University Students Big Campaign.

The campaign which the students of the University of British Columbia have been carrying on to have their permanent buildings erected at the Point Grey site has been drawing a great deal of public attention, particularly in Vancouver and generally throughout the province. The students have the general support of Vancouver citizens and the press of that city has been giving great service. Vancouver has double reason for getting behind such a campaign for the erection of the buildings, which are to be located there, will mean much to the city from an architectural standpoint as well as making the Western institution much more attractive than it is under present conditions. From a provincial standpoint, the buildings are necessary to serve the better interests of education. That is why the movement is receiving general support throughout the province.

Need Has Not Been Generally Realized.

The campaign has brought to light the fact that a large number of B. C. people know little of the actual inadequacy of the present accommodation at the University. With a total registration of 1187 (the Arts registration being next to Toronto and second in Canada), certain professors are forced to give the same lecture three and four times because there is no room large enough to contain their whole class; a private house and two churches, including a basement, are being used as classrooms, while a chemistry course is even conducted in a tent. Every available bit of space is in use, and further expansion is quite out of the question. Something must be done at once, and the students in making known such deplorable conditions are asking the general public to extend its support and bring the pressure of its opinion to bear on the government. It is a very significant fact that Alberta with a smaller population than we have, has spent ten times as much on University buildings and equipment. By the Kiwanis plan of raising on the security of the Varsity grant of 3,000 acres of land at Point Grey, the University could be moved without placing any additional burden whatsoever on the taxpayer. Since the objection of increased taxation is thus removed, and since the University is being fatally cramped by its unfavorable quarters, there should be no unnecessary delay in the construction of permanent buildings.

What Visitors' Day Showed.

So anxious were the undergraduates to make known their ever-crowded condition that they secured the consent of the President, L. S. Klineck, to have last Friday as visitors' day and they invited the public to inspect the premises and see the situation for themselves. A committee of students showed the visitors through the various buildings pointing out the handicap both to students and professors of the insufficient space and equipment. Many laboratory classes which met last Friday were visited and an opportunity given to see the collegians at work. The different activities and courses were explained and the congestion in every building was brought home to the visitors. An item of interest was the close proximity of the college buildings to the consumptive wards of the Vancouver General Hospital; the latter being not thirty yards from the buildings where the students spent the greater part of the day, separated only by a board fence. Equally commented on was the entire lack of campus or gymnasium and much surprise was expressed that U. B. C. athletes have become so prominent in sports, with absolutely no athletic facilities.

Thousands Of Signatures Secured.

On visiting the Students' Council offices the guests were given the latest figures on the number of signatures obtained up to date, for the petition to the government. During the summer undergraduates spread throughout the province were able to gather the names of 17,000 people who were favorable to the student campaign. Since then signed petitions have been pouring in by the thousand, so that the total has now reached 56,000 names. It is expected that this number will be augmented by another 10,000 at least, before the petition is presented to the government.

"My Heart Would Palpitate, I Had Weak Spells"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

THANKSGIVING BANQUET WAS FINE AFFAIR

Great Success Attended Annual Dinner Given by Methodist
Ladies' Aid

The commodious social hall of the Methodist Church was not large enough to seat all those who came for the annual thanksgiving dinner under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid last evening. Two sittings were necessary and a large number of the earlier arrivals had to give up their seats when they were through with the splendid dinner to those who came later. With turkey and chicken in abundance and all kinds of dainty and appetizing relishes and desserts, the meal itself was an achievement to the credit of the ladies. The program which was followed was a fine entertainment with vocal and instrumental numbers and several fine speeches in proposal and response to the toasts. Altogether the annual affair was a most successful and enjoyable one reflecting credit on all those concerned.

Miss E. M. Earle was toast mistress and she made an excellent one indeed, keeping the program going in a live manner throughout with her many apt remarks and observations. Grace was pronounced by Rev. G. G. Hacker. After the banquet table had been done full justice to, the toast to the King was duly observed by the singing of the National Anthem. Pryce's Orchestra rendered the opening musical selection, "Graduation March."

Thanksgiving Day

The first toast, "The Day," was proposed by P. Linzey and responded to by Rev. H. R. Grant. The former told something of the origin of the Thanksgiving Day celebration. It had been established some three hundred years ago by the Pilgrim Fathers and had since become a national occasion in the United States and Canada. The person who did not observe it was indeed of shrivelled spirit. Dr. Grant said that the observance of thanksgiving was peculiar to the North American countries. It was a day set apart by the governments of United States and Canada to offer up thanks to God for the blessings of the harvest. Agriculture was the basic industry of a country and in the success of its harvests might be measured up the prosperity of a nation. Canada in the past few years had been blessed. In a short time her harvests had so increased that now she was one of the most important grain exporting nations in the world having taken the place of Russia in importance. The people must not forget that the blessings which had prospered the land had come from God and some return was expected. To return these blessings with a true spirit of thanksgiving appreciation was the duty of the nation and its citizens.

