MAHATMA GANDHI GETS EXCELLENT TREATMENT AT BOMBAY PRISON

Allowed to Receive Visitors And to Write Any Number of Letters

BOMBAY, July 28.—That Mahatma Gandhi has been receiving every possible consideration from the authorities of the Sabarmati jail, where he is confined, is evident from the reports of the many friends who have visited him there. Gandhi spends at least half an hour each day in spinning, and is devoting his remaining energy to literary work. He is allowed to have his own food brought to him. Goat's milk, toast, oranges and raisins constitute his usual diet.

One who visited Gandhi in jail recently describes his life there as follows: "Ever since his arrest, the authorities have been very kind and considerate. They place no restrictions on interviews, but grant as many as it is possible to arrange for. At these interviews, either the superintendent or the jailer is present.

Sits On Veranda
"Gandhi sits on the veranda in front of his cell with a quilt on the floor and with two pillows at his back, in the same style as in his own home. Visitors are taken inside the jail, and Gandhi receives them on his veranda. They discuss all sorts of questions, no restrictions being made as to the subjects for conversation.

"The Mahatma is allowed to receive all his letters, and even to reply to them, with the condition that the letters are countersigned and passed by the superintendent.
"The prisoner's usual food consists of goat's milk, toast, oranges and raisins. These are brought to him three times a day. Several months ago Gandhi made a vow not to take his second meal without spinning for at least an hour. He has been able to observe this, even while in jail.

"I was really surprised to see the progress he has made in spinning. Last year, when he was in the Punjab, he was a mere novice, hardly turning out yarn of five counts. But now he has improved so much that he not only spins faster but the yarn is of 25 to 30 counts. I do not think there will be any difficulty for the government in providing him the staple food he wants, as it will not cost the authorities any more than they are prepared to spend on an ordinary prisoner.

Breaks No Regulations

"One noticeable fact was that at no time did he break any of the jail regulations. If he is treated differently, it is not due to any request on his part, but due rather to the initiative of the authorities themselves, who are very courteous and anxious to oblige.

"He was always cheerful, and looked upon his arrest as a matter for great rejoicing to the country. To all questions as to what would happen in the future, he gave the answer that non-cooperation, if carried on properly, was bound to succeed.

"Gandhi intends to devote much of his time to writing about his past experiences. He may even write an autobiography. His immediate task in this line is the writing of a pamphlet on the movement in South Africa."

GREEKS CULTIVATE TURKISH FRIENDSHIP

Occupation of Adrianople Brings Prosperity to Inhabitants of That City

ADRIANOPLE, July 28.—Adrianople, which has been one of the barriers to peace between the Greeks and Turks, has become a thriving city under Greek military occupation. The Turkish shopkeepers and traders never were so prosperous. The Greeks have decorated every store with a Greek sign, whether the owner be Greek, Turk or Armenian.

The Hellenic army commanders have ordered their men to cultivate the friendship of the Turkish population, but while the Turks have profited commercially from the presence of the army their strong sense of patriotism and nationalism would rather see the Greeks driven out. For centuries of history and association Adrianople, once their capital, is as dear to them as Constantinople.

Much Poverty

Except from a strategic point of view, Adrianople really is of little importance. It is a typical Turkish city, with its narrow streets, open bazaars, its smells, dirt and indolence. Its houses are of wood, plaster and mud, and give the impression that if they are not soon burned up they will fall down. There is much poverty and misery which American Relief workers are trying to ameliorate. American automobiles and motor trucks, bearing Greek army officers or supplies, rush through the muddy streets. In the midst of the bustle are the tall, loose-limbed, shiftless Turks, lounging about the streets, coffee drinking and day dreaming.

The Allies gave Greece a mandate to administer Thrace, of which Adrianople is the capital, for a period of years, but many of the inhabitants, especially the Bulgarians, are hopeful the United States may yet be induced to take an administrative and paternal interest in Thrace.

SEEING PIGS

Magistrate Says Witnesses Must be Sure of What They See

WINNIPEG, July 28.—When bad eyesight and pigs combine to cause trouble, even although the combination does not mean a "blind pig," they may cause the courts of justice a great deal of trouble and magistrates may have to go back to the law as laid down by Solomon in an attempt to unravel the mass of contradictory evidence placed before them.

"Pigs is pigs," or they may not be pigs at all, was the decision reached by Magistrate Albert Dubuc, in St. Boniface police court when he dismissed a charge of assault brought by Mrs. Clara Levi, of Lorette, against a neighbor woman, Mrs. T. Drevant.

Remonstrated

Mrs. Levi, who is an elderly woman and very near-sighted, in fact nearly blind, claimed Mrs. Drevant's pigs had wandered into her garden and had dug up her potatoes. She said that when she remonstrated and notified the accused to keep her pigs "at home," Mrs. Drevant struck her with a stick. The charge was most emphatically denied by Mrs. Drevant who swore her pigs were well behaved and did not wander into the neighbor's gardens. In fact her porkers were right under her very eyes and were wallowing in the dust on the roadside when Mrs. Levi claimed they were in her potato patch.

"I want you to go home and live in a friendly manner like good neighbors," said the magistrate, "there may have been pigs in Mrs. Levi's garden, but on the other hand the plaintiff is very near-sighted and she may have seen pigs where there actually were not pigs."

No Uncertain Language

Mrs. Drevant admitted Mrs. Levi was a "good woman" and the compliment was reciprocated and both parties shook hands before leaving court, but as they were going out the two women told each other in no uncertain language what they would do to each other, including scratching each other's eyes out, if ever the pigs again invaded the garden or the accused called the plaintiff any bad names.
