FRENCH APACHES ARE NOT ALLOWED TO USE DUELLING DEFENCE

PARIS, June 13.—The ancient privilege of the French nobility to settle their quarrels by duel has been denied to the Apaches of Paris by a decision Wednesday in the trial of Maurice Pintaux, "Maurice the Terror," for having killed Charles Allemange, "Charles the Assassin," in a duel over Louise Bastie, "Lou Lou the Cunning." "The Terror" was sentenced to two years in prison; two witnesses were sentenced to the same term, and a third to six months.

The trial gained considerable attention throughout France because of the contention of the defence that the duel, though fought by the Apaches, was carried out in the regulation manner. In proof of the contention the principals and witnesses of the most famous duels in recent years, as well as experts in the code of duelling, were called to testify.

The state seemed to recognize the verity of the defence and the prosecutor admitted that he did not believe that the "Terror" intended to kill his adversary. However, he demanded that the prisoner be condemned if the state did not wish to give the Apaches "letters of noblesse." The jury returned a verdict in keeping with his wishes.

LABOR CANDIDATES MANITOBA ELECTIONS

Two to Be Chosen in Winnipeg Nominated by Unions.

WINNIPEG, June 13.—International labor organizations are to select the two candidates to contest seats in Winnipeg at the forthcoming provincial elections. Each union in the city will nominate the men it desires to place in the field as the representative of the organized labor movement, after which a referendum will be held.

James Winning, secretary of the union labor committee of 45 appointed at the meeting of trade unionists in the Labor temple, has sent a circular letter to all international labor unions in Winnipeg, requesting them to send in by June 16 the names of candidates they wish to run. Immediately after receipt of the nominees, the committee will hold a referendum of trade unionists to decide on the two candidates to be placed in the field.

The committee regards this procedure as the best means of bringing our candidates who have the endorsement of the organized labor movement, declares Mr. Winning. It is expected many names will be brought forth for the trade unionists to select from.

GAME BOARD AND FUR TRADE

Says He Will Enforce Law and Do What Is Best Interest of Province.

VANCOUVER, June 13.—With Mr. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., as honorary chairman, members of the B. C. Game Conservation Board and the Hon. A. M. Manning, Attorney-General, were told by dealers that the transient and transient trapper were most menaces to the fur industry of the Province.

The Board is considering new regulations.

Mr. Manson spoke of the great loss to the Province of the fur trade and said that as long as he is Attorney-General the laws of regulation would be enforced.

Transient fur buyers can make up and violate the laws and regulations but if we do we are unjustly jumped on," said C. H. Smith, of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The transient trapper who is to stake in the country is the worst enemy we have," said James E. Little, of Little Bros. Fur Sale Agency, Vancouver.

Jump in and Take Cream. It was also explained that established fur dealers have to maintain their posts throughout the country and help out trappers and others through the lean seasons, but when the furs begin to come in, the outsiders with no interest in the country jump in.

It was pointed out that most transient trappers are careful to do nothing is done to decrease game in their district, but dealers come in and care for nothing.

After a long discussion it was the opinion of the conference that control of the fur trade should be worked through the fur laws.

Interests Identical. It was explained that British Columbia fur dealers are organized and they were asked to send to the Board regulations that they think should be.

This association is going to do the fur business in this country where it belongs," said J. French.

The interests of the Province are their interests," said Mr. Manson. "That is the right way to look at it. We want to accomplish what is in the best interests of the industry."

Unprimed Skin Policy. During the discussion on pelting with regard to unprimed skins, Mr. French urged that it should be made illegal for a dealer to have any unprimed skins in his possession.

Mr. Whitaker said this would mean great economic loss as thousands of such skins taken in traps would have to be thrown away.

Mr. Jackson suggested that all unprimed skins be sent to the Game Board just as heavier skins are.

Such an order would entail a hardship on the trapper as 25 to 30 per cent. of the furs handled in British Columbia are not strictly primed. Ernest Whitaker, fur dealer of Vancouver, said.

Mr. Manson pointed out that there are few regulations which do not work a hardship on someone.

"What we have got to strive for is reasonable regulation that will be in the interests of the industry," he went on. "There is no use putting up to the game warden what the game warden can't do. It is in your interests that we are working."

Mr. Jackson said the burden of proof that unprimed skins were taken within season should be placed on the man caught with them.

Mr. Whitaker suggested that the royalty be taken off ermine, as it amounts to only a couple of hundred dollars a year. The trouble is, he explained, that many of these delicate furs are ruined by the steaming and stamping.

J. Y. Copeman and agriculturists were before the board, dealing with the way game birds are destroying the crop of farmers.

Members of the board in attendance besides Chairman Jackson are: J. F. Guimont, of Cranbrook; W. G. McMyrn, of Victoria; Thomas B. Booth, of Nanaimo; W. Williams, of Prince George and F. R. Butler, secretary.

CINDER WALK TO BE BUILT SECOND AVE.

A cinder walk costing about $145 is to be put in by the city on Second Avenue between Eighth Street and the Junction of First, Second and Third Avenues. A petition asking for such a walk was presented to the council recently and at last night's meeting there was a recommendation from the Board of Works that it be built. The city engineer also had an alternate plan for a cinder and asphalt walk costing $142.25 but as there were not sufficient signatures to the petition to undertake the work under local improvement, the Board of Works did not recommend its adoption.

MITCHELL ALBERT IN COAL BUSINESS

Former Local Resident Builds Dock at Vancouver and Will Sell Island Coal

New coal docks and bunkers are under construction on Vancouver Harbor, between the Canadian National terminal and the end of Gore Avenue, says the Vancouver World. Misak Aivazoff, prominent contractor and financial man, and associates will handle Vancouver Island coal from this depot.

Mr. Aivazoff has secured control of 100 feet of waterfront immediately east of the Grand Trunk Pacific docks. Gangs of men are at work there completing dock construction, which will afford room for the development of one of the biggest coal and builders' supply business on the Pacific coast.

Investment of $50,000 is the initial outlay of Mr. Aivazoff upon dockage alone. Coal from the Wellington mines will be handled by the new company. Mr. Aivazoff will personally manage the business.

ASK REAPPOINTMENT BOILER INSPECTOR AT PRINCE RUPERT

At the meeting of the Board of Trade council held yesterday afternoon it was decided to ask the Dominion Government to appoint a boiler inspector at this port for the purpose of expediting work in connection with this department of the service.

It was explained that the dry dock had been delayed in work through not having an inspector resident here. If there were such an official, the marine underwriters would often take his advice in regard to repairs on boats. There was such an official formerly and they would be simply asking that he be re-appointed.

It was decided to wire the member asking that the matter be laid before the department with a view to action.

the way to the fish dining saloon for his nightcap, he may be successfully tempted if a nice big juicy worm is dangled in front of his nose. This has been a secret but it is now quite common talk and the result is that almost any evening now if you go along the banks of the favorite pool you will find various and sundry anglers indulging in the gentle art of midnight fishing.

There is close co-operation between the Ketchikan sporting management and the School Board and just recently, Percy Chamberlain was elected as a teacher for the public schools. It had been hoped that he would arrive before July 4 to pitch for the Ketchikan Baseball team on that date, but Chamberlain has, however, wired the management of the baseball team that he cannot accept the offer from Ketchikan as he has signed up elsewhere for the ensuing year.
