Injunction Against Striking Miners.

Judging from the short despatches received yesterday in regard to the injunction against striking miners in the United States, it seems as if nothing new had been gained by the Court order. It must already be unlawful there as well as here for strikers to interfere with the operation of the railways or their properties. The granting of the injunction might make the offence more specific and the punishment more severe but otherwise there seems to be no change. The court cannot compel the men to go to work nor can it forbid the men persuading other men from working. If the Union as an organized body has been a party to illegal action, something might be done in the way of dissolving it and making it an illegal organization so that meetings might be forbidden.

Resorting to violence on the part of strikers usually is an indication of weakness and taking unusual restrictive measures by employers does not strengthen their cause.

All Men's Hands Against Soviet.

The Russian socialist experiment is out of favor even among socialists and other radicals. The Manchester Guardian, the exponent of advanced Liberalism, which has been favoring everything of a socialistic nature for several years past, takes exception to the latest actions of the Soviet administration. It says: "The more the Soviet government is isolated politically and economically by the Powers the more defiant and self-centred it seems to become. All organized Socialism in Europe has watched with concern the trial in Moscow on a treason charge of the Social Revolutionary party leaders. Protests against the basis and conduct of the trial have been widely made. Eminent European Socialists, among them M. VauderVELDE, who were invited to assist in the defence, left Moscow in disgust at the procedure and at the restrictions placed on their own liberty there. Now the death sentence has been passed by the Moscow High Court. The condemned men will, it appears, be kept alive meantime as hostages for the behavior of fellow members of their party who are still at large. But the upshot will hardly help to ingratiate Moscow with international Socialism, which already views it with suspicion. For the opinion of the church of Europe the Soviet cares less than for the internationals. Remission is refused of the death sentence on Archbishop Benjamin, of Petrograd—one of the clergy who protested against the seizure of church treasure for national needs. Against the trial of these clerics the Established Churches of Europe have protested not less vigorously than have Socialist organisations against the other. It would seem that the Soviet government is well content to have all men's hands against it."

France And Britain Again in Agreement.

France and Britain are once more in agreement as a result of concessions on either side. Now Germany will have to carry out the wishes of the Allies, something she was apparently not willing to do as long as the countries were divided. It is assumed that the gold guarantee will be put up and that there will be no further difficulty at present. It would have been most unfortunate if Germany had been allowed to escape repairing at least part of the damage she did during the war. So far the German people have felt the pinch very little as a result of the reparations payments. The British and French continue to pay twice as high taxes as do the Germans.

Sullivan Report Proves Interesting.

The Sullivan report is along the line of popular opinion. No one seems to think that any engineer of repute could recommend the continued operation of the southern section of the P.G.E. with its consequent continuous financial loss. Many people boldly have stated that the whole line should be shut down, but with that we can hardly agree. Without having the whole report before us and having time to study it, it is impossible to give an opinion in regard to the other recommendations. It will be interesting to see how the expert bases his opinions. The argument accompanying the report will doubtless be a large factor in influencing the decision of the government, even more than the final decision of the engineer.

HOSPITAL FOR THE ISLANDS

Good Progress Being Made in Equipping Large Building at Queen Charlotte

RESIDENT PHYSICIAN

QUEEN CHARLOTTE, Sept. 1.—The residents and settlers of Queen Charlotte and Skidegate Inlet have very good cause to congratulate themselves upon the acquisition at last of a permanent resident physician and surgeon, at the hospital at Queen Charlotte, in the person of Dr. G. F. Palmer, M.D., C.H.M., of McGill University, who has had a previous 10 years' experience in Ontario, but has since spent 33 years in practice in London, England. Mrs. Palmer is a fully qualified nurse of London hospitals.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Palmer are most optimistic as to the future, and most enthusiastic in their endeavors to make this hospital a mecca of healing and succor for all sick or wounded no matter how severe, from the surrounding mines or lumber camps on the islands. This enthusiasm has helped materially to revive the spirit of hope and energy in the people, thus with a small amount of funds on hand the directors of the Hospital Society recently purchased for $750 a title to a two-story frame building of eleven rooms and an adjoining frame residence of five rooms with nearly an acre of ground. This more than exhausted the funds on hand.

Entertainments

On July 31 Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith of the Premier Hotel, Queen Charlotte City, gave a social and concert ably assisted by Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Harrison of Atford Bay, and officers and men of the D.G.H.S.S. Lilloet and backed my many residents from Tl-ell, Sandpit, Alford Bay and surrounding islands. This affair brought $211.30 to the hospital coffers which enabled the directors to thoroughly overhaul and renew the foundations of the building besides other outside much needed repairs.

On August 10 a garden party was given at the home of Mrs. Barge, and although a long delayed rain chose the previous day and morning of the 10th for a descent, the afternoon saw a goodly crowd beneath apple and cherry trees. This party, by the willing aid of the ladies of the town produced $90 and this has been utilised in putting in good shape the water supply to the buildings, etc. It is intended to continue efforts along these lines until the hospital is one of the most substantial and best equipped in the north. This is the ambition of Dr. and Mrs. Palmer and the hope and aim of the directors. Much funds are yet urgently needed, the whole of the interior needs to be beaver boarded and painted, the outside also painted.

Change Name

It is proposed to change the name of the Queen Charlotte Hospital Society to that of Skidegate Inlet Hospital Society, as the hospital serves the needs of the whole of the islands from Tl-ell in the north to Cape St. James on the south, and it is confidently expected that the operators of the logging camps to the south will generously come to its aid and materially help to secure the objects which are to their advantage and benefit.

MANY ATTEND CHAUTAUQUA

Burnell Ford's Lecture on "The Wonders of Electricity" Proves Popular.—Final Tonight

The large Chautauqua audience was last night much pleased and impressed with the lecture by Burnell Ford on "The Wonders of Electricity." The whole was in the nature of a series of experiments particularly those dealing with wireless waves.

Mr. Ford showed an electrical explosion somewhat similar to thunder with its accompanying lightning. He told of the immensity of the lightning flash and of the manner in which the scientist could in a small way imitate it.

A series of interesting experiments was conducted showing the ringing of bells by wireless waves sent from a small battery and also from the same electric current which affects the mariners' compass. He demonstrated the ringing of different bells by using different wave lengths in the transmitter and explained that those were the same waves that were used in wireless telegraphy or in the radiophone.

Spiritualistic Fakes

The ouija board was used to demonstrate some of the wireless phenomena and a few of the fakes of the spiritualists were exposed

 "Better Than Pills For Liver Ills"

Among them being slate writing. After mystifying the audience with several tricks, he explained how they were done and the simplicity of the deception was remarkable.

Before closing Mr. Ford stated that within the last few weeks some new discoveries had been made in wireless telephony which would make it possible for everyone to have a radiophone receiver in his residence and without the use of aerials could receive messages or hear music anywhere within a thousand miles. Radiophone receivers he prophesied would become as common as phonographs.

Harry D. Newcombe pleased the audience very much by singing in his wonderful baritone, operatic and popular songs, being recalled many times. Joseph Marks, the young violinist, also played most acceptably, being recalled again and again.

Interest Growing

Last night's audience was the largest yet, showing a steadily increasing interest in the performances. Tonight will see a reappearance of all the performers to be concluded with another of those bright lightning orations "Tinkers and Thinkers," by Samuel W. Grathwell, the man who lectured on the first evening and on Thursday addressed the Rotary Club. Mr. Grathwell is well worth hearing and no one should miss the final opportunity.
