

WHERE COLDS STRIKE

The throat, breathing passages and lungs are the weak spots at which colds strike. And these are the very organs most difficult to treat, because only a breathing remedy is capable of reaching the trouble spot there. Peps provide a breathable remedy, and their superiority over remedies which are swallowed into the stomach is therefore obvious. For convenience, this breathable remedy is condensed into tablet form. To take the treatment, merely dissolve Peps in your mouth, and the medicinal vapor that is released is carried by the breath to the remotest parts of the breathing passages and lungs, healing, soothing and strengthening every part with which it comes in contact. At the same time, by destroying all disease germs, these medicinal fumes prevent the development of colds, coughs and serious chest trouble.

Carry Peps with you, and when you go from an overheated building to the bitter cold of outdoors, put a pastille in your mouth. Also as a protection against germs, keep a Peps in your mouth, when breathing the impure air of a crowded theatre or store.

For colds, asthma, or chest troubles, which have already developed, Peps are equally invaluable; also for bronchitis, sore throat, laryngitis, etc. All dealers, 5c. box.

PLASTIC SURGERY GIVES NEW FACES TO WAR MAIMED

Ten Thousand Disfigured Soldiers Said to Have Been Successfully Treated.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—What has become of the men who had terrible facial wounds in the war? The foreign visitor to Britain often asks this question and finds it hard to believe that great numbers of their men are not still dragging out hopeless and dreary existences in sad homes and hospitals. It is learned that of some 10,000 cases of this kind which passed through the main concentration hospital for facial injuries, the Queen's Hospital at Sidcup, only 10 or 15 men are regarded as incurably disfigured. The ministry of pensions is understood to be contemplating the purchase for these men of a country house as a home for them.

Plastic Surgery. This wonderful number of cures is due largely to the skill of Major H. D. Gillies, R.A.M.C., chief plastic surgeon at the Sidcup hospital. He has grown cheeks, mended and replaced shattered jaws, and even replaced faces that had been literally burned away by terrible explosions. In mending wrecked faces his principle is "bone for bone, cartilage for cartilage, and fat for fat." He has built jaws with bits of bone from the leg, cheeks with fatty tissue covered with strips of skin taken from the body, and noses with cartilage from the ribs.

Results Permanent. To a reporter Major Gillies paid a high tribute to the skill of his fellow plastic surgeons at Sidcup. "Their success in making good the wreckage of the war is practically complete," he said. "The maimed men are to be found sitting alongside you in omnibuses and trains, working in shop and office, on the land, or back in the navy and army again. You would not have an inkling of what happened to them."

"I can tell you of one case, a petty officer in the navy who had his face burned off at the battle of Jutland. He has had a new face built, is back in the navy, and recently passed his gunnery tests. There have been other cases as remarkable who are back in civil life again."

"Are the results permanent?" Major Gillies was asked. "They are," he replied.

"One never hears a breath of scandal about her."

"Why? Hasn't she any friends?"—London Mail.

WHIST DRIVES AND THE LAW

Their Legality is Questioned by London Legal Circles—Result Recent Law.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(By Canadian Press).—"Are whist drives illegal?" "What is unlawful gambling?" These questions are troubling the public just now in consequence of the recent decision of the House of Lords that in certain circumstances money paid by cheques in betting transactions could be recovered by the drawers of the cheques. A legal correspondent of the Times says, "There now seems to be some confusion among laymen about the law to whist drives. The question whether they were legal or not was raised recently in the Court of Criminal Appeal and was really left undecided, but remarks by the way of the Judges are of importance."

The Times correspondent explains that the appellant was convicted of using a hall for unlawful gaming within the meaning of a certain section of the Gaming House Act. That section that any person who owns or occupies "any house, room or place," and who "shall open, keep, or use the same for the purposes of unlawful gaming being carried on therein," may, on summary conviction before two Justices, be "adjudged to pay" a penalty not exceeding £500. The question has been raised what is "unlawful gaming?"

Chance and Skill. Mr. Justice Hawkins (afterward Lord Brampton) is quoted as having given a decision in a case as follows: "All games of chance and skill combined (which cannot be called games of mere skill) are unlawful games." If played in a house kept for playing them, it has been held, however, the Times' legal correspondent states, that an isolated occasion on which an unlawful game was played among friends at the house of one of them did not render the owner of the premises liable under the section.

In another case Mr. Justice Avory said that playing at games of cards for money was gaming which was not necessarily unlawful, but it became unlawful if the game was played in a common gaming house "as part of the business thereof." Whist in the opinion of the Courts, is a game of chance and skill combined, and the element of chance is made the greater in whist drives or progressive whist.

Common Gaming House. So far, the Courts have been lenient in the interpretation of the section of the gaming house act relating to whist. They have not insisted that the mere use of the premises for the playing of card games of chance and skill combined is sufficient to render the owner or occupier liable. They have taken the view that there must be evidence of the premises being "kept" for unlawful gaming. Thus, a man who hires a hall for a series of whist drives, charges for admission, and offers prizes, would come under the penalty imposed in the statute as a person who kept gaming house—namely, to use Mr. Justice Hawkins' definition, "a house in which a large number of persons are invited habitually to congregate for the purpose of gaming."

