JAIL SENTENCES SELLING LIQUOR

Clean-up at Prince George Results in Addition to Okalla Population

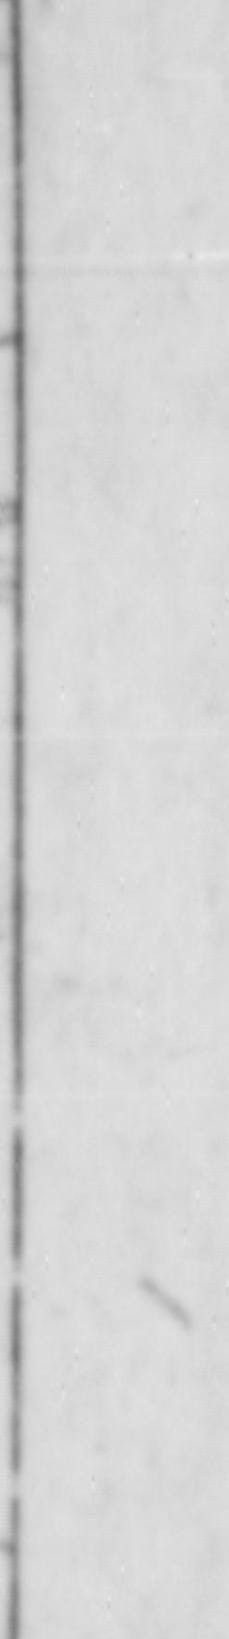

Chief of Police Carlow is making a clean-up of the local bootleggers says the Prince George Citizen. In the convictions which he has secured so far Chief Carlow has received valuable assistance from the Provincial Police, and especially from the Provincial Constable Kirkham, who has managed to live in the town for a few days without disclosing himself as a police officer.

All three persons who took chances on the sale of whiskey for profit are headed for Okalla prison with a varying terms of imprisonment ahead of them. The Velma Mathews case, in which a negro woman served Constable Kirkham with whiskey in her room, was disposed of on Friday afternoon, the accused being found guilty and sentenced to six months imprisonment at Okalla. It is said an appeal will be taken.

Couple of Drinks The case against Nick Mardalj of the Great West rooming house, came before Police Magistrate Daniell. In this case the liquor selling charge took place on the 22nd. Kirkham had taken a room at the house on a previous occasion and when he appeared for accommodation the second time Nick evidently considered him safe, as, after showing him a room, he returned with a bottle of Scotch whisky and sold him a couple of drinks, receiving payment therefor in marked money. When the sale was completed, Chief Carlow appeared on the scene and found the marked money in Mardalj's pocket. The whiskey bottle was also in evidence on the bed.

Nick's defence was that the dollar was received in payment for the room and that the whiskey was the property of a former occupant of the room. Not Believed A witness was produced who swore that he had purchased a bottle of whiskey the night before the alleged sale and had left it under the mattress. This method of accounting for the presence of the whiskey was not credited by the magistrate and Mardalj was found guilty and sentenced to eight months at Okalla with hard labor. The case against Chew Ah Ying was also cleaned up. The sale alleged in this case occurred on October 8th, although the accused was not proceeded against until Monday, Oct. 23. In the Chinese case, Kirkham, after leaving Chief Carlow and Inspector Parsons on the outside, went into the Rex Cafe and purchased two bottles of Sam Sney for $5.00.

Alibi Failed The defence of the Chinaman was that he was not in the restaurant on the day of the offence was alleged, but he failed to satisfy the magistrate in this. He was found guilty and sentenced to six months with hard labor at Okalla.

The prosecution in the several cases was handled by P. E. Wilson.

GASSED OVERSEAS SHELL SHOCKED and RHEUMATISM

Mr. F. M. Blaquiere, Morinville, Alta. writes: "After three years service overseas I returned to Canada almost a complete wreck. I had been gassed, and was suffering from shell shock and rheumatism, and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines and doctors, but none of them did me any good for any length of time. I got so bad, in the fall of 1919, my hands were so shaky I could scarcely hold anything, and I seemed as if I had a steel hand pressing on my head. The least excitement would almost drive me into fits, and my whole system seemed to be in disorder. I had cramps in my legs nearly every night, and hot and cold chills running up and down my back nearly all the time. One day I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I had taken six boxes I began to feel better. I kept on using them and after a while I was completely relieved."

ELKS' BANQUET IN HOME LAST EVENING

Winter's Activities of Club Were Enthusiastically Launched At Enjoyable Function

The Elks' Home was formally reopened for what is planned to be an active winter season under the management of F. W. Mackintosh, the new secretary, steward, at an enthusiastic and successful banquet last night. There were about sixty members of the order in attendance and the affair was very enjoyable indeed. It opened at 9 o'clock and was concluded before the midnight hour. The supper served was bounteous and appetizing and several fine addresses and musical numbers rounded the evening off to perfection.

Ralph V. G. LePine was in the chair and addresses were given by E. A. Wakefield, American consul, Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, chaplain, Ald. Kelly also contributing a few remarks. The topics dealt with were mainly of a lodge character. Mr. Wakefield urging that all members should observe the forthcoming Armistice Day. F. Dibb, H. Fletcher and Eddie Craggs sang solos, the latter two also rendering a vocal duet. Bob Newell accompanied at the piano and the Elks' Orchestra punctuated the proceedings with several very acceptable selections. Harry Atkins gave a recitation.

The entertainment committee comprising Fred Gibuly, chair-

It is apparent from the progress of preliminary arrangements that interest in the forthcoming basketball season is nothing out of the ordinary and perhaps not as marked as has prevailed prior to some seasons of the past. The slowness with which entries of teams are coming in is an evidence of the fact. It is to be hoped, however, that by the time the games get under way that general interest will be more noticeable. Perhaps one reason why basketball this year is not being looked forward to particularly is because the Fair Hall, where the games are to be played, is not well adapted for winter sport on account of the lack of heat. Certainly something will have to be done in this regard before large crowds of spectators may be expected. It may be all right for players who are energetically engaged but for those who have to sit or stand and watch the games, the winter evenings at the Fair Building seem, to say the least, at times a little chilly.

Three German boxing champions successfully defended their titles all on the same bill here recently. Urban Grasz, thebantam-weight, Urban Grasz, thebantam-weight titleholder, won in seven rounds because his opponent's skull was badly damaged in a head-on collision that his seconds threw in the towel. The loser was "Phenomenon" Volkmer, who is more than forty years of age. Hans Breitenstrafer, Germany's heavy-weight jride, knocked out the Belgian heavy-weight champion, Jef de Pauw, in six rounds. Richard Maujocks, the German light-weight titleholder, defeated the Belgian boxer Claes on points, but the decision was not generally approved. Hans Austria's welter-weight champion, gave up in the sixth round to Ernest Grimm, a Berlin fighter. The bill attracted one of the largest gates ever attending a German boxing program, the spectators numbering more than 16,000.

Considerable interest was manifested in Berlin in Siki's sensational defeat of Carpentier, boxing fans recalling that Breitentrafer once battled the Senzalese to a draw.
