What New Year Means To Us.

It is customary at New Year's time for people to look back and view in retrospect the events and achievements of the Old Year and, with the guidance of past experience, to resolve on making the New Year a better one in every respect. Hopeful determination is the keynote of the constructive New Year spirit. Without it there is no prospect of betterment. It is vain indeed to make resolutions if there is neither the hope or determination of carrying them out. Success is the objective, and hope and determination are the means of reaching it. Our accomplishments will never be any greater than our resolutions. Therefore it behooves all to make their resolutions as lofty as possible and pursue their accomplishment with steady and unswerving course.

It is said that resolutions are made to be broken. No statement was ever further removed from the truth than this. Else why make resolutions? A broken resolution means disappointment in ones power of accomplishment and disappointments are weakening. Only the staunchest of spirits can suffer disappointment and rise again with the same high purpose. To many people a broken resolution is no better—perhaps worse—than no resolution at all. There may be exceptions to this rule but we are all human and subject to the weaknesses and shortcomings of mankind. Therefore our New Year resolutions, and our expectations, too, should be as high as possible but not too high for our accomplishment.

Past Year Has Seen Steady Business.

The success of a community is generally measured in its business and the prosperity of its citizens. Therefore, in turning over the old page for the new, a survey of the things of the past and the prospects of the future, is timely.

Prince Rupert people have had much to be thankful for in the year 1922 and they have much to look forward to in 1923. It is true that there has been no spectacular or even marked advancement in the growth of the city or the number of people in it. Yet there has been steady business, unmarked by any sudden or periodical inflations. There has been general prosperity in which all have participated more or less. Business men were, perhaps, disappointed with the failure of any great splash of holiday trade but, when they come down to inspect their affairs of the past year, they find that there has been steady good business and the aggregate of business, in most of cases, represents a distinct improvement over the year previous.

General Improvement, At Least, May Be Expected.

There is nothing but general improvement to look forward to in the New Year. The year 1923 may even see a spectacular advance in the history of Prince Rupert. We may not predict it but we sincerely hope for it and there is good basis for the hope.

For ten New Years, Prince Rupert people have hoped for big things that would mean a steady rapid advancement in the affairs of their city. Perhaps, their expectations have been too high. We have looked for port developments such as a grain elevator, coal bunkers, lumber assembly wharf and other facilities—things that would establish the port as a distributing centre in the world's commerce. In fact, Prince Rupert's hope is built up on these things. They will come. Nobody doubts that. When they will come is the question. There is reason to believe we will have them soon—perhaps even in the year 1923. It is up to the community to resolve to get these things and to bend every effort towards obtaining them. This should be made the community New Year resolution and it is one that, far from being impossible, is within the bounds of almost immediate accomplishment. Then Prince Rupert would be made.

In the meantime, business is good and business is steady. The year 1922 has not been a bad year and the year 1923 should not be worse.

The Daily News endorses the resolution that it suggests to the public at large and in doing so voices the wish that the year 1923 will bring to the people who are its readers and advertisers and the means of its entire existence, development and prosperity for Prince Rupert and Northern British Columbia.

"Fruit-a-lives" Restored Him to Health

159 AVENUE PIERCE, MONTREAL.
"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine but I did not improve; and finally he told me that I could not be cured.
At this time, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-lives". After taking two boxes, I was greatly relieved; and this fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are now splendid."

CAPT. MOORE IS NEW SKIPPER OF SURVEY STEAMER LILLOOET

VICTORIA, Dec. 30.—Capt. J. J. Moore is the new commander of the Dominion Government hydrographic survey steamer Lillooet having been appointed to succeed the late Capt. Fred Griffith, who died while the vessel was charting the waters off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The Lillooet is now back at her mooring in Esquimalt harbor after completing her season's work in northern British Columbia waters.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

Otto Nelson, former proprietor of the Pioneer Laundry, is spending a few days in the city.

The provincial government has agreed to hand over a site to the city at Seal Cove for the erection of a new school.

T. D. Pattullo has announced his candidature for the mayoralty at the forthcoming civic election.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

A BOY'S parliament has been formed in Manitoba. Now the older politicians will be able to learn how to tie up the political parcels without the use of so much red tape.

A FRENCH woman has vowed vengeance on the kaiser with a rat. He probably got a shot that will have lots of kick to it.

A MISS Wood was recently married in England to a man named Log, the ceremony being conducted by the Rev. Bussav. A regular lumber mill, so to speak.

THESE are the days when one can check over their profit and loss account of good resolutions they made and did not keep during 1922.

IT'S a long lane that has no footlegger.

"THINGS we remember—the cheery voice, "This one is on the house."

LOVE makes the world go round but it always knows where it is going which is more than we can say for the young man.

IT is the fashion in "wet" circles to give the future son-in-law a thousand labels to start up with.

XMAS CONCERT AT ESSINGTON

Splendid Program Presented by Pupils of Native School

PORT ESSINGTON, Dec. 30.—The annual Christmas concert given by the native children of both day and Sunday schools, was held in the Methodist church at Port Essington on the evening of Dec. 27th. Rev. W. F. Rushbrook occupying the chair. A large audience of natives, whites and Japanese listened with much pleasure to a splendid program of drills, songs, motion songs and recitations.

A special feature of the program was the singing of two Christmas anthems by the choir entitled "The Heavens are Telling," and "Glorious," John Nelson being organist and Arthur Stewart leader. These pieces were rendered with remarkable ability by a choir of twenty voices and were greatly enjoyed by the audience. This choir is just newly organized. The Christmas tree was most beautifully decorated, and when Santa Claus arrived with his pack to distribute the gifts, he was greeted with warm applause. There were gifts and bags of candy given to about forty children.

At the last Christmas concert a fund was started to purchase a gasoline lighting system for the church. Since then, these lights have been purchased and installed by the natives and at the entertainment this year the great improvement was much in evidence.

During the intermission, Rev. W. H. Pierce spoke for a few minutes on "Progress" and compared the church today to what it was about forty years ago.

At the close Miss Noble, day school teacher, was presented with a suitable gift from the children as an appreciation of her work amongst them during the past ten years.

The interesting program closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

LONDON SCENERY IN PHOTOPLAY "BRANDED"

With Few Exceptions Entire Location of Picture Was Close to Center of London

It will be interesting to Old Country people to know that, with the exception of a few scenes, the entire location of the British picture "Branded," which was shown at the Westholme Theatre last night and will be repeated today, was within an eight-mile radius of Charing Cross, London. The film is featured with some exquisite pictures of a rose garden which were taken in a garden belonging to a retired Australian who makes horticulture his hobby.

The costumes of the picture are all genuine and some $15,000 worth of jewelry was used. A diamond tiara which Miss Josephine Earle, as the bride, receives is actually worth $9,000.

Miss Earle has a very difficult dual role in the picture which she sustains to perfection. She has to portray a mother, who spent fifteen years in prison, and also the young and beautiful daughter. Makeups and clothes therefore had to be carefully selected.