The "gaming" must be the taking part in a game which is not a game of mere skill says the Times legal correspondent. The predominance of skill over chance is not enough to take the game out of the category of games that are unlawful when played in "gaming house," as defined by the Courts.

CONSIDER CALLING OF BOOTLEGGER AS DESIRABLE VOCATION

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 9.—Is the business of a bootlegger a profession, a calling or just a mere job? In any event it is conceded by at least one high school pupil here to be a vocation. In answer to a question put to the boy pupils as to "what vocation" they desired to follow after leaving school, one boy exclaimed that of a bootlegger as his choice.

WORLD'S SWIMMING RECORD IS LOWERED BY A BRITISHER

MIDDLESBOROUGH, Eng., Jan. 9.—The world's swimming record of 6 minutes 55.4 seconds for 500 meters held by Norman Ross, U.S.A., was lowered here recently by J. G. Hatfield, the holder of several British championships, who covered the distance in 6 minutes 51.2 seconds. Hatfield was timed by officials of the Amateur Swimming Association, and the effort was made in public.

TURTLE TRAVELS A MILE IN FOUR YEARS AND MAKES RECORD

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—What is believed to be a world's record for turtle speed has been achieved by turtles that Prof. A. S. Beagrie, of the University of Wisconsin, tagged and let loose. Prof. Pearce stated at the recent convention of the American Association of the Advancement of Science that one turtle had traveled a little over a mile in three years, 11 months and 19 days. The average distance covered by 166 turtles in five months was 115 yards.

IMPORTANT FIGHT IN PARIS TONIGHT

Eugene Criqui and Charlie Ledoux Battle for European Bantamweight Championship.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—One of the most important ring battles staged here in a decade is set for tonight, when Eugene Criqui, the "Knock-out King," meets Charlie Ledoux in a 20-round encounter for the bantamweight championship of Europe, now held by Ledoux.

Should Charlie Ledoux be returned the winner he will journey to America, where he has signed up to meet Joe Lynch, Joe Burman, Pete Herman and Johnny Buff. If Criqui wins the fight, Ledoux plans to retire immediately. The purse is the largest ever offered for a pugilistic encounter in France, being 300,000 francs, which will be divided 70 per cent. to the winner, 30 to the loser. When Jack Johnson met Frank Moran here in 1914 the stakes amounted to 200,000 francs, which has not yet been paid owing to legal entanglements.

WORLD CHAMPION STRIKER, BEEN OUT THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Jan. 9.—A. M. Parmeter, 87 is the world's champion striker. He's been on strike 34 years! And he's drawn $47,400 strike pay from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. His cheque for $25 comes every month. Before 1912 he got $50 a month. Parmeter walked out on the Burlington road with division 151, B. of L. E., in 1888. The strike was broken up and the other strikers returned to work. But Parmeter wasn't that way. He stuck out. He's still sticking.

Without any delay the second round of the Trail Club shield billiard series will commence tonight when the Elks and Great War Veterans teams meet in the opener. The commencement of the second half sees the Trail with a long lead in the standing which it will be indeed difficult to overcome. In fact, it is generally conceded that this team has the shield pretty well clinched for this season. There will be interest taken now in the race between the Wanderers and the St. Andrew's for second place. While the former team has been gradually dropping a few points in the standing the Scots have been as gradually coming up till now there is little margin between them. The Elks may also move up some in the standing but they are a good deal behind the St. Andrew's at the present time. It looks as if the Vets and the Sons of England will have it all between them as far as the cellar position is concerned.

The last few games saw some of the hundred percent men in the individual standing records drop from their places. Perhaps the worst drop was that of W. J. Nelson, Wanderers, who was defeated by W. Blythe, of the Trail, last Wednesday by a score of 200 to 116. Fans can hardly understand how the Wanderers' man could have been beaten by such a score after having showed such great style all the season through up till this game. Waugh, of the Trail, McMoyle, Elks, and Andrews, St. Andrew's, by recent defeats, have also lost their chances for a perfect record. The six men still unbeaten are: Pillsbury, Elks; and Blythe and Harbour, of the Trail, each with five wins; Shockley, Wanderers, four; Shakespeare, Trail three, and Howe, Wanderers, two.

"The thoroughbred racehorse, says Premier E. C. Drury, of Ontario, who put up a hard fight last year against betting on race horses, 'is a type of beast which is about as useful as the game cock among fowls. The horse breeding of this country would be no worse off if the running horse were entirely eliminated. The most profitable horse to breed, from a general standpoint, is not the thoroughbred, the hunter, or even the army remount, but just the heavy draught type and, second, the roadster. Race track betting centres around the thoroughbred but this is not a utilitarian animal. The winning of a race should have its own reward in the increased value of the animal and betting should not be necessary to encourage better breeding."
