Special Attention
Overseas Shipping.

Without neglecting anything else, it is very desirable that all Prince Rupert citizens should unite their efforts to try to secure overseas shipping for this port. The big dock will be completed in a few weeks and there is talk of coal bunkers to handle Alberta coal here for both ship bunkers and for the industries along the coast.

The business of other ports is developing rapidly and the business here should begin soon. With the splendid railway connection between this port and the east and with the wealth of the north being steadily developed, overseas shipping will be the next move. The letter on this subject by J. F. Maguire is very interesting and should be read by everyone. Some united effort should bring results along this line in the near future.

Prince Rupert Busier
Than Ever Before.

Prince Rupert has never been so busy at this time of year as she is today. There are more people here today than has been the case in January of previous years. Following the completion of the big ships the fear was expressed that people would be leaving town and that the houses would be left empty and there would be a general feeling of depression. Nothing of the sort has happened. While many of the workmen left town after the ships were finished, the houses are still occupied and it is almost impossible to secure one. There are none vacant.

The work that helps keep people busy in addition to the fish business is the construction of the superstructure of the dock, the work on the station, the erection of government buildings, the Cow Bay improvements and the other building work that is proceeding here. In addition to these, and much more important than any, is the work being done at the shipyard, where one hundred men are employed. The railway shops are also employing a large number.

It is confidently expected that in the near future the mills will be operating and the miners will be coming north. Logging camps will be in operation and there will be all sorts of work to be done. There is every cause for an optimistic feeling in the city.

Pioneer Missionaries
Did Splendid Work.

The pioneer missionaries who came to this coast along with the early traders are deserving of all praise. Their work stands out as a monument to them. Leader among these pioneers was Archdeacon Collison, whose death is announced today. Impelled by the spirit of missionary zeal, he and Mrs. Collison risked their lives to carry the Gospel message to the natives along this coast. Long before their death they saw their reward, for practically all the heathen practices of the Indians were given up and most of them made at least a profession of the Christian religion and many of them can show splendid examples to the white people on this coast.

The passing of Archdeacon Collison marks the close of the pioneer work among the Indians. Missionary work here is no longer pioneering as was understood in the early days.

Canadian Club Is in Somnolent Condition.

A letter was received by the editor this morning from B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of the Victoria Times, suggesting the formation of a Canadian Club in this city. Mr. Nicholas is the vice-president of the Dominion organization for British Columbia and it is his duty to make the organization effective in his territory.

Prince Rupert people will see the humor of the situation. There is a club here, but it might almost as well not exist for the value it is to the community. So quiescent is it that the people of the south did not even know that it existed.

Mr. Nicholas speaks of the value such an organization might be to the community in developing the sentiment and material welfare of a place like this. We agree with him that it might, but it is not.

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

Lafayette, P.Q., April 18th, 1921

"It is my duty to tell you and publish to all what your remedy 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me.

I suffered with Rheumatism for ten months; could hardly move in bed, and was miserable all the time. I tried several physicians and took many remedies, but they left me at the same place, in bed and suffering, the Rheumatism was so bad.

I finally started in taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and continued the treatment regularly as I found myself getting better. After using eight boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' (which cost only $4.) I am completely well without a trace of Rheumatism."

The Man in the Moon
SAYS:

AN onion a day will keep everybody away.

A MAN is known by the company he keeps; a girl by the company she dismisses.

KEEP on humming, but don't do it in the theatre.

I KNOW two runners that never get out of breath and could keep on day and night without getting weary. They are on a sleigh.

SMILE boys smile, but be careful not to do it at the wrong time.

YOU have heard of the young wife who said she never asked her husband for money because "he sleeps like a darling all night long."

THERE is going to be rather much king in the Dominion cabinet, methinks, for a democratic country that will not even take a title.

FRENCH dressing means taking off more clothes.

FALLING in love is like taking too much liquor. You will have a bad time after it.

GETTING married is said to be like going to school. And say, how we did look forward to the holidays.

A MAN'S word may be law but his name is Dennis if he does not do as he is told in his own house.

BY a process of elimination Carpenter is trying to show that he is the proper man to again enjoy the pleasure of being beaten up by Jack Dempsey.

PREMIER MINE IS SHIPPING

Manager Dale Pitt. Tells of Developments at the Stewart Property.

KETCHIKAN, Jan. 21.—The new tramway recently completed for the Premier mine is now handling 100 tons of ore a day, according to Dale L. Pitt, superintendent of the mine who has been spending a week in Ketchikan transacting business for the company.

"Later we plan to increase the tonnage to double the amount being delivered to the dock in Stewart, when we shall ship ore of a lower grade to Grassy," said Mr. Pitt. The company has just completed a big ore bunker of 1500 tons capacity at Stewart, into which the ore is dumped from the tram. It is then loaded onto barges by a belt conveyor.

In addition to the ore being shipped, the Premier is sending out 400 tons of concentrates a month from the stamp mill, which treats 100 tons of ore a day, and also gold and silver bullion which is sent to smelters at Selby, California. This bullion is made from the tailings of the concentrates which are ground fine and subjected to treatment with cyanide.

The Tramway.

The tram, which is eleven and one-half miles in length, of which ten miles is in Alaska, is the longest single cable drive tram in the world, said Mr. Pitt. It has 153 towers, three angle stations, and twelve tensions and anchors and is equipped with the latest devices known in tramway construction. The surveying was done and the tram completed in less than a year, a feat that will stand as a record in the engineering world. The tram was constructed by the Riddet Tram Co., under the supervision of T. H. Graham.

Ten Years Ago
In Prince Rupert

January 23, 1912.

The municipal Board of Works is getting down to business and D. W. Morrissey, chairman, has presented to the council a comprehensive report on civic works and the Woodworth Lake hydro-electric scheme.

The city council has decided to dispense with the services of Ernest Love, superintendent of the telephone system, and the city engineer has reported that he will be able to reduce his staff dropping three men from the force on March 1. There is trouble brewing in the telephone department.

Mrs. J. Jahour is recovering from one of the most serious operations ever performed in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. She compliments Dr. N. M. McNeill and Dr. C. A. Eggert on their ability as surgeons.

THICK COAL SEAMS
NEAR CUMBERLANDDrilling in Comox Valley Highly Successful—Six or Seven-foot Seam.

Diamond drilling off the Courtenay-Cumberland road and off the Royston road, just outside Cumberland, has cut six and seven-foot seams of high-grade coal, says a special despatch to the Province.

This is in all probability a continuation of No. 4 seam, which is a lower level of No. 5, and is the best quality of coal mined in the Comox district. It is, of course, quite impossible to state that it will be worth the while of the company to sink a shaft to take out this coal until many more holes have been put down, but a good deal of optimism is expressed in the town at the discovery that the seam is of such good quality and width.

The cores so far taken out show six or seven feet of good coal. The company is also installing a new and up-to-date fan at their No. 4 mine.
