BRINGING UP FATHER

CANDIDATES AT T. L. COUNCIL

Many Present and Free Discussion of Situation Took Place.

An open meeting was held by the Trades and Labor Council last night, in the Carpenter's Union hall, for the purpose of listening to speeches by candidates for civic honors. The meeting was well attended and the chair was taken by S. D. Macdonald, president of the Trades and Labor Council. There was a free discussion and every opportunity was given for the asking of questions.

Colonel S. P. McMordie, aspirant for the mayor office, was the first speaker. He said that in years past the aldermanic boards had been good ones and that the board last year had done a lot of good work for which he congratulated them. Mistakes had been made, however, for which they should be blamed. Colonel McMordie claimed that his public statements were absolutely correct as anyone could see if they took the trouble to compare them with the statements made by the opposition and which had appeared side by side in the local newspapers.

"I am told by my friends that a rumor is going the rounds that I am going to give away the light and power if I am elected," said the Colonel speaking on the power question. "No this is absolutely absurd and is nothing more or less than an old election cry. I am running for mayor with the sole intention of benefiting the city, and doing all in my power to further its interests. Most of us have been living here for years expecting that our city would become a great big city and we are still here. I think the time is opportune for us to press on the government our claims."

Our Time Here.
"In the last few years Vancouver has spent $70,000,000 given by the government, $20,000,000 of which has been spent on harbor and other improvements. I think that the next ten years is our ten years, and I consider we ought to get from the government some of the things that are so vital to our welfare. If I am elected mayor I intend to back up our member and do all I possibly can to get things accomplished for the city. There are the questions of coal bunkers, elevators, fishery protection, and a trans-Pacific steamship line, and we cannot get anything by sitting down. Just compare the amount of money spent here with the amount of money spent in Vancouver. I do not wish to be egotistical but I consider I am better qualified to press our claims on the government than is my opponent."

"I regret my opponent is not with us now, as there are explanations which he should give you and I am sure you expect them. As this meeting is called by the Trades and Labor Council there is just one topic I wish to discuss and that is the Oriental topic. The first Chinaman came to British Columbia 120 years ago and now one-eighth of the population in B. C. is Oriental. You know it is impossible for the white man to compete with the Oriental, because the Oriental works cheaper and lives on a lower plane. I have never employed an Oriental, but my opponent does employ Orientals. I will say this, that while the liquor laws were in force all hotels had to agree not to employ Orientals and no Orientals were employed in the Prince Rupert Hotel at that time."

Power Question.

T. Ross McKay said that if the city was going to grow there would be many demands for power, and if the present city plant were not capable of supplying sufficient power would he, (Colonel McMordie) be in favor of the city buying power from a private corporation or increasing the present capacity?

Colonel McMordie, pointing to the case of Winnipeg, replied that if the city were able to finance their developments themselves he would say by all means let the city do it. If the city of Prince Rupert has the funds by all means let us have our own hydro-electric plant," said Colonel McMordie.

In closing, Colonel McMordie said he would at all times adopt a friendly attitude towards labor and its problems.

Questions Asked.
The questions suggested by members of the Trades and Labor Council to civic candidates embodied the following:

Attitude on the Oriental question.

The platoon system in the fire hall.

The high light and power rates with a surplus, or low rates to simply cover operating expenses.

The power policy.

Swimming tank for the children of the city.

The question of asking the Provincial government to refund to the city of Prince Rupert the amount collected from automobile and chauffeur licenses to be spent on city road building, as not a yard of Provincial road making has been done here.

Following Colonel McMordie, Aldermen T. Silversides, J. H. Kelly and G. W. Kerr gave detailed accounts of what had been done by them during the past year and what they proposed to do this year if re-elected.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

"I am a child of the Trades and Labor Council," said Mrs. E. C. Kirkpatrick; "as it was responsible for calling me into public life. I have always worked in the interests of labor as far as I have had it in my power. I have always opposed the idea of the Provincial Government draining the city of the auto license money, when we have not a foot of road that the Provincial Government has built for us. I think our roads have come to the end of their tether. We can not blame the councils that have passed. The life of the roads is simply done. Whether I am elected or not I will stand behind the men who are working for the good of the city, and will also stand behind whichever mayor is elected."

Rod McLeod made his maiden public speech which was forceful and interesting. He said that he favored permanent improvements and advocated the building of one graded street from water to water. He expressed regret that so few working men were on the municipal voting list and suggested that when the Poll Tax were collected the collector of the tax should be empowered to also act as registrar.

Need Labor Men.

James Black urged the need of labor men in the city council. He discussed the power problem in detail and urged the need of an up to date turbine steam plant on the waterfront, to take care of increased power demands until the city was in a position to develop a large power plant.

Theo. Collart advocated necessities coming ahead of civic luxuries, and a dollar's worth of value being received for every municipal dollar spent.

Police Commission.

George Sutherland, candidate for Police Commissioner, urged the cleaning up of the city. He said the social evil should be absolutely segregated and that the "blind pigs" should be abolished.

S. D. Macdonald gave a detailed report of police affairs, speaking from his viewpoint as Police Commissioner, and said that the city was freer from crime during the past year than it had ever been. He said: "We have less of the undesirable element in the city today than we had when I came here thirteen years ago, and I defy anyone to contradict my statement. Against the accusations of graft I can say that no man ever bought me as much as a cigar and never can, and at the end of my tenure of office as police commissioner I intend to come out every bit as clean as I went in."

WASTEFUL WILLY.

A small boy asked his father to give him ten cents, so that he might see a new film picture featuring a sea-serpent. "Wasteful boy!" exclaimed his father, "wanting to waste a tanner! Take the magnifying-glass into the garden and find a worm."

THE THRIFTY SCOT.

Bix—I wonder why a Scotchman always says "hae" for "have"?
Dix—Possibly it's on account of his thrift—he saves a "v" every time he does it.—Boston Transcript.