City of Prince Rupert.

The toast, "The City in Which we Live," was proposed briefly by Ald. George W. Kerr in the absence of Mayor Rochester who, it was explained, had been suddenly called away from the city. "It will be unnecessary for me to speak on this subject," said Ald. Kerr, "but I will propose the toast and call upon your first mayor, Fred Stork, M.P., to respond." Mr. Stork said that the gathering reminded him of those old thanksgiving festivals back in old Ontario some forty years ago. It was the first he had attended in B. C., but he hoped it would not be the last. Prince Rupert had much to be thankful for, Mr. Stork declared. In her short history she had already made much progress and she was off to a good start. The city had many necessary things, such as a dry dock, ocean dock and other facilities. All that was wanted to complete her equipment was a grain elevator, lumber assembly wharf and coal bunkers which he had no doubt would come in the not far distant future. Given these Prince Rupert would take her place as a port in the affairs of world commerce and trade. Prospects for the city were never brighter.

Like Citizens, Like City

"The future of the city will be largely as its citizens make it, however," reminded the speaker. "If we are pessimistic and discontented we will not make progress. It is up to us to be optimistic and to put out our best efforts into our city in building it up. We should speak well of it and try to improve it instead of acting in temporary manner and making our effort only to get enough money to get out of it. Some may feel discouraged on account of the number of people who have left but I feel that those who have left will see back before so very long. It is up to all to assist in bringing about the destiny that is assured the city.

"Our Sister Churches" was proposed by Dr. W. T. Kergin and responded to by Archdeacon G. A. Rix and Capt. Coleman. Each of the speakers referred to the amicable feelings that had always prevailed between the various churches of the city. There had never been any discord and each felt that the prosperity of one congregation meant the well being of the other. Archdeacon Rix emphasized the necessity for all citizens to assist spiritually and materially in church work. It was the one great force of uplift in the community and without the churches the city would be a sorry place indeed. There were churches in the city for all tastes and there was no excuse for any one. Capt. Coleman said that all should seek the Spirit of God. That found, all other good things would follow.

Toast to Ladies

The toast "to the Ladies" was proposed by A. W. Edge and responded to by Miss Haddock, each of whom made humorous speeches though tinged with a serious spirit. Each referred to the influence of the mother as being the one great guide in the weaving of the destinies of men and women for better things. The men rose and sang "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," in drink- ing to the toast.

The musical numbers on the program included solos by F. Dibb, Miss Thelma Knight and Mrs. B. Stockdale; an instrumental trio by Miss Marjorie Lancaster, piano, Professor H. J. Aubrey Pryce, violin, and A. J. Lancaster, cello, and selections by Pryce's Orchestra. The gathering came to a close shortly after 9 o'clock with the enthusiastic singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Those in charge of the tables were Mrs. F. Dibb, Mrs. Stockdale, Mrs. W. B. Cornish, Mrs. W. T. Kergin, Mrs. O. Rogers, Mrs. Kielevsky, Mrs. S. P. McMorris, Mrs. H. C. Higgins, Mrs. S. J. Evans, Mrs. E. A. Woods, Mrs. S. M. Johnson, and Mrs. Santerhane, assisted by the Junior Girls. Mrs. G. W. Kerr and Mrs. Whalen looked after the serving of tea and coffee.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

At the adjourned council meeting last night the announcement was made that the bank was agreeable to advance another $25,000 to be devoted to the completion of the street work in Section One. The bank further intimated that if the treasury certificates to the extent of another $27,000 could be disposed of, they would be agreeable to raise the amount that would be available for this work to $50,000. A proposition was received from a Toronto firm of financiers stating that it thought that it could dispose of about $60,000 worth of the 6 per cent treasury certificates at par. The firm asked for an option on them at that figure. It was decided to give them a thirty day option in which to attempt to place the certificates. The certificates cover the four year loan.

Superintendent G. A. McNicholl of the G.T.P., who returned to the city yesterday, bringing his family with him, will occupy A. J. Morris' house on First Avenue for a few weeks until his own residence which he is building on Fifth Avenue is ready for occupation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(By Canadian Press).—Six fingers on each hand is nature's endowment of the baby daughter of Hans Kriger of Bremen, who was born on the North German Lloyd steamer York on the way over here. The little girl is doing well and is destined apparently to have plenty of time in which to find out if the sixth digit is any particular advantage in modern day life. Her father Hans has six fingers on the right hand, but the usual five on the left hand.

JURY THOROUGHLY EXAMINED LIQUOR

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—(By Canadian Press).—A Superior Court jury trying a recent bootlegging case was told that only by examining a quart of whiskey and a quart of gin could they determine whether the liquor was intoxicating. They returned the bottles empty with a verdict of not guilty. Their deliberations lasted through an entire night.
