HAS GLORIA CARUSO VOICE OF FATHER?

Widow of Tenor Inclined to Believe That Girl Inherits Gift to Sing

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. — Will Carouso's great vocal powers be transmitted to his little daughter, Gloria?

Mme. Caruso, widow of the great tenor, is inclined to believe that Gloria will inherit her father's gift of song.

"I am told that just as a child may inherit the eyes or other features of a parent—and you can see that Gloria is the image of her father—there is no reason why she should not inherit the physical formation of the throat," said Mme. Caruso in an interview.

"Now perhaps you will think it was the act of an over-fond father, but when Gloria was six months old Signor Caruso took her up in his arms and, carrying her close to a light, examined her open mouth.

"'Look, read, he exclaimed in delight. 'The formation at the back of the mouth here is like that of my own great arch! And look here—and here!' And so he went on, excitedly declaring that different parts of the child's throat were moulded after the various features that went to produce his own wonderful voice.

"Gloria has inherited the love of music. She will be given every opportunity to develop her abilities."

Mrs. Caruso and Gloria arrived here recently on the Adriatic.

A letter was read from T. Beattie, Tenth Avenue, at the council meeting last night to the effect that the sidewalk east of Bacon Street was unsafe and in need of repair and requesting that it be put in good order. The matter was referred to the Board of Works for investigation and report.

F. S. DeFrey, chief sanitary officer for the province, has arrived from the south and is spending the week in the district looking over the sanitary conditions of the town and Premier mine.
