

When Baby Comes

WHAT a joy to mother's heart when baby comes! What a relief after months of anxiety and nerve strain!

Mother is happy and expects soon to be strong and well again.

But frequently reaction sets in, and when the excitement is over she is left weak and limp and does not seem to build up the way she should.

Fortunate the mother who has at hand the kindly nurse or attentive friend to tell her how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help her at this critical time.

Now more than ever the mother requires the assistance of a blood-forming, tissue-building, nerve-invigorating treatment, and these requirements are admirably met by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Wm. Woods, Coldwater, Ont., writes: "After the birth of my baby I was run down, nervous and could not eat or sleep, jumping at the least noise. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food built me up and made me strong and well again."

Mrs. David Logan, Thornburn, N.S., writes: "A friend of mine whom I went to see after baby was born told me she used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food all through the expectant period and attributed her good condition and splendid baby to its use."

QUEER CRAFT SEEN AT SEAL COVE IS LATEST INVENTION

Anyone who is interested in late model pleasure boats take a trip to Orwig Bay, Seal Cove, and witness the remodelling of a long narrow craft which resembles a speed boat in some ways. The owner intends to add a couple of new inventions which he claims are his own although some who have seen the craft are not inclined to give him all the credit for similar inventions were recently described in a written account in "Pacific Motor Boat."

One of the principal of these inventions is a trap door in the bottom of the ship with a window in it. Another is a new style motor which is suspended from the top of the cabin with ropes. The power is derived from the atmosphere.

The owner of the craft at Seal Cove has discovered new uses for these improvements to motor boats not to mention the unlimited supply of cheap fuel. The trap door in the bottom will provide a means of escape if the ship should turn turtle and under ordinary circumstances those riding in the boat can make faces at the fishes.

The suspended motor allows of direct passage to the cockpit when the motor is smoking badly thus reducing the liability to be gassed. It also gives the passengers something to hang on to in heavy weather.

The name of the ship is to be changed when alterations are completed, the old name at present being painted over with a thin coat of paint which only allows of "Flo" being seen. However, the sister ship's name is "Roland Neptune." The new name will be "Florence Neptune."

SPENT NOBEL PRIZE MONEY ON TAPESTRIES

Anatole France Put Part of Cash in Bonds—Other Winners.

STOCKHOLM, March 23.—Anatole France, the French author who won the $10,000 Nobel Prize for literature last awarded, has just appeared the curiosity of the Swedish public by telling how he spent and invested the money. Most of it is already disposed of, he announced.

"The Nobel Prize awarded me," said M. France, "has given rise to much talk and stupidities. I have spent some of the money for some very beautiful Gobelin tapestries—exquisite, royal ones. The rest of the money I have invested in French national defense bonds. I consider that an excellent and most comfortable means of investment."

Knut Hamsun, the Norwegian novelist, whose "Growth of Soil" helped win for him the Nobel Prize for literature, showed that he was in earnest when he wrote the above-mentioned book. He invested most of the Nobel Prize in bloated stock and other improvements for his farm in Norway.

It will be recalled that Theodore Roosevelt who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1906 for his efforts in bringing to an end the Russo-Japanese War gave his $40,000 to the Foundation for Promoting Industrial Peace.

The most of local hockey fans who are following the Stanley Cup series with a great deal of interest, are pulling for the Vancouver Millionaires to win tonight's game and cap the world's championship. They base their hopes on good grounds, too, for it is generally felt that, playing under Pacific Coast rules, the Vancouver boys should come through with the necessary victory tonight. The failure of Vancouver to win both at Vancouver and at Toronto under Pacific Coast rules has been causing a good deal of comment and speculation and has, indeed, upset a great deal of hope. It is suggested that the reason for Vancouver's success under eastern rules may be because several of her players are very familiar with these rules and have not been a long time on the coast. Another advantage that Vancouver also has in the six-man game is that she always has a man extra to spare.

The second round in the Prince Rupert Pool Room billiard handicap has been completed and the end of the series is now in sight. The third round should be finished this week-end and the entire tournament some time next week. The following were the results of the second round games: Waugh beat Judge; Easson bye; Green beat Hodgins; Charlton beat Elkins; C. Balagone beat A. McRae; S. L. Warrior beat E. Fenelon; S. P. McMoradie beat W. Blythe; D. Brown beat Russell.

