SWEATERS WON BY ENGLISHMEN

Exhibition Final Last Night Resulted: Sons of England, 4; Grotto, 1

The Sons of England defeated the Grotto in the Exhibition soccer final at the Acropolis Hill grounds last night by a score of 4 to 1 thus winning the Northern B.C. Agricultural and Industrial Association's sweater prizes. The Englishmen were fully deserving of their victory for they showed the better style both individually and collectively. Be it said for Grotto, however, that they might just as well have had another goal or two notched to their credit had they availed themselves of opportunities presented. Had their team work been a little more effective and concerted they might even have won, but as matters stood the Sons were the best and at no time were serious chances of losing to be seen for them. Getting away to a good start, they held their lead well. In the first half especially the Sons showed their superiority and played a much brighter and faster game than the tobaccoists. The most part of the period the leather being in their quarter. The Grotto were often offside and made the larger percentage of fouls. The latter team entered the field one man short and had the disadvantage of both sun and adverse grade which might or might not have had something to do with the lack of form they displayed. The first of the few serious chances that were presented was offered to the Grotto but they failed to avail themselves of it. The first counter came 19 minutes after the start when Wiggins finished off the trick after both Farquhar and Hamilton had made good tries following a pass from E. Craggs. About 20 minutes late Bill Willisroft appeared on the scene to fill the vacant position at back. Mercer made a gallant save after he had been knocked down, the half ending shortly after this with the score standing 1 to nil.

Second Half
The Grotto appeared to brighten up in the second half and they made a better showing throughout this period, the players assuming a vestige of speed that had been certainly lacking in the first.

The Sons, however, kept up their steady front and at least had an even break in the play. A switch-around was made in the Grotto line-up with Willisroft moving from full back to centre forward, Hamilton going from half to full and P. McIowan from inside right forward to his regular position at right half. The Sons made their second goal 12 minutes after the opening of the half when Tinker headed into the goal after Mansell had unsuccessfully negotiated a free kick which was headed by Currie in front of the scorer. Six minutes later the Englishmen made their third when Mansell headed in from Farquhar's corner. About this stage of the game the Grotto began to show signs of life and from then on they took their full share of the play. Nothing but poor goal shooting prevented them from realizing on two occasions, the fumbling players being Willisroft and Waugh, the former being unable to score when there was nothing between him and the goal but a few feet and the ball. Farquhar, making one of his fast running follow-ups at the other end, nearly scored again, the shot just hitting the goal post. Scotty Waugh who had come to life came through with the Grotto's one and only, 35 minutes after the start of the half with a long speedy shot, the nearest of the game. Tinker made his second individual goal and the fourth for his side at 39 minutes, after Currie, of the Grotto, misdirected his kick toward the English forward line. Darkness fast coming towards the end of the game hampered playing considerably as well as the view of the spectators.

Comments on Play
Mercer gave his usual good service for the Grotto in goal and missed little that could be stopped at all. Barrie, as ever, was the star of the full backs and about the most effective player on the whole team. The half-back line showed little style but the forwards as a whole performed very creditably, Hill and Kirby taking the stellar roles.

Stockdale was on the job in the Sons' goal, although the half backs prevented his being tested very much. The half backs were all good, while Farquhar with his speed was the most energetic if not the most effective of the forwards, though Wiggins and Tinker did the scoring.

Players and Officials
George S. Russell refereed and the only criticism that could be laid against him was his strictness which, however, cannot be taken as a fault. A Clapperton and W. McCulloch were the linesmen and the teams lined up as follows:

Grotto—Mercer; Barrie and Willisroft (forward in second half); H. Hamilton (full back in second half); Roy and Currie; Hill, McIowan (half back in second half); Waugh, Kirby and Butters.
Sons of England—Stockdale; Lamb and Kelsey; E. Craggs, A. Craggs and G. Mansell; W. Hamilton, Wiggins, Tinker, Hodgson and Farquhar.
Scorers—Tinker, 2; Wiggins, 1; Mansell, 1; Waugh, 1.
The weather was auspicious, but the spectators were not many.

No less than 269,970 persons paid their way into the Polo Grounds last year to see the world series games between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees. This set a new record, the largest paid attendance previously having been in 1912 when the Boston Americans defeated the Giants. The attendance at that series was 252,237. The official gross receipts last year were $909,233 eclipsing the former record of receipts, $722,414 recorded in the Cincinnati Reds-Chicago White Sox series of 1919.

Distribution of last year's receipts follows:

Chilites and Sons of Canada met tonight in a Stuart Shield football match. The game should be attractive to fans for a Sons of Canada victory will settle the trophy race with them the victors. On the other hand a win for the Chilites would still leave them a chance to tie up the standing and make a play-off. This is the last game the Canucks have to play while the Chilites have one more meeting besides tonight namely with the Sons of England, the match that was postponed last Friday night on account of rain. A Holmberg will handle the whistle in tonight's encounter.

AMERICAN LEAGUE IS WELL IN LEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(World Series)—American League pennant winners have won 16 of the world series played since 1905, and National League clubs have taken seven.

Last year the Giants threw off a jinx that had followed Greater New York National League clubs in world series since 1905 by defeating the Yankees. Four times previously the Giants had lost series to American League champions and the Nationals had been unsuccessful twice.

The Philadelphia Athletics hold the record for the least number of runs scored in a series. They counted but three in the five-game series against the Giants in 1905.

A record of games and runs beginning with 1905 follows:
1905—New York Nationals.
1906—Chicago Americans.
1907—Chicago Nationals.
1908—Chicago Nationals.
1909—Pittsburg Nationals.
1910—Philadelphia Americans.
1911—Philadelphia Americans.
1912—Boston Americans.
