could all be successfully farmed so long as people refrained from trying to make pets of them. Fisher, he thought, became too wild, though Mr. French told of having had a

Her Two Children Had Diarrhoea Terribly Bad

Anyone suffering from bowel complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, or any other looseness of the bowels, will find that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will give quicker and more permanent relief than any other remedy on the market today.

Mrs. Roy Keith, Charlton, Ont., writes: "I am writing to tell you what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry did for me. Last summer my children had diarrhoea, terribly bad, and they would vomit and pass a great deal of blood. I tried every remedy we could think of, but finally bought a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and about one half of it stopped the diarrhoea altogether. I have told several others about it, and I would not be without it in the house, as I can truthfully say it saved the lives of my two children."

Phoenix Theatre GETS LEASE LIFE

Building Commission Recommends that it Be Boarded Up—Report Adopted, Aid. Collart Dissenting.

The long discussed Phoenix Theatre, which has been the object of many condemnatory remarks by Ald. Collart, is not to be torn down but instead the city is to order it boarded up and all loose parts removed. A report to this effect was adopted by the city council last night. Ald. Collart held out his objections to the bitter end and refused to vote for the adoption of the report maintaining that the building was dangerous and should be either repaired or demolished.