The hockey season at Prince George closed last Sunday with an interesting game between the Bachelors and the Benedicts, won by the latter. For the first two periods the Married Men had things very much their own way but towards the end of the second the Bachelors began to figure it was a hockey game after all and with the opening of the third they started to play in something like their old style. The last few minutes of the play were featured with real good hockey. Art Gagne played with the Married Men.

With the coming of warm weather and many signs pointing to an early departure of the snow the thoughts of baseball fans are turned towards the coming season and the prospect for continuing the dizzy pace set by the hockey team playing under the colors of the Smithers Athletic Club says the Interior News. All of last year's hockey players are again available, while the presence of three or four other ball-players of reputed ability, including a member of the city amateur champions of Prince Rupert will make the old timers on the line-up hustle to make a place. It has been suggested that there will be two teams, one representing the town and the other the railway, but in case of the projected Bulkley Valley baseball league becoming a reality it is more than likely that only one team will take the field when Mr. Umps calls "play ball." However, the general opinion seems to be that Smithers should be able to select a nine this summer that will be able to give a good account of themselves against any of the teams in Central British Columbia.

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N. S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Hill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows: "I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

"I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our

FINNAN HADDIE ARE DESCRIBED

Fisheries Department Article Tells of Habits, Use and Value of Haddock.

From various traditions we learn that the European fishermen were lured to the great fishing banks of the western Atlantic a century before Columbus discovered America, says a Dominion Fisheries article.

The predominating fishery of these early days was for cod, but it was not long before the haddock began to be caught in far greater numbers. Today thousands and thousands of people are engaged in catching this fish. It has grown so in favor with the public as a food that now it is one of the most important of deep-sea edibles.

Is a Quiet Fish.

The haddock is a quiet fish, with very little life in it when taken from the bottom. To catch haddock the fisherman employs a hand-line equipped with two or three hooks baited with herring, squid or capelin, or sometimes clams, &c., with a lead sinker to weight the line down. A fisherman is adept in operating these lines and may operate several at a time from his dory. Haddock when caught by this method is considered by many as superior even to the cod. A long line, some 2000 feet in length, commonly called a trawl, is used by the deep sea fishermen with perhaps as many as 800 hooks. But in recent years steam trawlers have come into use on this side of the Atlantic and this has resulted in a tremendous increase in the take of haddock. The fishing apparatus of a steam trawler is a huge bag of heavy netting shaped like a cone. This bag is drawn slowly over the head of the sea and great quantities of bottom-dwelling fishes are trapped in it.

During the months of April, May, June and the last months of the year the haddock is very abundant off our Atlantic coast and it is then that the largest catches are made. The haddock is seldom seen at the surface, but is a bottom-feeder. Although a bottom-dweller, the eggs being lighter than the seawater rise to the surface and are scattered over a vast expanse of the sea during the spawning season which is from April to June on our coasts.

Swim in Large Schools.

Haddock swim from place to place in large dense schools. They usually weigh from four to five pounds each and are distinguished by lateral black lines on the body and a dark spot on either side just behind the gills. This peculiar spotting has led to the belief that was common in different countries that the haddock is the fish from whose mouth St. Peter, at the command of Christ, took the tribute-money, these spots being supposed to be the marks made by the apostle's thumb and finger as he held it.

To many, haddock is better known as "finnan haddie," one of the most delectable fish prepared in Canada. The name finnan haddie originates, according to legend, from the quaint little fishing village of Finndon, Scotland. This village was swept by fire at one time and a single fish house containing the season's catch of haddock escaped damage, although it was enveloped in dense smoke. The villagers were greatly surprised to find that the smoke had given an added flavor to the haddock. This resulted in the new process which took its name from the village.

Concentrated Food.

Haddock are also cut into fillets. The fillets have the skin and bone removed and are necessarily higher in price as there is no waste, but at the same time they are comparatively more nutritive as the food is concentrated.

There has been great variation in the abundance of the haddock according to Dr. Jordan. Some years it abounds while in others it is scarce, but scientists have failed to discover the cause of this. Nevertheless the supply exceeds by far the demand. This is not due to any inferiority of the fish, but because most consumers have not been familiar with its merits of quality and price.

In the matter of quantity taken by Canadians, haddock gives place only to cod, salmon, herring and halibut, while the value of the catch is exceeded by salmon, cod, lobsters, halibut and herring in the order mentioned. In 1919, 561,574 cwts of haddock were landed, having a first-hand value of $1,363,147 and a marketed value of $2,048,745. The greatest quantity was used fresh, but a large quantity was smoked, dried and canned and went into local and foreign consumption.
